

OLDTIME SALEMITES
DIES IN SEATTLE

John E. Young, Once a Well Known Business Man Here, Passes Away

News of the death at Seattle of John E. Young was yesterday received in Salem. He was for many years a citizen of this city. He was associated with J. W. Crawford, (now deceased), a well known man in the hardware and plumbing business for many years. Mr. Byrnie is buried in Salem in many old time friends as Johnnie Young, married Miss Lottie Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Byrnie, one of the most prominent families of Salem, who lived for thirty years, at the old home, corner of High and Center. Mr. Byrnie is buried in Salem in the old family plot in the Catholic cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Young moved to Tacoma in 1880. He entered business with W. W. Harvey in the largest hardware and plumbing business there for 25 years. After closing out his business in Tacoma, Mr. Young went to Anacosta, Moht., and re-entered business, remaining for four years. After selling out in Montana Mr. Young returned and settled in Seattle, where he made his home up to his death.

Mr. Young was born in Canby, Missouri, crossing the plains with his parents when five years old, coming to Oregon and settling in Jacksonville. His education was at the college at Corvallis. Then when a young man he came to Salem.

Mr. Young is survived by his wife, one son, Dr. W. E. Young, Seattle; two sisters, Mrs. Black of Sanish, North Dakota and Mrs. Fred Wilson of Salt Lake City; also a nephew, Fred Lutz of Medford; two nieces Mrs. Will C. Clark and Mrs. G. Merziman of Portland. Other relatives: Miss Agness and Mae Byrne of Seattle, and Miss Alice G. Byrne of Tacoma; Mr. and Mrs. James M. Harris of Seattle; R. H. Forsythe and family, Tacoma.

Mr. Young will be buried in Seattle, Wednesday, September 30, from St. James Cathedral at 10 a. m.

The passing of Mr. Young brings sorrow to thousands of friends, as he was a man of sterling qualities, and was known as one of the most prominent business men of Tacoma and Seattle.

Bits For Breakfast
Best, biggest fair yet—
And, shine or rain, it will be the most successful in the state's history—
Hopkins, however, for bright sunshine the whole week.
There is something for every one at the state fair, and if you have any considerable range of interests you will want more than a full day to see it all. You can take up all the rest of the week and not do justice to the hundreds of interesting things.
Grangers and women will all go to the fair today. This is their day.
Tomorrow will be Salem day, and it is up to Salem to make it the biggest day of the week.
The boys' and girls' club building is one of the very finest things at the Oregon state fair. And it houses one of the most important activities of the fair and of the state and country. Can you think of anything finer?
The Slogan pages of Thursday's Statesman will be devoted to the loganberry industry. If you have been invited to write, please hurry. If not, and you have anything for the good of the order in this industry, please write it, and do it today or tomorrow.
Some one suggests that possibly the debtor nations could pay a little more on their notes if they did not send so many expensive commissions to negotiate about them.

CLEMENCEAU CELEBRATES
NANTES, France, Sept. 28.—(By Associated Press.)—George Clemenceau, France's war time premier, quietly celebrated his 84th birthday in his simple little cottage on the Vendee coast today.
All that is needed to make airplanes safe is to adjust nature, agencies of the government should be welded similarly into the major departments.

Senator Curtis, who returned to Washington today, declared 30 of the independent government bureaus and commissions should be placed under cabinet members and this, he believed, would effect a great saving in operating expenses, as well as eliminate duplication of functions.
Both senators called on President Coolidge, but said afterward they had not discussed with him any phase of the difficulties between the shipping board and the fleet corporation.

Silverton
SILVERTON, Ore., Sept. 28.—(Special.)—Mrs. Josephine Palmer, a member of a prominent pioneer family, died Sunday afternoon after an illness of one week. Mrs. Palmer was born near Silverton 73 years ago and spent her entire life here. She was a daughter of Stephen Porter, pioneer of 1848.
Funeral services will be held from the Hack & Ekman chapel at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.
Mrs. Palmer is survived by her husband, Marion Palmer, three daughters, Mrs. Harold Craig of Portland, Mrs. A. W. Simmons and Miss Wilona Palmer of Silverton, and one son, Ernest Palmer, of Silverton. She also leaves a twin sister, Mrs. William Sampson of Oregon City, another sister, Mrs. Nancy Magers of Salem, and one brother, David Porter, of Portland.

The Rev. George Henriksen will leave Sunday evening for Minneapolis where he will deliver an address on the Lutheran Boy Scout movement. The address is to be delivered before the convention of the Lutheran Brotherhood of America.
Sometime ago The Statesman carried a story by the Lutheran Boy Scout movement which originated at Silverton in Rev. Mr. Henriksen's charge. A few days ago the Rev. Mr. Henriksen received a letter from a man in New York who wrote that he had seen the account in the Oregon Statesman and wanted particulars on the movement.

At the first student body meeting of the Silverton high school for the season the new president, LeRoy Rue, president. Athletic managers were nominated to be voted upon at the next meeting. Those nominated to be voted upon were Paul Blazer, Delmar Brown, Leonard Jones, Norman Eastman and George Lovett. Alumni visitors at the student body meeting were Kathleen Booth, Esther Towe, Jervis Kloster and Margaret Simms.

Mrs. Anna K. Jensen, Miss Alice Jensen, Alfred Jensen, Mrs. Marie Bunes, Miss Vivian Bunes, Mrs. N. O. Holman, P. Barbo, Miss Clara Holman, Miss Mamie Holman were visitors Sunday at Monitor where they were guests at the Lars Magnusson home.

Mrs. F. W. Finley left Monday morning for Cherrysville, Ore., where she will teach during the coming winter.

Jack Rockwell of Salem has taken the place vacated by Tom Manzer of the Silverton bakery.

Borah Washington "Mystery Man"

William E. Borah of Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee, and "strongest man in the senate," is the "mystery man" of the capital, the man most sought out by newspaper correspondents, because he is expected to be a storm center in the next session of congress. Newspapers are seen pressing him with queries as he leaves the White House after a conference with the president.

TILLAMOOK FIRST IN STOCK JUDGING

Floyd Stafford of Multnomah Is First as Individual in Judging

Headquarters of the boys' and girls' club work division at the Oregon state fair is in charge of J. E. Calavan of the state department of education. His office is in the new boys' and girls' club building just north of the main entrance.
Live stock judging contests were on yesterday with 15 counties represented in the judging. Eight classes of live stock were judged including two best, two dairy, two hogs and two sheep. Each judging team was made up of three men. Each man gave his reasons for placing the animal in the class to which it belongs. These reasons were taken by N. C. Jamieson and Harry Lindgren. Awards and scorings were announced as fast as checked up.
Tillamook took first place in the judging contest, Klamath second and Multnomah third, and the other counties from fourth to fifteenth were as follows: Marion, Josephine, Lincoln, Clackamas, Jackson, Coos, Columbia, Washington, Umatilla, Lane, Clatsop, Polk.
The first place in individual judging was taken by Floyd Stafford of Multnomah, second by Adrain Jones of Clackamas, and third by James Mathews of Josephine. The possible number of points was 800, and the first, second and third winners scored 777, 763 and 762 respectively. They judged Duroc and Chester White hogs, Lincoln and Shropshire sheep, Holstein and Jersey cows, and Hereford and Shorthorn beef cattle.
A Fine Showing
Fourteen counties are represented by special club booths, while a number of other counties with exhibits are collected in a general booth. The 14 counties include the following:
Jackson, R. G. Fowler, county club leader in charge.
Tillamook, D. H. Kennedy, county club leader.
Polk, Josiah Wills, county school superintendent.
Hood River, J. W. Krites, county school superintendent.
Josephine, H. B. Howells, county agent, and Sarah Huntington, county home demonstration leader.
Douglas, W. S. Carpenter, county club leader.
Lane, A. D. Collier, county club leader.
Klamath, Frank W. Sexton, county club leader.
Clackamas, W. A. Holt, county agent.
Washington, Mrs. Emma Bryant, county school superintendent.
Sherman, A. M. Zevry, county school superintendent.
Clatsop, E. W. McMinder, county agent.
Umatilla, Fred Benson, county agent.
Multnomah, W. D. Kinder, county club leader.
The general booth is in charge of Mrs. J. E. Calavan.
Live stock for the judging was supplied by the regular exhibitors.

county. Now they are into their annual effort known as "Harvest Festival," which happens at this time in the organization throughout the world. Salemites, and especially the local merchants, are familiar with this feature of Army work and their support of it is always generous. The farmers are also regular supporters, with products of the soil, without which this harvest festival would be incomplete. It is in praise and thanksgiving for a bountiful harvest that the effort is held, and everybody is asked to share in it.
An old-fashioned "Harvest Bazaar" is being planned as a climax to this year's effort, and the same will be held on October 6, at the Army hall on State street, lasting all day. Light lunches will be served and there will be booths for such things as fancy work, candy, etc. In the evening a program will be given, followed by an auction sale of left-over articles.

FEDERAL AID IS SOUGHT
WASHINGTON PLANNING ADDITIONAL CAMPAIGN

SEATTLE, Sept. 28.—(By Associated Press.)—Plans for a campaign to secure further federal aid for forest fire protection in the state of Washington were announced today by State Representative Charles W. Saunders, chairman of the house committee on forestry.
"The failure of the last session of congress to make a $10,000 appropriation for the broadening of relative humidity data to logging camps of Washington and Oregon has made a system established between the weather bureau and northwest lumbermen valueless," Saunders said.
Under this system lumbermen were to receive warnings and reports on the weather from the weather bureau.
Saunders announced that he expects to bring the need for federal aid before the Washington forestry conference beginning here Thursday.
Land is rising in the Pacific near Hawaii, but Florida reators have nothing to do with it.

CHINA HAS BIG FLOOD
THOUSANDS MAY HAVE LOST LIVES IN DELUGE

PEKING, Sept. 28.—(By The Associated Press.)—Fifteen thousand square miles containing the homes of 2,000,000 persons are flooded and it is feared that hundreds have been drowned in consequence of the break in the Yellow river dyke on the Shantung-Chili border. The affected area is being extended hourly and famine relief workers say the flood is the greatest since 1887. A further break in the main south dyke is allowing the Yellow river to flow unrestrictedly to the south and a portion may reach the Yantse river through the grand canal. The possibility is seen of a permanent alternation in the river's course.

LOGANBERRY DRINK IS SERVED AT FAIR

Two Dispensars Placed on Ground; Popularity Said Great In East

The people of Salem now have the opportunity to taste of a new loganberry drink made from loganberries grown in the Salem district. The drink is put up by the Humphrey dispenser, of which there are two at the state fair, one just north of the pavilion, and one at the booth occupied by the women of the First Christian church of this city.
By those who have sampled the drink, it is declared to be the most delicious drink ever made from loganberries. It was sold in a park at Cleveland, Ohio, where it was found to be more popular than any other one drink, and $46,000 worth of the drinks was sold last year. The new dispenser gives the loganberry juice a distinctive and a fine flavor.
The drink is backed by the Chamber of Commerce, as it is believed that the loganberry problem of this district will be solved by the popularity of the drink.
Cards advertising the drink can be obtained at the two booths at which the drink is sold, and also at the place of the county exhibits. The loganberry juice is mixed with carbonated water and the result is said to be extremely delectable.

TRUCK OWNERS PROTEST
INJUNCTION FILED AGAINST HIGHWAY COMMISSION

PORTLAND, Sept. 28.—(By Associated Press.)—In an attempt to prevent the state highway commission from putting into effect its recent order lowering the maximum weight limit to be carried by trucks on portions of the Columbia highway, four freight truck operators today in United States district court filed application for an injunction against enforcement of the new restrictions. The John Day Valley Freight company, the Bend-Portland Transit company, and the Hood River Truck Line, Inc., are the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs explain that the action is not only taken in their own behalf but on behalf of other members of the automotive freight transportation association of Oregon and Washington.
Order for the commissioners to show cause on October 27 why the application should not be granted was issued in United States district court. By stipulation it was agreed that the commission will not put its order into effect until that date.

We will close promptly at 12 o'clock Wednesday noon, Salem day, in order to give our employees an opportunity to attend the state fair

"Fifth Avenue"

IT IS said that by traveling Fifth Avenue from one end to the other you will pass the store or the sales representative of nearly every well-known manufacturer in America. To a large extent that is a fact—and the same is true of the columns of this paper. The pages of any first-class newspaper today compose a veritable Fifth Avenue, where the goods of the nation are shown. There is this difference. In these pages you are given a description of the goods and in most cases quoted a price and told where you can buy them in your own town.

Fifth Avenue has nothing, aside from its scenery and the spell of the great metropolis, that the rest of America does not share. Advertising carries the good news to us almost immediately of any new and comfort-bringing commodity. In fact, new things often start with us and reach Fifth Avenue later.

Keep up with the times by reading the advertisements.

The better a product is—the sooner you will see it advertised
