CHAPTER F 121
THE WAY THE ANXIOUS VIGIL ENDED

The vagaries of one's brain defy any analysis. I have contemplated this truth many times, but never have I had it borne in upon me more forcibly than in the three hours of my vigil over Junior which followed Katherine's watch of an equal time after we had fought and conquered his terrorizing attack of croup.

While Katherine was watching and I was supposed to be sleeping, I had been unable to get to sleep until nearly half of my allotted time was over. Yet now that I was supposed to be awake, it seemed an absolute impossibility to hold my eyes open. I tried every device I knew, and finally by sheer will power succeeded—so well, indeed, that when it was time for Katherine to waken I was as wide awake as I ever had been in my life.

It was a pity to awaken her, I thought, and though I feared her displeasure, I decided to continue my vigil a little longer at least until Junior should waken. But almost on the stroke of the hour she had named, Katherine opened her eyes and looked at me with a comprehending grin.

"Smart! Smart!" she quoted. "Thought you wouldn't invite me again to this party, didn't you? You forget that I have trained myself to waken almost on the minute I set in my own mind. But I don't tell everybody that. It's a trade secret, so don't give it away."

"I'm on the job now."

"But there isn't the slightest reason for you to get up now," I protested even as I marvelled again at the bright cheerfulness of her face, wondered again if I had dreamed her unguarded betrayal of misery when she thought I was sound asleep. Yet the echo of her low wail: "Oh! God! my empty arms!" seemed yet to echo in the corner of the room. And when I looked into her eyes I fancied I saw the strain behind the bravado, and decided that I had not been mistaken after all, and that she was hiding real heartbreak behind the cheery mask to which she had accustomed me.

"Nor is there any reason for me to sleep when it's my trick, either," she said, and then Mother Graham's voice, crisp, efficient, yet low-toned, sounded from the doorway. She was fully dressed, carefully coiffured and fairly radiated capability.

"Please remember, girls, that I'm on the job now," she said

Getting Skinnier Every Day

Something Must Be Done and Done Right Now—Quick

Tens of thousands of thin, run-down men—yes, and women too—are getting discouraged—are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile and enjoy life right now for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets which any druggist will tell you all about, is putting flesh on hoists of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, put on 15 pounds in five weeks and now feels fine.

We all know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitalizing, flesh-producing vitamins, but many people can't take it because of its horrible smell and fishy taste and because it often upsets the stomach.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets are as easy to take as candy and if any thin person doesn't gain at least 5 pounds in 20 days your druggist is authorized to give you your money back—and only 60 cents for 60 tablets.

Ask J. C. Perry, Central Pharmacy, D. J. Fry or druggists anywhere.

But be sure to get McCoy's, the original and genuine, and bear in mind that for thin, sickly kids they are wonderful—a very sickly child—age 9, gained 13 pounds in 7 months.—Adv.

with decision, and Katherine, raising herself on one elbow, smiled indulgently at her.

Katherine's Directions.

"If you'll promise to waken me when Junior awakes," she said, "I'll take another snooze. He must have an alcohol rub after all this perspiring, and it is very important, as you know, not to let him get chilled this morning."

Her voice expressed the utmost deference to the elder woman and Mother Graham—in Dicky's parlance—"ate it up."

"Of course I'll promise," she said, "but what about Margaret? She looks worn out."

"I was just coming to that," Katherine replied with a mischievous look at me. "She is to be excited for bed, or breakfast or both, whichever she wishes. But she is to get herself away from here at once."

I smothered the unworthy pique which is the thing mothers have to fight when other hands than their own care for their children, and smiled back at my friends.

"I couldn't sleep if I tried, now," I said, "so I'm going to take a quick shower, a cup of coffee and a brisky walk. By the time I come back, perhaps Junior will be awake."

"No doubt he will," Katherine drawled, "and you'll be able to see that we haven't amputated any of his fingers or toes." But her eyes were tender, and I knew that her rally hid comprehending sympathy with my feeling.

"You'd better produce the full complement," I threatened, and then turned to my mother-in-law. "Is Katie up, do you happen to know?"

"Up!" she ejaculated. "I should think she is! She has breakfast all ready. I've just had mine, and when you go down tell her to keep things hot for Mrs. Hixlett until she comes. Or would you like a tray now?" She turned to Katherine solicitously.

"I want nothing but another snooze," Katherine said drowsily, as she turned over and thumped her pillow into shape. "I'm not a bit hungry and any time this morning will do for my breakfast. So long, Midge. Say good morning to the cows for me."

SOCIETY EVENT TO OPEN AT STADIUM

First Popular Night Horse Shows Will Be Held Beginning Tonight

The annual night horse show, one of the main attractions of the state fair, will open in the stadium tonight. The Portland Hunt club, James McCleave and the Welsh brothers of Calgary are all back with their strings of blooded horse flesh. The animals have just come from the Washington circuit where they created a sensation with their high jumping abilities. Jay Reynolds of Corvallis is managing the horse show this year. George A. L. Laurer of Seattle will preside as ringmaster, and the following well known men will judge in the ring each night: A. R. Hunter of Island City, Or., J. E. Mason of Long Beach, Cal., and Joe Wood of La Grande. The program for tonight is as follows: 7:30 p. m.—Overture by Douglas county concert band. 7:50 p. m.—Solo, "Star Spangled Banner," Mrs. Hallie Parrish Hinges. 8 p. m.—Best pairs (draft). 8:20 p. m.—Gentlemen's roadster (single). 8:35 p. m.—Novice hunters. 8:55 p. m.—Heavy harness single, 14.2 and under 15.2. 9:10 p. m.—Ladies' three-gaited saddle horses. 9:25 p. m.—Four-in-hand. 9:45 p. m.—Lightweight hunters. 10:00 p. m.—Gentlemen's five-gaited saddle horses. 10:10 p. m.—Fine harness horses, single. 10:20 p. m.—Musical chairs.

MORE FIRES REPORTED
OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 28.—Owing to the extremely dry conditions which still prevail in Clallam county and northern Jefferson county numerous small fires are burning throughout the area.

Supervisor of Forestry, George C. Joy reported this afternoon. A state fire fighting truck, carrying three pumps and 3,000 feet of hose, was dispatched to the district.

What Is It?

No, it's not a bird, nor a bat, yet it is alive and flies and has the wing spread of an aeroplane. It lived 10,000,000 years ago and has been rediscovered—

HOUSE OF HEALTH EXHIBITED BY OAC

Display Is Useful, Instructive and Beautiful; Questions Answered

The "house of health exhibit of the home economics school, OAC, just off the right-hand main entrance of the educational building, is designed to be as useful and instructive as it is beautiful. It will consist of a furnished cottage, English style, with paneled walls, latticed windows and finished roof, arranged for receiving and entertaining visitors at regular stated hours.

The structure is 17 by 34, painted to represent the bright, clear colors suggestive not only of good decorative design, but of childhood health as well. The window boxes will bear a rich profusion of begonias from the college green house. It will be furnished with a few chairs for visitors, two tables for books, and a floor lamp. The west wall will be set for use as a moving picture screen. Three reels will be run three times daily, showing the following phases of healthful home life for child and adult.

"Inside out," a regional view of food manipulation by the human system; "One Scar, or Many," the superiority of vaccination to smallpox pitting; "Working for Dear Life," a first-aid showing on meeting emergencies in the home.

Following each showing, a skit on American Giff Beauty products will be put on by a charming college co-ed, who will indicate the superior method of building beauty from within to daubing it on from without, as is being represented by another young lady seated before the mirror and busy with her rouge, Carrots for vim, beets for rouge, and other beauty products will be extolled and recommended to the "painted lady" by Miss Jean McClow of Eugene, Miss Lois Denny of Freewater, and Miss Helen Griffie of Corvallis on different days.

Fortune tellers will be present in the form of scales for height and weight measures and charts of standard measurements. Posters with unmistakable meaning will be displayed on the walls of the room. They are supplied by the National Health association. The book tables will carry material of value and interest to children and to mothers.

The exhibit was designed and prepared by the following committee, headed by Miss Lila O'Neale, chairman of the committee and associate professor of household art; Eleanor McClay, Helen B. Kay and Buby Beers. One of these staff members will be in charge of the exhibit at all times to direct the work, receive visitors and answer questions. The exhibit was complete at the opening of the fair Monday morning, both Miss O'Neale and W. L. Kaddery in charge of the college group of exhibits.

Charged With Not Stopping—Jack Barry, driving a Larmer truck, was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Alton D. Johnson of Eugene, who accuses Barry of colliding with him, and refusing to stop. The accident occurred at the state fair grounds, and it is alleged that one of Johnson's fenders was torn off. Barry was released and cited to appear this morning.

Simple Mixture Best For Constipation

Simple buckhorn bark, magnesium sulphate, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adlerika, is excellent for constipation. It often works in one hour or less and never gripes. The pleasant and QUICK action of this efficient intestinal evacuation will surprise you. Adlerika helps any case, even on the stomach, unless due to deep-seated causes. Often removes matter you never thought was in your system. J. C. Perry, Druggist, 115 S. Commercial St.—Adv.
