Branch Meeting Opens

First hand news from the foreign lands by returned missionaries has been the inspiration of the conference at the First Methodist church.

One hundred and twenty-eight delegates had registered up to 5 o'clock last evening with a registration of eight visitors.

The opening meeting was led by Mrs. C. W. Henderson, recording secretary of the Columbia River branch. She is a magnetic leader and was happy in her choice of assistants: Mrs. E. A. Stephenson of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Seattle, presented the need of intensive prayer at the "home base;" and Mrs. H. Lester Smith of Helena, Mont., wife of a returned bishop to India, who presented the need for prayer in behalf of the many branches of foreign work. She conducted a very effective altar service, after vividly picturing 106 high caste people of India being baptized at one time, and many other urgent demands for trained workers.

New Book Received

Theodore Ackland Harper, Portland author, has had a new book published recently, "Singing Sentinels." The first number was received in Salem today and was autographed to Miss Gunnell of the Gunnell and Robb studio, who took some portraits of the author when he was here last spring in the interest of the Salem Arts League. From the illustrations which are by Florenz Clark, one knows the story is of the fairies again as was a previous book of his, "The Mushroom Boy." The book will make its debut in Portland next Monday when it will be displayed in a window of Gill's.

Degree Work Exhibition

One of the most anticipated meetings of Chadwick chapter of the Eastern Star each year is that at which the Past Matrons' Association take charge in the presentation of their degree work. At the meeting on Tuesday evening the Past Matrons presented a literary fitness exhibition, beautifully done in every detail. The feature which will probably be remembered the longest of all was the ceremony honoring Mrs. W. P. Babcock, present matron of the chapter, when a group of six—Mrs. Amos Vass, Mrs. Ira Darby, Mrs. Paul Hauser, Mrs. Mary Johnson, Mrs. Frank Derby and Mrs. David Wright—showered her with flowers in the name of the Past Matrons, with a special service, prepared by Mrs. David Wright, read immediately preceding.

The entire hall was decked with the loveliest of the fall flowers. At a late hour refreshments were served in the banquet room with the Past Matrons occupying the honor table in the center of the room.

Hostesses for the social hour were the present officers of the chapter assisted by Mrs. Homer Ingrey, Mrs. E. B. Millard, Mrs. W. O. Marshall, Mrs. L. S. Geer, Mrs. Roy Bohannon and Mrs. L. O. Grote.

The next meeting of the chapter will be in the form of a Halloween party.

Hollywood Club Meets

The Hollywood Ladies' Society club met with Mrs. Walter Davis on Wednesday afternoon. After a delightful visit together, the club adjourned to meet in two weeks with Mrs. J. Sunley. A generous lunch was served by the hostess and assisted by Mrs. J. Sunley and Miss Amanda Olsen. The following members were present: Mrs. J. Sunley, Mrs. W. F. Starr, Mrs. Jack Earle and daughter, Mrs. Alice Rowland, Mrs. Victor La Due, Mrs. A. E. Helme, Mrs. W. W. Fisher and daughter Mary Jane, Miss Amanda Olsen and hostesses.

Mrs. V. V. Cummins was taken into the club.

Mrs. J. C. Ackman, Mrs. Fred Woodcock and Mrs. Sisler Starr of Salem and Mrs. C. W. Bean from Home Gardens, California, were visitors.

Returns from San Francisco

After a two months' visit in San Francisco Miss Esther Richardson has returned to her home in Salem. While in the city she was the guest of her brother P. K. Richardson, and visited many places of interest around the bay.

Club Meets in Silverton

The members of the Barbara Freitche Sewing club were delightfully entertained on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Minnie Fishwood in Silverton. Mrs. Fishwood was assisted by five other club members, all residing in Silverton. These were Mrs. Minerva Stevenson, Mrs. Bertha Morley, Mrs. Lida Esher, Mrs. May Wolf, and Mrs. Rachel Flesher. At the tea hour delicious refreshments were served.

The following members motored over from Salem: Mrs. Maria Thompson, Mrs. Francis C. Gilliam, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Waters, Mrs. Alice S. Davies, Mrs. Minnie Baker, Mrs. Myra Dotson, Mrs. Pearl Ralph, Mrs. Fanny Gregory, Mrs. F. E. Zinn, Mrs. Melissa Perkins, Mrs. Carrie Bartholomew, Miss Gladys Bartholomew and Mrs. Laura Arpke.

Visitors from Myrtle Point

Miss Mabel Lundy and Miss Gladys Wall of Myrtle Point, Oregon, are house guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Conner. Miss Lundy is a niece of Mrs. Conner.

"500" Club Holds Meeting

The Happy Twelve 500 club met on Saturday of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson. Mrs. E. W. Kitchen won the high score for the ladies and R. Kitchen for the men. The consolation prize went to Mr. Harry Young.

The membership of the club includes Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boles, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Magee, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dietz, Mrs. E. W. Kitchen, and Miss Ruth Kitchen.

Guests Over Week-End

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Stearns entertained as their house guests over the week end their granddaughter, Mrs. Alfred Loy of Dallas, and their two months' old great grandson, Stephen Leslie Loy. Master Loy is the first great grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Stearns. Mrs. Loy and little son were in Salem for the last days of the fair.

Altar Society Meets

St. Vincent's Du Paul Altar society met for a meeting of interest on Wednesday in the school hall with Father Vincent Keenan presiding. Ten new names for membership were presented at this time. Plans were made to assist in the raising of funds for the furnishing of the new chapel and rectory room.

Of particular interest in the winter's activities will be the se-himself in the hole by mishandling Coveleski's bunt and throwing too late to third after Peckinpaugh and Ruel had hit Texas leaguers. But the Pirate twirler pulled himself together with Washington's heavy artillery facing him. He forced Rice, Stan Harris and Gonza to hit into easy infield plays, two of which were force outs at the plate.

Through the earlier stages of the game Aldridge was outpitched and hit harder than his veteran rival, Coveleski, but his courage and control lifted him close to invincibility when danger lurked nearest. Besides his great stands in the fifth and ninth, Aldridge checked off Senator threats in two other innings, when the fleet-footed Sam Rice was in a position to score from second or third if the needed hit could only come through.

Coveleski himself twirled capably, pulling himself out of bad holes in two innings, the third and sixth, but his downfall was accomplished through two master strokes—the home runs of Wright and Cuyler—although the big Polk star's mob ball silenced the main Pirate guns for the most part.

There was no doubt, too, that two separate but distinct breaks helped Pittsburgh's eighth inning spurt. The first was an error by the usually reliable veteran Peckinpaugh, who couldn't handle the moist ball driven at him by Eddie Moore before the runner got to first. The second "break" came a moment later when Cuyler's hard drive to right, scoring Moore ahead of him, took a sharp hop that ended in the front part of the temporary stands. It was a "lucky homer, a hit that would have given no more than the two bases on the regular playing field, but it was sufficient to clinch the battle.

Regardless of these turns of fortune, however, the Pirates probably would have tallied twice in this inning. Moore on second at the time, would have scored even if Cuyler's blow hadn't jumped out of the field. Barnhart followed with another hit and Peckinpaugh contributed a second error on Traynor's bouncer but these blows were wasted as Coveleski steadied and checked the onslaught.

The victory was scored too in a dramatic setting, made so by the roaring spirit of the capacity crowd, the presence of old-time heroes of Pittsburgh's last world series victory 16 years ago and by the tributes paid to the memory of one of the greatest championship heroes of all—Christy Mathewson.

Never Let a Cold Get a Start

Vapors Check a Cold Overnight

There are many ways to treat a cold but only one DIRECT way—with vapors that can be inhaled. Vapors penetrate immediately into every corner of the air passages and lungs, soothing and healing with every breath. Vicks is so remarkably successful in treating cold troubles because it acts like "a vapor lamp in salve form."

When rubbed over throat and chest the body heat releases vapors of Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme and Turpentine. At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster. This double, direct action often checks the worst cold overnight.
