BOUNTY NOW REDUCED SEA LION HUNTERS TO BE PAID ONLY FIFTY CENTS

PORTLAND, Sept. 8.—Bounty on sea lions killed in Oregon waters was reduced today by the state fish commission from $5 apiece to fifty cents. The action came after the commission had approved payment of bounty on 332 sea lion scalps claimed by four hunters. Bounty on all sea lions killed before today will be paid until the end of the month on presentation of the scalps to the fish commission. The bounty on seals will remain as at present, $5. The reduction was made because there was considerable doubt as to the wisdom of killing off sea lions. In fact, it was pointed out that the government protects sea lions along the coast.

BAIL WILL BE REFUSED LIQUOR AND DOPE PEDDLERS SAID NOT GOOD RISKS

SEATTLE, Sept. 8.—Bootleggers and narcotic peddlers need no longer apply for bail bonds at the offices of the National Surety company, George W. Allen, Pacific coast manager announced here tonight. Losses through bail-jumpers and the odium connected with furnishing bonds to persons charged with such crimes were responsible for the announcement Allen said. Other companies are expected to follow suit, it is said.

CHURCHMEN GATHER

YAKIMA, Sept. 8.—Church men and laymen of the Columbia river conference of the Methodist Episcopal church opened their fifty second annual conference here tonight with 150 persons in attendance. In one of the opening addresses Bishop William O. Shepard of Portland advocated the union of the north and south branches of the Methodist church as a means of building a stronger organization.

SHENANDOAH STORY IS TOLD BY FARMER

Man Ties Ship Up When House in Danger; Thanked by Officials

CALDWELL, Ohio, Sept. 8.—(By Associated Press).—A hero of the Shenandoah disaster last Thursday morning was found among the native sons of Noble county today. He is a little, grizzled farmer who raises turkeys, geese and some crops on a farm near Sharon, but he is the man who grabbed the navy's giant dirigible by the nose ring and pulled it to the ground.

Many a time Ernest Nichols has tethered an angered bull to a fence post but not until last Thursday morning was he ever called upon to tame a rampant dirigible. Late today tales began drifting over the country side about a man who had helped to stop the plunging of the Shenandoah's nose over hills and valleys, after it broke from the middle and aft sections an hour earlier near Ava, 12 miles away.

Immediately the board of investigation which is handling all phases of the disaster, which remain to be cleared up, became interested in the story. The board recalled suggestions made by Lieutenant William Mayer and others who were in that portion of the ship that supported Nichols' story. Commander Jacob H. Klein, chief of the investigating board, said today after hearing the story that the Noble county farmer had done "a good job and a great service."

MITCHELL URGES BUREAU COUNCIL OF NATIONAL DEFENSE COUNCIL DECLARED NEEDED

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 8.—In addition to consolidating the whole national defense under one head, holding one man responsible for the acts of any branch, Colonel William Mitchell, Eighth Corps area air officer would also create a council of national defense to consist of the secretary of state, secretary of the treasury and the secretary of national defense, he said today.

In issuing his latest statement he said it outlined a "constructive policy for the United States to adopt." He had just returned from Fort Arkansas where he went last Saturday soon after releasing his broadside against the army and navy departments and where he spent Sunday and Monday angling for tarpon.

Capital as well as labor should be conscripted in time of war or threatened emergency, he said. He also recommended that the government not be permitted to construct airplanes, leaving this to civilian corporations, thus keeping alive "competition, invention and initiative by the people."
