

KLAMATH IS PROUD OF FAIR DISPLAY

Diversified Products Attractively Displayed Cause of Much Comment

Klamath county's rapid progress in agriculture was vividly brought out by the county exhibit at the state fair. Featuring the booth was a potato exhibit. Netted Gem potatoes of high quality are one of the products now well established on which Klamath banks heavily in the future.

The possibilities in dairying were brought to attention by exhibits of Klamath full cream and four brands of butter manufactured by Klamath Falls plants. High quality alfalfa hay in bales and other forage crops portrayed the food resources available.

On Wednesday night of this week one of the feature dramatic offerings of the entire year—"Pygmalion," played by the famous Moroni Olsen players—will show at the Heilig theater.

America is justly proud of her creative pioneers. In the future magazines will feature the origin and accomplishment of the Moroni Olsen players, pioneers in a special kind of play production.

The demand for seats at the presentation of "Pygmalion" has been so great that the management of the Heilig theater has opened up two more rows of 11 seats which are now ready for reservation.

When the change is made the Belfast office will deal only with applicants from the six Ulster counties. The Belfast office at present has an average of 70 applicants a day.

Another "fair"—on a smaller scale, of course, and not to last as long as the one of recent date—is scheduled to take place today at the local hall of the Salvation Army, 241 State street, from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

For several weeks the Salvationists have been busy with their annual harvest festival efforts, which ends with today's special event called a "harvest bazaar," the first of its kind held in the Salem corps for some time.

wiches, pie, coffee and ice cream, at reasonable prices. The proceeds of all go to help the local work.

Captain Pitt made the following statement: "As in other years, the local merchants and the farmers have again generously remembered the Army in this yearly event, and their gifts have been varied and many. Our organization asks them and others to join with it in thanking God for a bountiful harvest, and this harvest festival is an expression of that gratitude of which the gift is the token. We wish to thank our many kind friends and we invite them, with the general public, to come down and see us today especially."

half. Last season Edwards was used mostly at half, and only at the end of the season was he switched to quarter.

These two backfields should furnish a tremendous lot of football during the four fifteen minute quarters. Sam Dolan as referee, Eldon and Jenne as umpire, and Tee-Faulk as Headlinesman will have their hands full when handling these collegians with a weeks energy stored up to let loose in one hour.

HEILIG THEATRE TO OFFER GREAT PLAY

"Lightnin'", Wonder Drama by Late Frank Bacon, Is Coming Here

"Lightnin'" the only play that is loved and eagerly awaited wherever the English language is spoken, will at last be introduced to the smaller cities on tour. With Mrs. Francis Bacon, Thomas Jefferson, Bessie Bacon, and the most brilliant cast that has yet been assembled for presentation of the famous comedy classic, it will be seen at the Heilig theater on Wednesday, October 14, for one day only.

Described as a play for all classes of theatergoers, "Lightnin'" is the work of Winchell Smith and the late Frank Bacon, and has won a deserving and lasting place upon the American stage. Tenderly true in its pathos, forceful in its drama and gentle yet keen in its satire—it is brimful of delightful entertainment, providing one of those evenings in the theater that are all too rare.

"Lightnin'" acquires its title from its central character, Lightnin' Bill Jones. Shiftless, good-natured bragging and somewhat of a tippler, Lightnin' is yet a figure to be loved and admired. Around his vagaries is woven an appealing love story of a young law student who, by outwitting a couple of landgrabbing lawyers, provides the basis of the play. The action of the piece starts in a logging camp in the backwoods of Nevada. The first act is laid in a little hotel run by Lightnin' Bill and his wife, which standing half in California and half in Nevada attracts would-be divorcees from all over the country.

The place booms when it is discovered as a resort where one may live on the Nevada side and acquire the necessary six-months' residence for a quick divorce, while hiding from the folks at home their Reno ambitions.

While "Lightnin'" is a happy blend of tears and laughter, its tremendous popularity is really due to the appealing qualities exhibited by its leading character, Lightnin' Bill. He is absolutely worthless, fond of his glass and his story, still lovable, sympathetic and humorous. It is a character that recalls fond memories of the elder Jefferson's Rip Van Winkle, and is destined to live in the hearts of theatergoers long years after most other stage characters have been forgotten.

RADIO CRAZE SWEEPS JAPAN TOKYO.—The radio craze has grown to such an extent in Japan that some of the middle school authorities in Tokyo have issued orders that students shall not "listen in" during certain hours of the evening, but shall devote these hours to their studies. The school heads found upon investigation that the youngsters were neglecting their school work in the evening to listen to the radio.
