Gym Classes Scheduled

Fall gym classes of the YMCA will begin the first week after the state fair, it was announced yesterday by Bob Boardman, physical director. Efforts have been made in previous years to start the classes sooner but it was found that full classes could not be enrolled until after the fair. Until December 31, when the new building will be ready for occupancy, the regular fall work of the local association will be somewhat hampered by lack of facilities in the crowded space now available, but it was decided not to spend money for improvements in the old building and the building will be used during the two months as it is now.
