

JERSEY DAIRYMEN HOLD ANNUAL MEET

Oregon Association Gets Together for Session During State Fair

The Oregon Jersey Cattle association held its annual meeting on Wednesday, the third day of the Oregon state fair, in the boys and girls' club building at 3 o'clock in the evening.

O. M. Plummer, secretary of the Pacific International Livestock exposition, presided. The chairman called upon Frank Lynn, president of the Oregon state fair board and a Jersey breeder, to tell of his recent trip inspecting dairy herds.

Mr. Lynn spoke of two or three outstanding herds that he had visited, among them the Barnes Freeling Haysen and the Moosehill farm herds. He declared that the best bull he had seen was the one which headed the Freeling Haysen herd. "There are no bulls in the west that can measure anywhere near a second to him," was one of his statements. He told of the dairy business of the Moosehill farm where 90 cows are kept and where he saw six generations of females of the Fernwood type.

One of the granddaughters of the famous bull of this herd has made a world record. The milk from this herd is sold for 27 cents a quart. It is prescribed by physicians for health purposes, and what is not thus taken is made into ice creams and other specialties.

Professor Brandt of Oregon Agricultural college urged a continuance of the Jersey spring shows, declaring them to be encouraging to breeders and of great value in developing better herds.

Ed Cary, Oregon breeder of note, endorsed the views of Professor Brandt, and urged that a herd be made up from the best animals in the state and sent to an eastern circuit. Thomas Cummings agreed with Mr. Cary in general.

B. C. Altman told how he obtained the grand champion prize on one of his cows which he had purchased from Dammeier. "She is so good that she just can't help taking the grand championship prize, and that is all there is to it," declared her owner.

Ovid Pickard and others made suggestions for the benefit of the organization, while Ivan Loughary, field representative of the American Jersey Cattle club, urged that effort be put forth to obtain outside markets for Oregon's purebred Jerseys.

Horace Addis of the Oregon Farmer spoke of the attitude of the governor and the last legislature regarding support of the fair. He declared that much credit is due the legislature, especially the ways and means committee, for appropriating the fund so helpful in carrying on the state fair, the International Livestock Exposition and the smaller county fairs. He also complimented Governor Pierce upon his courage and progressiveness in not vetoing these items in the budget at a time when the demand was so great for reduction of taxes.

Pen-Point Picture of Ranch Takes Long Time

KEILSO, Wash.—A pen point picture of a scene at old Monticello, pioneer settlement on the Cowlitz river, near here, has been compiled by D. W. Bowman of Echo, Or., after five months' work. The picture, 25 by 40 inches, was made without a stroke of line, every detail being made by pen point dots, of which tens of thousands were required.

The scene shows the old Priest house, where the first convention, at which Washington territory petitioned for separation from Oregon, was held, and two granaries, from which grain was loaded into ocean schooners.

ALBANY MAN NEW LIVESTOCK HEAD

Oregon Purebred Livestock Association Holds Annual Meeting Here

The Oregon Purebred Livestock association met in the auditorium of the boys and girls' club building at the state fair at the close of the Jersey meeting Wednesday evening. There was a fair attendance of the membership and many helpful addresses and suggestions for the betterment of the livestock business in Oregon were made.

The need of a larger membership for this important organization was generally stressed by several of the members and a committee consisting of one or two from each of the purebred divisions of livestock shown at the fair, including hogs, sheep, goats, beef and dairy cattle, was appointed. The committee organized at once and proceeded to obtain additional names to the roll of members.

There was not a single scrub, a condition very unusual among the herds at the fairs of the country. He unhesitatingly declared that Oregon has most excellent beef herds.

Judge Jones of Texas declared that the sheep and goats he had judged were of quality classes, and commended most highly the boys and girls' club work of the state.

O. M. Plummer urged a larger membership and more definite results for the association.

The result of the election of officers for next year was: Ed Schoel, Albany, president; Frank Lynn, Ferndale, first vice president; C. P. Kizer, second vice president; N. C. Maris, secretary-treasurer. The executive committee is composed of Ed Cary, Frank Doerfler, Dave Riddell, R. W. Hogg and C. P. Kizer.

The work in the corn project was judged by G. R. Hyslop, head of farm crops at the college; in vegetable gardening by A. G. Bouquet, head of the gardening section; in the canning project—specimens of canned goods—Mrs. Jessie McComb, state home demonstration leader; cooking, by Mrs. Lottie Milan Vaughn of Corvallis; sewing, by Mrs. Vaughn and Miss Esther B. Cooley, assistant in clothing for the extension service; home making, Mrs. McComb; bees, H. L. Cox, beekeeper of Elma, Wa.; rabbits, Mr. Osborn.

J. W. Ridgeway, the judge of dairy cattle from Fort Worth, Texas, spoke at length upon the qualities of the herds he had observed in this state and declared that a herd selected from the best animals in this state sent to the eastern circuit next year ought to make a splendid showing. He stated that the general opinion outside of Oregon of the Oregon herds is that they are world record producers but are woefully lacking in type. This prevailing opinion, he declared, is due to false advertising and suggested in this connection that it would have been better for the Jerseys had they been advertised for their world records and their photographs left out of the advertising mediums, particularly the Jersey Bulletin. He suggested further that the judging of the boys and girls' club animals be arranged by itself, as judging these animals and two or three types of mature herds overtaxed the ability of the judge to do his best.

Judge F. W. Van Netta of Upland, Cal., declared that among the beef cattle he had examined

there was not a single scrub, a condition very unusual among the herds at the fairs of the country. He unhesitatingly declared that Oregon has most excellent beef herds.

Judge Jones of Texas declared that the sheep and goats he had judged were of quality classes, and commended most highly the boys and girls' club work of the state.

O. M. Plummer urged a larger membership and more definite results for the association.

The result of the election of officers for next year was: Ed Schoel, Albany, president; Frank Lynn, Ferndale, first vice president; C. P. Kizer, second vice president; N. C. UNIVERSAL Ranges and Heaters

Mr. Charles Kadderly from Cribben & Sexton, makers of the nationally known Universal Ranges, will be at our State Fair exhibit, on the balcony of the new pavilion, every day this week to point out the advantages of cooking with a Universal and heating with a Universal.

The Grey Beauty

Never was there a range as popular as the Grey Beauty. The Battle Ship Grey color harmonizes with all other kitchen equipment and adds a rich up-to-date atmosphere to the housewives busy work room.

Made of UNIVIT Porcelain, the Grey Beauty will look practically the same after long years of use as on the day it is put into use, as the Porcelain can never lose its beautiful lustre, cannot wear out, and will not discolor, crack, chip, nor peel from heat. UNIVIT Porcelain is the most durable and most perfect Porcelain made. It will stand more hard use than any range is ordinarily subjected to in a home.

UNIVIT Porcelain is ideal for Kitchen Ranges because it is Washable, Sanitary, and is practically everlasting. See it on display at State Fair and in our store.

MINERAL WEALTH BEING EMPHASIZED

School of Mines at OAC Offers Unusual Opportunity to Know Oregon

Significant of the mineral wealth of Oregon and its character as well as the mines exhibit of minerals by the school of mines at the agricultural college, consisting of the following ores:

Zinc ore, Buckeye mine, North Powder; sphalerite with chalcopryrite and galena, Bohemia district, Lane county; silver ore, Bay Horse mine; Snake River; copper or surface of Iron Dyke, Snake River; ore from same, 700-foot level; surface rock mother lode copper, Baker county; high grade cinnabar—from which mercury of quicksilver is taken; Black Butte, Lane county; chalcopryrite—copper—Josephine county; copper, ruby silver and gold, from Beaver Butte mine, Douglas county; borate and chalcocite, copper sulfide, Baker county; limonite—hydrous oxide iron—Columbia county; copper chalcocite and limonite, Bay Horse mine, Snake River; gold and silver, beautifully banded, Bonanza mine, Baker county; pyrite, galena and mercury, Chibride mine, Prairie City; cinnabar high grade ore, Black Butte, Lane county.

This is by no means a complete list of Oregon minerals representing wealth in precious metals. It is just a small list of some of the typical ores carrying metal values.

Methods of treating the ores for recovery of the values are demonstrated many times a day at the state fair this week.
