

AERIAL ATTACK IS EXPECTED TODAY

Bearcats Meet Linfield College on Sweetland Field This Afternoon

Strengthening of the Willamette backfield is sought by Coach Rathbun in today's game with Linfield to be played on Sweetland field at 3:30 o'clock. To bring this about, Riedell has been shifted to quarter, and Winslow, who was in that position, will be shifted to end. Riedell is an excellent passer and an aerial offensive by Willamette is looked for.

The line will be strong with Houston at center; Rhodes and Mudra at tackles; Stolzheise and Mort guards, Herrman and Winslow will be placed at ends, with Mumford likely to start instead of one of them. All week the Bearcats have been working on forward passing, both on the offensive and on the defensive, and it is expected the team will be much more formidable in that capacity than they have been heretofore in the season.

The backfield combination to start with will probably be Riedell at quarter, McMullon and Schwell at halves, and C. Zeller at full. Collingworth was slated to start, but due to an infection acquired Thursday, he may not be able to start in the game. Coach Rathbun will have a goodly array of substitutes to use in the game in case of emergency.

INDOOR BASEBALL TOURNAMENT IS SLATED

Pioneer Clubs of City to Start Season's Activities This Saturday

The various Pioneer clubs of Salem, boys' organizations conducted by the local YMCA, are organizing an indoor baseball tournament. Each club is organizing a team and the games, according to reports, will be played at the YMCA gymnasium.

The first games will be played Saturday. On that date the Lincoln club will meet the Whitman club; the Daniel Boone club will meet the Jason Lee club, and the West club will meet the South Friends club. The games will be followed by a swim.

The first Pioneer Salem round-up will be held the same evening, the feature of which will be a supper for the boys in the YMCA rooms. Following this all clubs will unite to form the Central Pioneer club. Features of the evening will be a talk by Dr. Frank Brown, and a demonstration of Pioneer games by the Whitman club.

Another series of games will be played on November 21, when the South Friends play the Sheltons; Lincoln plays Jason Lee, and Whitman plays Wetzel. The last of the games will be played on November 28 when Daniel Boone will meet South Friends, Lincoln the Daniel Boones, and Jason Lee will meet Shelton. The team attaining the highest percentage will be acclaimed winners of the tournament.

SALEM PLAYS HILLSBORO TEAM WILL BE ACCOMPANIED BY MANY ROOTERS

The Salem high school football team will journey to Hillsboro today to meet the high school team of that city. The local boys are in good shape for the fray, although they will not have with them B. Drager at quarter, who is out with the smallpox. J. Drager, who does the punting for the team, has been sick and it is doubtful if he will be able to start.

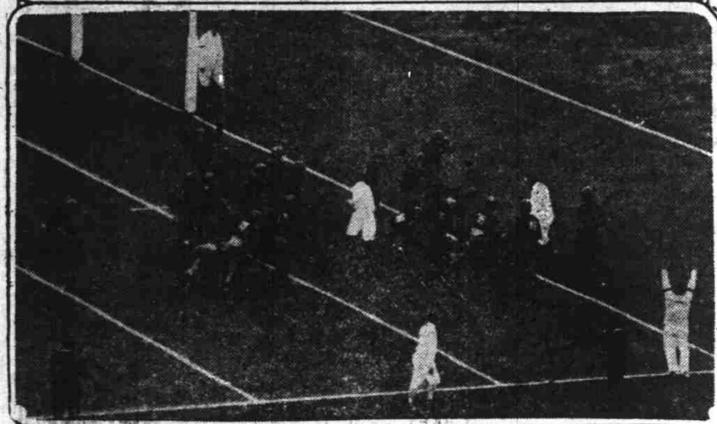

With the return of Lang, full-back, chances for victory for the local boys in today's contest have been improved. The men are all pointed for the game. Salem high school to date has met three high schools—West Linn union, Astoria and Albany, and has been victorious in all.

A large group of rooters are expected to accompany the team on the trip, going by private cars.

GOLF COURSE AGITATED 18-HOLE LINKS IS PROPOSED IN POLK COUNTY

Work of laying out a new 18-hole golf course on the Salem-Dallas highway six miles west of Salem near Brunk's corner will begin in two weeks if the necessary golf enthusiasts are lined up. The proposition is being made by Lee E. Smith, of the Alderbrook golf course, of Bay City and D. C. Craig, of Rockaway, who is handling the membership. It is proposed to sign up 150 members in Dallas, Monmouth, Independence and Salem, who would contribute $60 the first year and $4 a month thereafter to meet the expenses of the club. Mr. Smith was in the city yesterday discussing his plan with local men.

BIRD HUNTERS ARE NOT SO FORTUNATE

State Game Warden Files Report for October; May Open Bull Elk Season

Hunters of Chinese pheasants throughout the state were not so successful this year as last, according to the monthly report of E. F. Averill, state game warden, filed with Governor Pierce Thursday. This condition is especially true in the Willamette valley counties, while newspaper reports indicate that there have been large numbers of birds killed in Coos, Klamath, Jackson and Joseph counties, with Malheur county furnishing a large number of birds. While the shooting in Umatilla county is much better than in the Willamette valley, it is not up to any of the past three seasons.

Reports concerning the number of deer killed during the open season are somewhat conflicting, but taken on the whole, it is believed more deer were bagged during the past season than during any other open season in many years in spite of the shortened season," the report reads.

A tentative investigation as to conditions and the number of deer and elk in the territory included in the proposed Big Creek game refuge in Umatilla and Grant counties indicates that the deer are increasing and that the number is now probably almost as great as can be accommodated on the winter range of these animals. Another investigation will probably be made in February when the winter range is occupied.

The number of elk in that section of the Blue mountains adjacent to the corners of Umatilla, Grant, Union and Baker counties, is probably large enough to justify a limited open season on adult bull elk. If some plan can be worked out whereby a limited number of adult bull elk can be killed, it would not interfere with the present rapid increase of these animals. We believe such a plan is possible.

During the latter part of October, 10,000 perch were planted in water not suitable for trout near Burns, while sportsmen of Ontario and Vale are anxious to secure some of these perch for planting in the Brogan and Warm Springs reservations. All of the trout to be liberated at this time from the Delph creek hatchery have been distributed.

Particular attention has been given to stocking the streams adjacent to Multnomah and Clackamas counties as these two counties furnish such a large proportion of the money received from the sale of angling licenses," the report continues. "A total of $95,500, fingerling trout have been liberated in the Sandy river and its tributaries, 48,500 in the Molalla and its tributaries and 1,549,50 in the Clackamas and its tributaries. At a later meeting the state game warden will recommend that the smaller tributaries of all these streams be closed to angling."

The demand for educational films is becoming greater and they were shown in several cities during the month. In addition to Oregon the films were shown in Tacoma, Spokane, Yakima and Ellensburg, Wash., and Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Only the force of regular wardens is now in the field as the specials were withdrawn with the closing of the season on deer and upland birds.

Normal operations have been conducted at the three state game farms during the month and a few Chinese pheasants were liberated in closed areas and the remainder of the birds being held for distribution will be liberated during the first two weeks of this month.

BEAUTY GOING, IS SAID

INTELLIGENCE IN WOMEN TO GO NEXT, SAVANT SAYS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 5.—(By Associated Press.)—American women are losing their beauty, intelligence will be next to go. Beauty and intelligence go together. These were assertions made by Albert Edward Wiggam, biologist and author, New York, before the seventy-second annual convention of the annual session of the teachers convention here today. The expression "beautiful but dumb" as applied to women is nonsense, Mr. Wiggam said.

A thousand beautiful women have more intelligence than a thousand homely women, Mr. Wiggam declared, adding that there are exceptions "both ways."

DEBATE RULES PLAYED

DAWES AGAIN VENTS WRATH ON SYSTEM IN SENATE

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 5.—(By Associated Press.)—With checks and balances on legislation existing throughout the machinery of American government, the right of unlimited debate in the United States senate is a useless and unfair barrier to proper majority rule, Vice President Charles G. Dawes declared in an address here tonight.

"The house and the senate has to pass a bill, the president has to sign it, and if he vetoes it the house and senate have to pass it again by two thirds majority to make it a law," the vice president said. "After that is all over the supreme court of the United States has a right to pass on it in relation to the constitutional rights of citizens."

"Minority rights deserve protection but a majority has some rights and a senator ought not to have the power to withhold the rights of the people and the right of all the states."

Dawes condemned those who heralded him as a possible candidate for office, calling his only interest the adoption of a cloture rule in the senate.

"I was an accident," the vice president said. "I'm not a candidate for any office. The senate doesn't dare bury this issue. I've got three and a half more years in office—that's one reason."
