ENTRIES FOR HORSE SHOW EXCEED HOPES

Many Champions Will Perform in Stadium During Five Days of Fair

The outlook for the best horse show given in connection with the Oregon state fair is seen this year by members of the state fair board and the secretary, Mrs. Ella Schultz Wilson, into whose office arrive daily applications for space in the horse show arena. More than usual enthusiasm and interest has been evidenced by horsemen of the Pacific northwest, and a large number of entries have been made by owners of fine horses living at a much greater distance.

Of this latter group of first importance will be the string of horses entered by Welsh brothers, including Canada's premier high jumper, the group featuring "Barra Led," Canadian high jump champion, with a record of seven feet, four and one half inches; in action; "Calgary Lass," world's champion pony high jumper; "Mademoiselle," the famous "Old Grey Mare," "Calgary Lad," "White Star," and five other champions.

The spectacular horses will be ridden and shown in the fan park arena of the state fair stadium by the young Welsh boys, who have won the highest class distinction in the world.

To the Welsh boys, the seven-year-old horse, Peter Walsh, of the Mesa Vista Farm, Calgary, owner of the celebrated string of horses, hopes the honor of being the only rider today who is daring and skillful enough to negotiate the exceedingly difficult feat of taking his pair of horses over the stipe standing on their backs. Young Welsh, who first gained attention as a rider of high jumping horses and as a Roman rider, hit the idea of taking a team over the jumps purely by accident. He was exercising a team of Roman horses in the farm yard one morning when a big "porker" darted out from the side of the house right in the path of the galloping horses. A spill seemed inevitable, but acting on the spur of the moment, Welsh gathered up the reins and at the right moment lifted his horses. The team responded, completely clearing the bewildered hog. The boy managed to keep his balance and brought the horses to a standstill some distance away. Right there the idea of taking a Roman team over a regular horse show jump was born and by dint of much practice, and not a fee bruised horse, the young rider finally managed to perfect the jump and today the Welsh stables own the only team of Roman jumping horses on the continent.

Calgary Lass, world's champion pony high jumper, Tiny Welsh, age 8 years, up horses on the continent. Joe Welsh is also credited with being the only rider that can take "Calgary Lass," known as the "Old Grey Mare," over the jump. "Calgary Lass" has jumped to within an inch of the world's record for ponies 14.2 and under, but his partner in the ring is said to be enough to drive an ordinary rider grey with fear and worry.

The Welsh boys, who incidentally are the best and most finished riders of high jumping horses on the continent are still laughing over an incident that occurred on their last trip to the Pacific coast, when a natty-clad youth offered to take this uncertain horse over the jump at a horse show, and of the series of events that followed, adding with the young fellow seeking first aid services.

The horse show will be given five nights of the week, beginning on the second evening, Tuesday, September 29. Fully three hundred extra seats, as well as many boxes are being added in the stadium in anticipation of the crowds that are expected to fill the big building. Last year standing room was at a premium, and with the program much better this year, officials of the fair are expecting the largest crowds in the history of the yearly event. Decorations will be perfected upon an elaborate scale, this detail being in the hands of professional decorators.

CATHOLIC PARRISH DIVISION STARTS

Dedication Services Will Be Feature of Church Today; School Gains

The division of the Catholic church in Salem into two parishes, ordered early in the present year, goes into effect today, when dedication ceremonies will be held and blessing given, on the new St. Vincent De Paul chapel and school which was built in the north end of Salem last summer. Rev. Thomas V. Keenan, who has been associated with Rev. Buck of the St. Joseph parish for some three years, moved out to his new quarters Friday. He will have the Mission of Independence included in his new St. Vincent De Paul parish, holding services there each Sunday, beginning October 4. Services were formerly held there only once a month. Masses and preaching will be held in the new St. Vincent De Paul building at 8 o'clock and again at 10 Sunday morning. Rev. J. M. O'Farrell of St. Rose's church, Portland, will have charge.

The dedication ceremonies, with the blessing upon the chapel and the school, will be given at 2:30 in the afternoon. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Hillebrand, Adm., will officiate with the blessing. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Lane, P. A., will preach at the dedication ceremonies. The St. Joseph parish here was divided into the St. Joseph and the St. Vincent De Paul parishes shortly before the death of Archbishop Christie early in the present year. The two have been administered together, however, up to the present time. A church and a parish rectory will be built soon, according to Father Keenan and added to the parochial school and chapel which was built this summer. The enrollment at the parochial school, which was opened the middle of this month, now stands at 55 pupils. At present it teaches the first 6 grades of school.

NEWS BRIEFS

GAR's Have Day—Thursday will be GAR day at the state fair at which time the bronze button will admit wearers free. Declared Sane—William Brown, who has lived and worked in and around Salem for the last twelve years, was examined Saturday by Dr. W. H. Byrd to ascertain whether or not he is sane. After a thorough examination had been given him, he was found sane and was released. The examination was instigated by the complaint of several Salem residents.

Sunday School Council—The council of religious education will be held today in the Hazel Green school, and several Salem churches will send speakers for the occasion. Representatives from fifteen Sunday schools in the Hayesville district will be on hand, and it is expected that close to a thousand will be present. Charles W. Cady is president of the Hayesville district council. Miss Lella Armstrong is secretary. The Auburn church will be closed for the council.

Births Reported—Two births were reported at the office of the city health officer Saturday. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Wildman of Salem, and has received the name of Ray Arthur. To Mr. and Mrs. George Peper of route 6 was born a daughter, who has been named Lenore Rose.

Lumber Pile Causes Collision—When the car C. B. Madsen was driving collided with a Williams' Grocery truck Saturday, Mr. Madsen sustained a black eye and several cuts on the jaw. The windshield was broken, as well as one of the wheels. The accident occurred at Court and Cottage, and Mr. Madsen stated that he was unable to see the truck approaching, as his view of Court street was cut off by the lumber pile in front of the YMCA building which is under construction.

WILLIAM WALLACE GRAHAM IS AT WORK

Back at Work With a Full Schedule Indicated for Musical School Year

After two months vacation, William Wallace Graham has returned to Salem and opened his violin classes for the winter. Mr. Graham's reputation as a pedagogue is well known, and each year his coming to Salem has sent out into the musical world pupils who have made their mark and are still being heard from both in concert and as violinists and teachers. The past year has proved no exception, and many young violinists (of whom Salem may well be proud) owe to this able teacher their success as musicians. Among the students who won special notice from the musical public the past year are Mary Talmadge Hedrick, Mildred Roberts, Helen Selig and Tommy Livesley. Mr. Graham had an exceptionally large class last year, which
