

BOY SCOUT MEET CALLED TONIGHT

Definite Program to Be Outlined by W. L. Hayward, Regional Executive

A meeting will be held tonight at the Chamber of Commerce at 7:45 o'clock for the purpose of planning a definite program of the Boy Scouts of America. W. L. Hayward, regional executive of region 11, comprising Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana, has been in the city for the past week in conference with many of our citizens who are interested in the movement and with Harold D. Ware, scout executive.

At the meeting tonight there will be representatives from the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, Rotary, Elks, Knights of Columbus, American Legion, Lions, Knights of Pythias, Real Estate association as well as other interested citizens. Mr. Hayward states that while it is true Salem has met with some discouragements and disappointments, we now have as the executive a man who is exceptionally well qualified to put over a real Scout program provided he may have the proper support.

"Many of the foremost educators have said that scouting is America's accepted program for the development of her boys," he said. "We have a program that appeals to boys as no other has ever done; in Salem there are hundreds of boys eager to become identified with scouting and are

Feel Glorious! Nicest Laxative, "Cascarets" 10c

Don't stay headachy, bilious, constipated, sick! One or two pleasant, candy-like "Cascarets" any time will gently stimulate your liver and start your bowels. Then you will both look and feel clean, sweet, refreshed; your head clear, stomach right, tongue pink and your skin rosy. Because cheery, harmless "Cascarets" never gripe, inconvenience or sicken, "Cascarets" has become the largest selling laxative in the world for men, women, children. Buy a box at any drug store.—Adv awaiting patiently an opportunity to do so; they may have the benefits to be derived from scouting if the good people of Salem will give it their support. The time has definitely arrived for the people to say what the future of scouting in Salem shall be and it is sincerely hoped that those who are interested will be present at the meeting tonight."

HONOR COURT IS HELD

OVER 60 BOY SCOUTS PRESENT AT MEETING LAST NIGHT

At the court of honor held by the Boy Scouts of Salem at the county courthouse last night, 60 Scouts were present, one of the largest representations in the history of the local organization. The court is held on the third Thursday of each month for the purpose of allowing the Scouts to take examinations which will enable them, if they pass, to advance in the order of Scoutdom.

Three Scouts, Varley Ennor, Fred Carmical and Roland Hardman, succeeded in being advanced to first class Scouts. Those who passed the second class examination are Charles Newberry, Robert Garrett, Donald Chadwick, Frank Dobby, William Lindstrom and Tommy Livesly.

Joe Dolby and Phillip Ferris won the honor to be star Scouts. Thirty-one merit badges were awarded, being won by 14 Scouts in Troops 1, 2 and 4.

BROADER VISION URGED BY BISHOP

Business Conditions in Salem Never Brighter Declares Local Merchant

"We want to get a vision of a population of 50,000 in Salem, declared C. P. Bishop, Salem clothier, in an address before the Marion-Polk County Realtors' association at their weekly luncheon Thursday. And in order to attain that vision, Mr. Bishop declared it is necessary for Salemites to have instilled in them such enthusiasm as is shown in several parts of California.

"I have studied business conditions for twenty years," he declared, "and in all that time, so far as I have been able to see, the prospects have never looked brighter for Salem than they do now." But every one must push for all he is worth, asserted Mr. Bishop, if the best is to be made of this prosperity.

"If we are going to get anywhere," he continued, "we will have to spend some money. If any man says he cannot or does not want to get any further, the best thing for the community to do is to drag him out to the cemetery."

Congratulating the organization for taking his advice in backing the new YMCA building, Mr. Bishop told the Realtors that the next thing Salem must accomplish in order to prove itself an up to the minute community is the building of a municipal auditorium. He also suggested that the organization get behind the loganberry industry and back it up. He said that while the loganberry business did not go over so well formerly, a new soft drink has been concocted of loganberries, and that this drink, which is extremely delectable, is making a popular appeal throughout the nation.

As a parting word, Mr. Bishop told the Realtors that the "State of Oregon has no business sending a democrat to the United States senate, for what Oregon wants above all is a protective tariff."

ANNUAL WEEK-END GROUP IS ACTIVE

University of Oregon Preparing for Homecoming November 13, 14, 15

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—With Homecoming, scheduled for Nov. 13, 14 and 15—armistice week—less than a month off, the student committees are working at top speed in preparation for the three-day event which is one of the biggest, if not the biggest, features of the entire school year. Several thousand visitors are expected.

Appointment of the Homecoming directorate, composed of chairmen of the various committees, is announced by James Leake of Portland, general chairman. The directorate already has met several times and has disposed of preliminary details. Features upon which the committees are working now include the annual noise parade with fireworks, the "frosh" bonfire and rally, the campus luncheon and the alumni dances.

The Homecoming football game this year is between Oregon and Oregon Agricultural college. Plans are made for the greatest attendance in the history of those contests. The directorate follows: James Leake, Portland, general chairman; Elam Amstutz, Silverton, assistant chairman; Dorothy Myers, Medford, secretary; Douglas Clark, Eugene, dance; Edith Sorenson, Everett, luncheon; Hugh Biggs, Ontario, field decorations; Edward Thoresau, Eugene, parade; Ward Cook, Astoria, welcoming; Earl Smith, Eugene, accommodations; Lee Luders, Portland, features; James Forestel, Portland, rally; Kenneth Stephenson, Portland, finance, and Edward Smith, Portland, publicity.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY — GAMES

Every boy and girl wants a Birthday Party—and a little verse like this makes a nice informal invitation.

I have a secret for you. Of course, you want to be told. I'm going to have a party. The day I'm (10) years old. So come to my house—(Tuesday)—(date)—at four o'clock.

We're going to have a jolly time that will echo 'round the block. There is a strange custom among children on one's birthday to "give him or her a whack" for every year. It would be funny to have a dummy rigged up in the entrance hall and invite each guest entering to "take his or her whacks" out on the dummy. The host (or hostess) then escapes the ordeal of a beating.

Roseburg—Vein of potter's clay 1200 feet wide, found on North Umqua river.

Medford—Pear crop estimated at 1600 carloads.

TRAVEL MAGAZINE HEAD PAYS VISIT

Popularization of Pacific Highway Is Present Object of Association

Popularization of travel on the Pacific highway from Canada to Mexico is the object of the Pacific Coast Travel magazine, official organ of the Pacific Highway association. The expressed object of the association is to build up business in every town on the highway in order that travel may be built up.

Statistics gathered by the association show that during the past year 600,000 tourists came to the Pacific coast by auto from other states. Each car stayed on an average of 70 days, and its occupants spent on an average $10 per day. According to these figures, $105,000,000 was spent by eastern tourists this year on the Pacific coast. Members of the association declare that the great bulk of this amount was spent in southern California.

Captain Harry L. Wells, who was in command of an Oregon company in the Philippines, is editing the magazine. He was an editorial writer for the Portland Oregonian 25 years ago, and since then has been writing editorials for the St. Louis Globe Democrat. He is now on a trip along the whole length of the Pacific highway for the purpose of gathering pictures and maps of towns along the way. The magazine is printed on the best class of paper, and carries pictures that are of excellent caliber. Mr. Wells declares that he hopes through the publicity given by his magazine, which is distributed throughout the east, to double the travel along the length of the Pacific highway.
