

MAIN FIGHT EVENT STOPPED IN THIRD

Woodward Knocks Out Jewett; Gretz Is Given Decision Over Green

What was scheduled for a 10-round main event came to a sudden end in the third round last night when Ernie Woodward, Portland, connected with a heavy one to Joe Jewett's midriff and the Seattle fighter was forced to take the count and to be helped to his corner. Woodward weighed 142 and Jewett 147 pounds.

Woodward opened the fight while Jewett displayed a wicked left. Both men mixed heavily in the opening round and followed with a similar exhibition in the second round. Jewett was forced to touch the canvas as the bell closed the round. Woodward bored in at the start of the third and concluding round while Jewett evinced a willingness to meet him. The fight was featured with a heavy exchange of blows and while short, was far from slow.

In the semi-windup Shadow Gretz was given a decision over Russy Green in the fifth round when it became apparent that he had the best of the argument. The two mixed at times, with Green doing much of the leading. Green was sent to his knees several times during the fourth and concluding round but was not badly damaged. Both fighters live in Salem. Green announced his weight at 135 and Gretz at 144 pounds.

Three excellent four-round preliminaries opened the card, all ending in draws. Sailor Manning, Salem, 150, and George Hennings, Vancouver, Wash., 145 pounds, mixed for four rounds, the first two of which were uninteresting. Hennings seemed to have the best of the battle.

Eddie Fox, Independence, 108-pounder, should have had a decision over Jimmy Fargo, 116, of Salem, as it was his fight. The referee, however, lifted both boys' gloves after the bell sounded. The decision was not popular.

Battling (Goof) Kendall, 151, and Eddie Patzer, 150, both of Salem, met in a four-round draw with Patzer having a shade the best of the encounter. Prior to the fight Kendall announced that he wanted to meet Archie Elliott, of Salem, at an early date. A few weeks ago, to settle an argument, Elliott and Kendall met near the gaming pavilion across the river with Elliott scoring an early knockout.

Prior to the main event Frankie Lewis, Salem Indian, stepped in the ring and challenged the winner of the Woodward-Jewett fight. Nick Yeager, Portland heavy-weight, will meet an opponent here on an early card, it was announced.

Tom Louttit, of Portland, refereed the fights. The program last night, taking it all around, was well worth the price of admission and fight fans were apparently well satisfied with the offerings of Matchmaker Harry Plant. Spectators continued to smoke during the preliminaries in spite of repeated requests from the management. Smoking was stopped just before the semi-windup and the atmosphere cleared somewhat. The fights were well attended last night and fans are anticipating the next smoker at the Army.

PUBLIC SPEAKING IS TULLY'S TOPIC

Pastor of First Presbyterian Church Rotary Speaker Wednesday Noon

"If a man drinks for very long," declared Rev. Norman K. Tully, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Salem, in an address at the weekly luncheon of the local Rotarians Wednesday, "he will soon lose his business. And if a man drinks any at all, he is a plain unvarnished fool!"

Rev. Tully spoke on public speaking, giving several points on how to deliver an address, and also showing several of the obstacles that are in the way of the public speaker. But he expressed the belief that every man should know how to make an address, for "a man fails in his duty as a citizen unless he is able to stand on his feet and give voice to his thoughts."

The two primary requisites of public speaking are, according to Rev. Tully, are knowledge and earnestness. Clearness of statement and conscience of statement were also expounded as assets in speaking. Hindrances are the convictions and the prejudices of the audience, as well as narrowness of vision.

Public speakers are not supposed to be original speakers, declared Rev. Tully, and added pertinently that the latter go to universities, and are as "dry as dust."

MODERNISM IS RAPPED

SEATTLE, Oct. 21.—(By Associated Press).—Modernism leads to doubt of Christ's divinity and the vicarious atonement and "when we touch the vicarious atonement we might as well take the good old hymns out of the books," the Rev. J. H. Groth today declared at the general Lutheran Bible conference. Delegates from churches in western Washington are attending the sessions.

TITLES PREPARED FOR TWO MEASURES

Both Look Toward State Control of Hydro-Electric Power Possibilities

Two ballot titles for constitutional amendments pertaining to state control of hydro-electric and power developments have been prepared by I. H. Van Winkle, attorney general.

The first initiated by the Housewives' Council, Inc., Portland, is the Oregon Water and Power Board Development Measure, which would create a board of five elective members, the first five being named in the amendment, who would have sole control over the conservation, development, storage, distribution of electric energy and water for irrigation and domestic purposes. The petitioners are Josephine M. Othus, Mary A. Dean and Clara A. Simonton, all of Portland.

The second title is the Water, Water-power and Hydro-electric Energy Constitutional Amendment, initiated by the Oregon State Grange by George A. Palmer, grange master, Hood River and Bertha J. Beck, secretary, Albany. This amendment would authorize the state to conserve, develop and control the waters, water power and hydro-electric energy of the state; its distribution, transmission and sale and to contract for such purposes with political subdivisions and hydro electric utilities; to maintain and operate plants in this connection and authorizing state credit and indebtedness to provide funds to carry out the provisions of the measure.

The main difference between the two proposed amendments is that the first touches upon administrative affairs and seeks to name the first board. No mention of administration is made in the proposed grange amendment.

CLOVER SEED CROP HEAVY THIS YEAR

District to Net Between 250,000 and 300,000 Pounds Predicts Archerd

Between 250,000 and 300,000 pounds of clover seed will be yielded from the crops in the vicinity of Salem this year, according to Charles R. Archerd, who is actively interested in the crop, handling a great share of the local seed. Last year the yield was about 150,000 pounds. This year's crop, however, is only about a third of the normal crop, dry weather and freezing being given as reasons for the lessened production.

The top price for the seed this year has been 28 cents, and now the price averages around 27c. Mr. Archerd predicts that the price will be about 26 cents by the time the season is over. It is said that the French crop is large this year, and can be sold in Salem for 23 1/2 cents. Practically all of the seed grown here will be used on the coast, as eastern seed is being sold in the east for about 5 cents a pound less than the price quoted here. The clover production has been very inconsistent this year, ranging from six bushels to the acre to a peck.

California Has Four Victories to Credit While Web-feet Have Three

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Oct. 21.—(Special).—In the most important football game of the Northwest, University of Oregon will meet University of California at Portland Saturday on Multnomah field. It will be the ninth meeting of the teams. Oregon has won three games, California one, being a scoreless tie.

Dick Smith, head coach at Oregon, captained the 1899-Oregon team, the first one to play California. The Golden Bears scored 12 points while Oregon failed to cross the goal line.

From 1905 until 1916 the teams did not play as California was playing rugby then instead of the American game. In 1916 Oregon defeated California 39 to 14, and the following year Oregon again won, 21 to 0.

Scores of Oregon-California games: 1899—Oregon 0; California 12. 1900—Oregon 2; California 0. 1904—Oregon 0; California 4. 1905—Oregon 0; California 0. 1916—Oregon 39; California 14. 1917—Oregon 21; California 0. 1918—Oregon 0; California 6. 1921—Oregon 0; California 39.

OCTOBER PROVING TO BE DRY MONTH

Rainfall Last Year Was 8.31 Inches, 5.21 Inches Over Normal Amount

It is interesting to note that the weather this month has been ideal and especially so as compared with the weather of October of last year. Last October it rained 10 days before October 21. From then on it rained some every day till the end of the month. The heaviest rain was noted on October 28, when 1.77 inches fell in the city. The total rainfall for the month was 8.31 inches, 5.29 inches more than normal for the month. The longest space with no rain during the month was five days. This October it has really rained only one day. On the 11th of the month a rainfall of .01 inch was noted. There was a trace of rain on the 10th, but it measured less than .01 of an inch, which is not registered, according to Clarence Oliver, weather observer. On the 17th there was a heavy mist, and .02 inch precipitation was noted. That is the total of the rainfall in Salem for this month; less than .04 of an inch in all! This year October 21, which opened the 10-day siege last year, was as fair as an Indian summer day, and indications are that the weather will continue ideal for some time.

HI SCHOOL GIRLS TO HAVE TRAINING

Physical Education Work Made Compulsory for First Time in History

Miss Grace Snook, in charge of the physical education work in the Salem, public schools, announced Wednesday that she has outlined plans for physical training for the girls in Salem in high school. For the first time in its history physical training has been made compulsory for the girls in the high school.

The plans include instruction for individual cases where the girl is found to be in need of physical correction. For this purpose classes are to be organized of not more than 20 girls to the class who will be given the utmost care in correcting their physical defects. Each of the 530 girls at the high school has been given a physical examination, and it is found that there are 100 girls who are to take the corrective courses.

There will also be general physical training for the girls that have been found to be in good physical condition, the girls will be divided into classes of about 60. Miss Laverna Spitzberger, who graduated this year from the university of Oregon, has been retained for the purpose of tending to the physical education of the girls at the high school and will give her full time to that work.

Once the classes get under way, it is the plan to interest the girls in various athletics, such as basket ball, volley ball, indoor baseball, hockey, and swimming. For the four years' work the girls will be given two credits toward graduation, although these credits will not be accepted for college entrance.

MAIL FRAUDS CHARGED COLONIZATION PROMOTER AND AIDE ARE INDICTED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—(By Associated Press).—Bond of $5,000 was posted late today by Mrs. Ena B. Harper, promoter of a colonization project on an island off the west coast of Mexico, who was indicted here yesterday for misuse of the mails.

The $5,000 bond was agreed upon by the court after the woman had spent the day in an unsuccessful effort to raise bail of $10,000, the amount set by the federal grand jury.

It was revealed late today that W. H. O'Bryan, associated with Mrs. Harper in the land scheme, also is under indictment. He has not been arrested, but probably will surrender tomorrow to post bond, federal officers said.

Families in Oregon, Washington and California are said to have paid an aggregate of $500,000 for land on a barren, uninhabitable island.
