Destitute of Korea Ape Cave-Dwellers of Past

TOKYO.—Reports from Seoul, Korea, state that more than 3,000 residents of that place are dwelling in caves, just as their ancestors did in a primitive age. It is believed that most of these cave-dwellers are members of the poverty-stricken, unemployed class which has been greatly augmented lately because of the industrial depression.

The Seoul authorities are declared to be somewhat perturbed over the situation and are planning relief measures in order to halt the cave-digging tendencies of the inhabitants.

ANNUAL MEETING BROUGHT TO END

Missionary Convention Delegates Leave for Homes Over the Week-End

The last meeting of the Columbia River conference of the Women's Foreign Missionary society was held Sunday night at the First Methodist church of this city, and the delegates have now departed for their homes in Washington, Idaho, Montana and Oregon.

Rev. Fred Taylor of the First church brought out in his sermon Sunday morning that the organization was founded in 1869, re-organized by the church in 1872, and incorporated in 1884. The organization now has 733 foreign missionaries, and directs 5700 native workers in foreign lands, according to Rev. Taylor, who also said that the organization had raised during its career $30,000,000 for the purpose of promoting missions. The organization has grown to such proportions that it now uses about $2,000,000 annually to carry on its work.

A pageant presented by the Little Light Bearers, child missionary organization, and directed by Mrs. A. A. Lee and Mrs. W. B. Minier, was given at the church in the afternoon.

Mrs. Lester H. Smith, whose husband was formerly bishop of India, preached the evening service, speaking on the life in India. The session was closed with a presentation of the need and the logic of the organization by Miss Florence Hopper of Brooklyn, N. Y., general treasurer of the organization. The session held in Salem was conceded by all to be highly successful, and the delegates left for their homes with the feeling that the organization would do work of even larger scope during the coming year.

NEW PAPER CONVERTING PROJECT IS EXPLAINED

O'Neill declared, that is being done nowhere in the United States at the present time. Wrappers of all descriptions, including bread wrappers, will be printed by the company. A director of the company is going to Germany soon for the purpose of thoroughly looking into the matter of shelf paper and of glassine paper, and someone who is highly specialized in the industry will be brought to Salem to help in the carrying out of the immense program planned by the company.

Lloyd A. Richards, sales manager for the new company, was also present at the luncheon and added a few remarks. He laid stress upon the fact that the Western Converting company "will not trade dollars in Salem, but will bring in a vast amount of money from the outside." He told the Chamber that one of the largest specialty dealers in New York wants to handle the company's output in that part of the east, and he was told by a representative of that specialty company that if they handle the business, it will be necessary for the company to enlarge extensively.

"We are going to start in Salem and radiate out into every part of the country," Mr. Richards declared. The company has orders already in several parts of the west, and a large order from Honolulu. Branch offices of the company have already been established in San Francisco and Los Angeles, and it is the intention of the company to establish one soon in some part of the northwest, possibly Seattle. Eventually the company plans to be represented in every state.
