WHAT DOES GOD REQUIRE?—And now, Israel, what does the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul. Deuteronomy 10:12.

TAKING ADVANTAGE OF OUR WEAKNESS

(Portland Evening Telegram.)

While President Palmer of the shipping board is doing everything in his power to curtail the activities of our American ships, other nations are taking advantage of our weakness in this direction. The Japanese government is sponsoring the building for the trans-Pacific trade of three 17,000 ton motor liners with a minimum speed of 19 knots. The amount of subsidy to be paid these craft has not yet been decided, but the Japanese Foreign Trade association and the leading shipping organizations in a petition to the government have asked that the new ships be subsidized to the amount of $1,850,000 annually.

With the American ships starved or sold into retirement, these new liners as well as many others will fall heir to an increasingly profitable business that has been worked up by the American ships. Within a decade, America's foreign commerce has increased nearly $5,000,000,000. Ten years ago American ships carried less than one-tenth of the foreign trade in and out of this country. Last year they carried more than one-third of it.

While we were increasing our foreign trade and simultaneously getting the American flag back on the high seas, we were incidentally developing and maintaining a reserve of army and navy transports, the lack of which so seriously handicapped us during the late war. The prestige we have gained and the necessity for holding it are so apparent that the Palmer policy should be abandoned at once.

The above from the Portland Telegram is timely.

Yes, the Palmer policy should be abandoned p. d. q.; but that would not be enough. That would still leave us lame in the work of building up an adequate American merchant marine; and the annual loss to the United States treasury would persist, or grow worse.

And there is another way to accomplish the building up of a great American merchant marine; the only way it can be surely done without a great and continual expense to our government.

And that is to return to the policy the founders of our government maintained for 21 years, from 1789 until 1850—giving preferential duty in favor of goods carried in American bottoms.

That policy built up an American merchant marine that was the pride of our country and the envy of the world, and the same policy would do it again.

There is not a single good argument against this policy. It is the certain and right way.

STILL GOING

(Portland Journal)

The prisoners are still escaping. This time it was in Seattle. Six of them went. They left with the aid of four revolvers and a knife. There was no bloodshed, because nobody happened to get in their way.

One was a murderer. Four were robbers. One was convicted of third degree assault.

Three recently escaped from the Oregon penitentiary. They left three dead men behind.

Six escaped from San Quentin. They left a dead man behind. Two escaped in the Middle West. They left two dead men behind.

But we are still paroling them in these United States, wholesale. We are still pleading for them. The juries are still turning them loose.

"And America is the greatest crime nation on earth."

The Portland Journal is correct; and the cost of crime is our greatest waste and the source of our greatest misery and suffering. It touches every one, directly or indirectly, the innocent as much as the guilty, often more.

What we need is education. We need courses of criminology and penology in our schools of higher learning. We need trained men in charge all along the line; from the lowest to the highest court; from the calaboose of the small town to the state penitentiary.

And with a public opinion that will back up strict law enforcement; with laws that are practical in stopping the springs of crime.

This is the biggest issue before the American people.

WAGES OF STATE EMPLOYEES

The state of Oregon is urged by the Oregon State Federation of Labor to increase the wages of engineers and firemen employed at some of the state institutions. This increase should have been provided long ago before the Federation or any other organization made intercession for these employes so obviously underpaid.

At the capitol building the chief engineer receives $135 a month; at the feeble minded institutions $120; at the tuberculosis hospital $100 and at other institutions wages ranging from $100 to $200 a month. The salaries of assistant engineers and firemen range from $125 the highest at the capitol, to $60 at the tuberculosis hospital.

The wage scale for other stationary engineers for Salem and vicinity is far above wages paid by the state for similar service as shown by the following:

Power plants—Engineers $7 a day; firemen $5.75. Manufacturing and laundry buildings—Engineers $6.50 a day; firemen $5. City and County and office buildings—Engineers $165 a month; firemen $180. Waterworks and Pumping plants—Engineers $6.25 a day; firemen $5. Gas plants—firemen $5.75.

Here is clearly a case of the state falling short in consideration of her employes. There is no reason why men should work for the state for sixty or seventy dollars a month, bearing the responsibilities incident to engineering upon which depends the health and safety of thousands of the state's wards and other employes. Why should these men, some of them heads of families, residents and taxpayers, receive less wages than ordinary clerks and stenographers; why less than carpenters and mill workers?

Surely the state, through the board of control, should and will remedy this censurable condition soon.

A COMMON SENSE RULING

The recent ruling of Secretary of State Kozer in regard to the continued use of magheto lights on cars is both common sense and justice.

While technically the law does not exempt in the specifications for the new light adjustment, the magheto type of light, it was not the intention of the sponsors of the act nor of the law itself to force car owners having this type to discard it and buy new. A readjustment of lights to make auto travel more safe is the purpose of the law and the wisdom of the readjustment is already shown by the more than fifty per cent of Oregon cars now in use with the new adjustments complete.

By the ruling the owner of the machine whose value would not stand for the new light equipment is relieved and the requirements remaining meet the purpose of the law so far as the lights are concerned while the limit of auto speed is observed.

The warning that the car with the magheto light must keep within the legal rate of speed is timely. But it should not be necessary. Every driver knows the limit and if he exceeds it through either ignorance or defiance he should be punished to the extent provided by the law.
