FLAX CONDITIONS ACROSS ATLANTIC
England Will Attempt to Arouse New Interest in Growing of This Crop

(Under the heading of "Flax" the publication "Foreign Crops and Markets," issued by the Bureau of agricultural economies, United States department of agriculture, under date of August 10, has the following:)

The Belgian crop on the whole is said by Consul Messersmith to have been in good condition through the first of July, although in some regions of the country where the land was somewhat dry the length of the fiber was not satisfactory.

Consul Carlson at Kovno, Lithuania, reports that from the sown area of 151,965 acres for 1925 in that country an estimated production of 88,184,000 pounds of flax fiber is expected, which would be an increase of 16,435,292 pounds over the last year's official production estimate of 71,748,707 pounds.

The condition of the early sown flax crop of Ireland was promising through June according to Consul Brooks at Belfast, but the late sown fields had suffered dry weather which checked the growth.

Britain Would Improve Flax Industry

The decline of British flax areas since 1920 has stimulated the committee on flax seed and flax growing into proposals for rehabilitating the industry. Flax areas over a series of years are presented below:

Year	Total	Year	Total
1868	17,543	1918	19,742
1869	20,963	1919	19,461
1870	23,927	1920	23,917
1871	17,366	1921	8,300
1881	6,524	1922	9,650
1891	1,801	1923	10,054
1901	640	1924	5,869
1911	449

The lax acreage of Scotland is but a small proportion of the total, amounting at the pre-war maximum in 1870 to only about 1,000 acres and at the post war maximum in 1920 to 1,600 acres. The committee proposes to have growers concentrate on production. Retting and deseeding would be done by a special factory organization under the direction of the ministry of agriculture. The

PEPPERMINT OIL AND CLOVER SEED
Mint and Red Clover Are Money Crops in the Salem District This Year

(For the purpose of keeping the record straight, for reference in years to come, and for the accommodation of some subscribers who take The Statesman for the Slogan information principally, the following is picked up from the regular news column of yesterday's paper:)

The Slogan man of The Statesman has two items for Thursday's paper that will not keep for even one day. So they are appropriated, as follows:

E. C. Natzliger, about ten miles north of Salem, his postoffice address being Gervais, Route 1, put out ten acres of mint in April. He is now harvesting his peppermint oil, and it is going 80 pounds to the acre. He brought a sample of the mint to the Statesman office yesterday. It may be seen here. The land is Lake Labish beaverdam.

He has sold the peppermint oil for $11.50 a pound. The reader may figure that up. The Slogan man makes it $9200 for the ten acres—

And Mr. Natzliger has the hay left; the mint hay. And it is good hay for his stock. He has some fine stock too. He has also some red clover seed to thresh, and he will be in luck with that, this year, with the high prices ruling.

Manning & Moisan got from their still, a few miles southeast of Brooks, on Lake Labish, on Saturday last, 110 pounds of peppermint oil. They think that is a world record.

Dan J. Fry paid $11.05 for the first lot of peppermint oil, from the cooperative association. He has paid $11.50 for a second lot, and Mr. Natzliger's lot is included in this.

The second item is about red clover seed. A grower near Salem yesterday sold 200 bushels of red clover seed for 26 cents a pound; it being very fine. This seed came from 50 acres of land; that is, it made four bushels, or 240 pounds, to the acre. That makes $15.60 a bushel, does it not? Multiply this by 200, and you get $3120. That makes $62.40 an acre, the way the Slogan man gets it.

And the remarkable thing is

Scenes of Auto Deaths Are Marked by Crosses

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Dotted the sides of Ohio's highways, throughout the length of the state at frequent and infrequent intervals stand white crosses. They mark spots where automobilists have been killed.

Automobile drivers rounding a sharp curve, in many sections, come squarely upon a white cross, or possibly two or three, mute reminders that one or more persons have been killed at that spot.

Governor Vic Donahey was responsible for the placing of the crosses. It was his idea that they would help to cut down automobile fatalities by making drivers more cautious. They have not been installed long enough, however, to draw any conclusions.

Many automobile drivers declare they experience a sinking

WE SHOULD RAISE MORE GOOD GRAIN

We Have a District That Is Favorable to the Production of Fine Crops

H. O. White, of the firm of D. A. White & Son, is one of the best posted men in Salem on the grain industry. He is constantly buying and selling for his firm, as they are feedmen and seedmen, and large shippers of everything in their line.

He believes we have a good grain country, capable, with correct rotations and conservation and building up of soil fertility, of producing in every normal year crops of grain away above the average for this section of the United States.

Owing to a few warm days in June, the grain crop of this year was cut down—perhaps cut down 10 bushels to the acre on an average for the whole district, because up to that time the prospect for a bumper crop was excellent.

The Varieties We Produce

Mr. White said yesterday that our section produces principally white winter and white Elton

The Waldo Hills section uses mostly Prehi wheat for fall sowing, and Huston (or "grass") and Marquis for spring sowing. The start for the Marquis variety came from Canada. It grows any where, on the bottoms as well as in the hills, and it outyields any other variety and grades high in quality.

The gray oat is our fall oat, and for early spring sowing. It makes the highest grade milling and feed oat of all. The fact is, it commands a premium from the millers and the breakfast food manufacturers.

Our white oat is mostly of the Shadeland type, of which we have
