AUTO STYLE SHOW

PLANNED FOR FAIR

Arrangements With Local Dealers Being Made by Miss Alice Hankinson

Announcement of the first annual motor style show as one of the features of the last day's program of the Oregon state fair was made Tuesday by Mrs. Ella Wilson, secretary of the Oregon State Fair association. The show will be similar to those held annually in New York, Chicago, Detroit and other large eastern cities and will be under the direction of Miss Alice Hankinson who arrived in Salem last night.

"All of the Portland dealers with whom I have talked are very enthusiastic about the show, and are either planning to supplement the stock of local dealers or to send cars down of their own to be exhibited in the style show," said Miss Hankinson last night.

The motor style show will be inaugurated by a parade through the business section of Salem, the cars forming in line according to classification in front of the Marion hotel promptly at noon Saturday, October 3. They will be reviewed at the grandstand at 1 o'clock where the judging will take place.

According to Miss Hankinson's plan, the cars are to be driven by the most attractive and popular young ladies in Salem and vicinity. The cars will not be decorated, but the drivers will wear flowers that harmonize with their motoring costumes and thereby lend a touch of color to the picture.

Judging will be based on the general appearance of the automobile and the deportment and style of the driver when reporting to the director of the style show at the judge's stand.

Cars will be entered by classifications so that only the moderate priced automobiles will compete against cars of their class. Awards will be given in each of the classes.

The Oregon Screen Review will have a motion picture cameraman on hand to take pictures of the motor style show parade and review before the grandstand on October 3, according to Miss Alice Hankinson.

Floyd Maxwell, who has charge of the Oregon Screen Review, will personally supervise the taking of these pictures, according to Miss Hankinson, who spent Tuesday in Portland completing arrangements with automobile dealers. The films will include the parade, review before the grandstand at the fairgrounds and awarding of the ribbons and trophy cup.

Entry blanks may be obtained from Miss Hankinson at the Marion hotel and entry should be made as soon as possible by all dealers who are entering cars.

SHIPPING BOARD UPELLED
MERCHANT MARINE PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 1.—(By Associated Press).—Shippers, businessmen, steamship operators and growers of Portland and surrounding territory took a determined stand on matters affecting merchant marine policies today at a hearing before the visiting committee from the United States chamber of commerce, which is touring the country to obtain a cross section of opinion preliminary to forming a national merchant marine policy.

Emphatic support was given the shipping board. The need for its continuance until such time as the government disposes of all its ships was stressed and the policy of selecting its members from prescribed areas was upheld. Delegation of powers of the shipping board to the emergency fleet corporation or any department of the government where one man might assume practical dictatorship was opposed firmly.

The need for a governmental

HANEY'S REMOVAL

United States Senator Removed to Be Drawn Into Board Controversy

Removal of Bert E. Haney, of Portland, from the United States shipping board will destroy north-west representation and the appointment of another Oregon man as his successor will be asked, United States Senator Charles L. McNary said Tuesday. He refused to take issue in the matter.

Haney is serving under a recess and not regular appointment and should be removed from the board it would be necessary for President Coolidge to present his name to congress in the regular way in December, according to Senator McNary, who says under law the president can remove a member of the board only for inefficiency or malfeasance in office, neither of which charges have been brought against Haney.

"I presume the differences between President Coolidge and Haney arose over Haney's opposition to Palmer and believe that there is a chance that these may be patched up before the next congress," Senator McNary said. "I also presume that the president could remove Haney by simply presenting another name instead."
