A SURE DWELLING PLACE:—Trust in the Lord and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed. Psalm 37: 3.

WHY NOT GET BUSY AND GO DOWN THE LINE?

Why not get busy and go down the line, for a beet sugar factory in Salem? We can get it if we will go after it and stay with it everlastingly—

In either of two ways.
First, by putting up to one of the big concerns owning and operating beet sugar factories throughout the country the fact that we can secure contracts for enough sugar beets to keep a factory going—and then go and get them.

Second, by organizing the growers into a cooperative company, the same as is being done in Ohio and Michigan.

The most important development for the Salem district was the work of putting the flax and linen industries on the map in a substantial way. This has been or is being done; though great expansion may be looked for as time goes by.

The next most important development for this district is beet sugar factories, with all this will mean in the expansion of our live stock industries.

KEEP YOUR DOLLAR WORKING AT HOME

There is a familiar illustration of twenty men forming a circle; the first man displaying a silver dollar and paying it on an obligation to the second man, the second man paying it to the third, and so on around the circle—

Till the dollar comes back to the man who first had it. So the dollar pays twenty bills and is ready to start on its way again.

Burnett Bros., Jewelers—"Pay Us as You Are Paid"—Eleven Stores on the Pacific Coast—From Everett on the North to Hollywood on the South—Not only largest—but (we hope) the Best!

It is a good illustration of the importance of patronizing your home merchant. You have a chance to see your money again. But if there is a break in the chain, and the dollar goes to a representative of a foreign house, it disappears. It goes to help the people of a distant city.

The Statesman is publishing another page advertisement this morning in the series designed to show the folly of patronizing itinerant peddlers, bell-ringers going from house to house.

The patron of the bell-ringer is twice stung. He pays more than the purchase is worth, and he withholds patronage from the people who make it possible for him to have employment for his labor or profit for his business.

Think what a city Salem would be if everybody here patronized only home people, and bought only home made goods, to the full extent that was possible!

It is estimated that Salem might by this one act provide for doubling her population.

How are these for slogans: What Salem makes makes Salem; what Oregon makes makes Oregon?

The bee keepers of Marion and Polk counties are proposing to organize and put their industry on a basis where it will have all the favors and protection to which it is entitled. May they make their organizations strong and fine, and so render this the greatest and best bee center in the United States.

Bits For Breakfast

Weather man says rain.

Most farmers will appreciate hard showers, then another period of fair weather, for plowing and seeding.

Mayor of Aumsville is Mrs. Stella Seeley, and two of the six members of the city council are women, Mrs. Margaret Clark and Mrs. Rowena Speer. Salem Chamber of Commerce proposes to have these women officials talk at a future Monday luncheon.

Secretary Wilson of the Salem Chamber of Commerce says the number of farms in Marion county has increased 1152 since 1920; there being under cultivation in these farms 18,446 more acres than five years ago. These are U. S. department of agriculture figures. Good showing. Bringing into use the slacker acres.

You hear a good deal about flax being produced in small tracts. That is all right. But large tracts are just as feasible, with the same cultivation. Machine pulling has made bonanza flax farming possible.

The Great Western Sugar company, headquarters Denver, is commencing to construct a beet sugar factory at Minatare, Neb. This is the fourth new factory for this year announced for the Denver company; besides one factory purchased. It is up to Salem to go down the line and get a beet sugar factory; now.

A woman went to the bank and asked for a new check book "I've lost the one you gave me yesterday," she said. "But it doesn't matter. I took the precaution of signing all the checks as soon as I got it so, of course, it won't be any use to anyone else."

CHURCH SUPPORTS COURT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24. (AP)—Launching of a determined effort to arouse "public interest in this country's acceptance of the world court," was urged in a resolution adopted tonight by the national council of Congregational churches.

IMPROVEMENTS ON IN COUNTY SCHOOLS

A general improvement in the schools of the county is reported by Mrs. Mary Fulkerson, county superintendent of schools, who has just returned from a tour of inspection of several of the schools in the county.

A new domestic science department is being created at Mills City high school. The tables for the department are being made at the school from lumber produced at the local mills, and each girl will have a table. An electric sewing machine and two Singer sewing machines have been purchased for the department by the school.

A new water system has been installed at the school at Gates. There are now separate showers for the boys and girls as a complement to the large gymnasium erected last year.

The system of transportation for the pupils of the Gates school has been extended this year to Endor.

In the school built last year at Detroit a stage is being erected, and is to be furnished with drop curtains and scenery. It is hoped by those at the school that the stage will be ready in time to give a Halloween program.

New teachers in the county this year include Mr. Van Fleet at Detroit, Miss Bernadine Shumaker at Parrish Gap, and Albert Nelson at Summit.
