The bride wore a lovely dress of white crepe de chine. Her veil was held with a wreath of orange blossoms and her shower bouquet was of white asters. ## KOWITZ CAPTURES ORPHAN BOTTLES

Single-Handed Raid Nets Evidence But No Offenders; Quandry Faced

Just what to do with several bottles whose contents are alleged to be a liquid purported to be home-brew beer is still perplexing Chris Kowitz, ex-service man and city attorney.

The bottles and contents were surrounded by the city attorney who conducted a personal raid upon American Legion headquarters while Capital Post No. 9 was acting as host to visiting legionnaires.

The offensive was well timed and carried out to perfection. The orphan bottles, which had wandered into headquarters and could find no owner, were crammed into a sack and hustled to the police station under arrest.

Now that he has the liquor, which he declares to be "real beer with a kick," the city attorney is in a quandry. No arrests can be made for the owner or owners are unknown and late last night had 10 claimants. Nobody has advertised for the wandering beer bottles and apparently none have been missed from the kitchen pantry or wherever it is that such bottles are kept.

It is admitted by the city attorney that he will prosecute if the owner is found but until such time the bottles continue to languish in the city jail or thereabouts.

CLEANING FLUE COSTLY

29.—An attempt to clean out a flue by burning an old automobile tire resulted in the destruction of the dwelling house of H. W. Anderson here today. The rubber burned so fiercely that the stove and pipe became red hot, igniting the wall paper and ceiling. Mrs. Anderson was badly burned about the face in attempting to save some of the furniture.

BRIDGE BOND IS BACKED BY CLUB

Kiwanians Pledge $500 for Expenses of Estimates; Hear of Building

The Kiwanis club of Salem, at their weekly luncheon Tuesday, went on record as being in favor of a bridge bond issue. They voted to help defray $500 expenses for estimates. The measure that the Kiwanians went on record for is an issue of $300,000 or $400,000, which will be enough so that all the bridges Salem needs can be built uniformly in regard to architecture, and can be of the best material.

Fred Erickson brought the matter up before the city attorney, a very prominent real estate man here in Salem told me that a bridge on Liberty and Mill streets would enhance the property surrounding to the extent of $500,000.

The property on Liberty street between State street and the mill stream has been improved and is being improved rapidly. Next to the Salem Bank of Commerce building, Dr. Steeves is going to erect a one-story building with architecture to be in harmony with that of the bank building. George Will is erecting a two-story brick building next to the Steeves place. The frame structure on the Larsen property next to the Will property will probably be replaced with a brick building in the near future. On the corner Mr. Eckerlin has erected a fine concrete building, and across the street, Mr. Klett has erected another concrete building.

Within a year or two George Will will probably build a brick building several stories high on the property on Ferry and Liberty streets where the Elker garage now stands. About the same time it is likely that T. A. Livesley will build a seven or eight story office building on the corner of State and Liberty streets on the location now occupied by Pomeroy & Keene. It is the argument that the building would further progress if there were a bridge at Mill and Liberty streets.

C. B. McCullough, president of the Kiwanians and bridge engineer for the state highway department, expressed himself as being personally behind the bond issue. Only a few Kiwanians expressed themselves as opposed to the motion backing the bond issue, and these few objected mostly on the ground that perhaps there might not be enough money in the coffers of the club to help pay for the cost of obtaining estimates. When the question of the bridges was up before the council, the council was asked for $500 for the purpose of obtaining estimates of the bridges, but refused, giving as their reason that the city did not have the money to spare for that purpose. The Kiwanians by their motion adopted Tuesday have expressed their desire to help defray the cost of the estimates, with the hope that the bond issue could be put before the people at a definite time in the near future.
