LIONS HAVE VISITORS

TELEPHONE MAN IS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER, FRIDAY

The Lions club band of Independence, accompanied by members of the club, were guests of the Salem den at the regular weekly meeting Friday noon. Several selections were given by the band and the club members from Independence sang two selections from the Lions' club roster. The guests present included Fred Butt, leader of the band; Dr. Maurice Butler, Dr. W. C. Butler, C. W. Whitprad, E. E. Hill, K. L. Williams and C. R. Ellis. R. D. Barton of Salem sang.

I. T. Felts of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, was the speaker of the day. He was introduced by W. H. Dancy, local manager. Mr. Felts gave briefly the history of the telephone and told how it has developed. He stated that 289,000 young and old men were now in the organization and that he expected that this number would be doubled within the next 10 years. He said that the company would in the future look to graduates of colleges to fill the positions. "The simple true story of the Telephone" was given as his subject, and he gave the developments since the 17th century when messages were transmitted by messengers to the present time 45 million miles of telephone line.

Newell Williams gave a brief report of the trip to Toledo last Friday at which time members of the Salem den attended the first anniversary banquet of the club at that place.

Frank Neer, district governor of the Lions clubs in Oregon, was present at yesterday's luncheon.

RADIO STATION OPENS

PROGRAM SENT FROM CORVALLIS LAST NIGHT

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, CORVALLIS, Oct. 2.—Opening program of the new college broadcasting station, KFDJ, was given last night, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Music and talks of general interest comprise the program sent from the newly equipped studio in the administration building. Official dedication of the station has been set for October 16, when a feature program has been arranged.

Thrice a week broadcasting will be in the order of the new station for the present, though extra features may be added on short notice. The first football game to be broadcast play by play over the new set will be Saturday's mix with Willamette which will begin at 1:30 p. m. Wave length of 254 meters will be used until after the official inspection when a wave length in the class B band will be assigned. Power of 500 watts will be used from the first.

COLLEGE STATION OPENS

KFDJ AT CORVALLIS WILL GIVE REGULAR PROGRAMS

CORVALLIS, Or., Oct. 3.—(By Associated Press.)—The opening program of the new college broadcasting station, KFDJ, was given tonight, commencing at 7:30 p. m., Pacific time. Regular thrice a week programs will be broadcast—Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

The new-comer among Pacific coast stations is a set of 500-watt power which will operate under a class B license as soon as official inspection of the set is completed early this month. Meanwhile the full power on the old class A wave length of 254 meters will be used.

Programs are under the direction of Wallace Kaddery of the extension service, who will also act as announcer. Paul Petri, head of the conservatory of music, will direct the musical parts of the program. Monday will be known as agricultural night; Wednesday, women's night, and Friday feature night.

OREGON ALFALFA GOOD FOR LAMBS

Better Than Grain at Certain Stages Says OAC Experiment Station

Oregon alfalfa is so good for fattening range lambs for the market that it is really better than grain at certain stages of the fattening process. Range lambs of eastern Oregon, taken up and put on feed for 150 days at the Hermiston branch experiment station, actually gained more when fed on alfalfa alone for the first 75 days and then on alfalfa and grain the remainder of the time, than when fed the whole 150 days on alfalfa and grain, according to index cards at the station fair exhibit.

The average gain for the period interests conducted by H. K. Dean, superintendent, was 29.2 pounds per head in the group fed hay alone 75 days and hay and grain 75. The gain was only 24.8 pounds per head in the group fed hay and grain for the whole period.

The former method proved most effective of all tried in putting on flesh. Some lots were fed 100 days on hay alone and 50 days hay and grain, while other lots were fed hay alone for 50 days and hay and grain for 100, but neither made the gains achieved by the first lot.

This result is said by representatives of the college to be most remarkable, an dthe showing gets lots of attention from farmers who handle range sheep.

"How pretty," say visitors to the entomology booth of the experiment station as they inspect the collection of Oregon moths. But those who know the damage most of the beautiful insects infect on crops of field, garden and orchard are not quite so enthusiastic. In the collection are moths that produce the green cabbage worm, brown worm, codling moth, and other injurious pests. B. G. Thompson, in charge of the exhibit, has one of the most complete collections of moths in the world, though only a few are shown here.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP).—President Coolidge is interested in a proposal to erect in Washington a memorial to Theodore Roosevelt.

ANNUAL CORN SHOW DATE GETS NEARER

Big Third Annual Event Will Be Staged at Armory November 19 to 21

Premium lists are being prepared for the third annual Corn and Industrial exposition to be held in Salem, November 19, 20 and 21. The exposition is sponsored by the Salem Chamber of Commerce, and the lists will be sent to all the committees in Marion and Polk counties. A number of consolation premiums are to be added to the general list of premiums. Included in the list are premiums for the six largest potatoes of any variety, for the largest squash, for the five biggest ears of corn, and for the tallest hill of corn, counting the roots. Leading communities in the county are preparing for their exhibits this year. Several of the communities are planning local shows, and those winning prizes at the local shows will compete at the Salem exposition. A better variety and grade of exhibits than ever anticipated at exposition.
