

"TRACKLESS TRAIN" WILL ARRIVE HERE THIS MORNING

TRACKLESS TRAIN
DUE AT 11 O'CLOCK

City and State Officials to Welcome Equipment at Statesman Office

America's first "trackless train" will arrive in Salem this morning at 11 o'clock. It will "tie up" in front of the Statesman office where it will be officially welcomed by state and city representatives. After the reception it will take a turn of two around town and will then be on display in front of the Heilig theater. The huge machine, driven by two 90-horse power engines, will re-fuel at the Smith & Watkins service station, across the street from the Heilig. Shell gasoline is being used on the entire transcontinental tour.

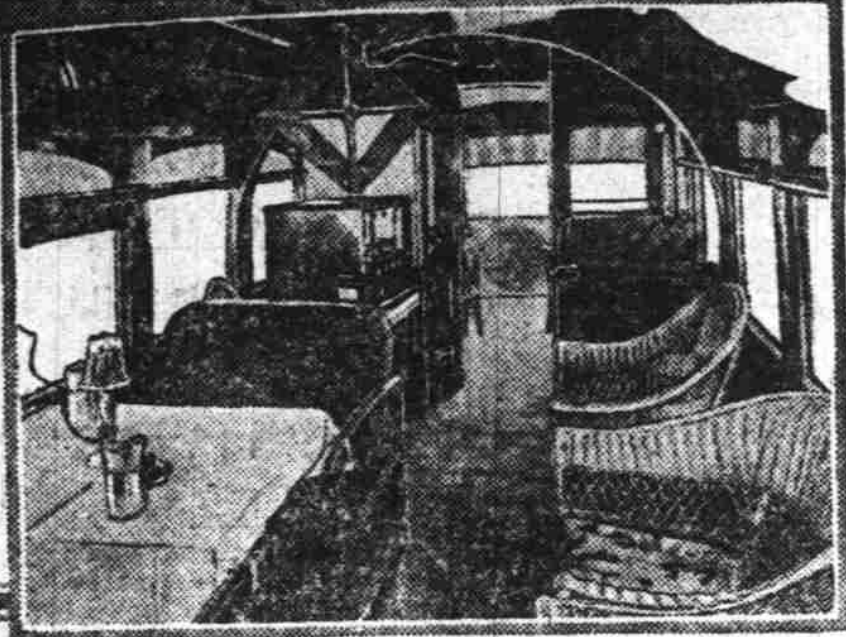

The luxurious "special," consisting of a locomotive-like engine, a tender and a combination sleeper and diner, cost $71,000 to build. It is the only machine of its kind in the world, and is making the tour from New York to Los Angeles and thence to Europe in the interest of good roads. The cars are owned by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer moving picture corporation. Every appointment is included in the machine. A special De Forrest radio set receives programs from coast to coast, no matter at what point the train is located on its trip. Special stenographic material is included in a compartment, enabling the travelers to carry on their usual business affairs. A Corona typewriter that has traveled from ocean to ocean many times is carried in the car.

Important data on road and travel conditions throughout the country are being compiled by those in charge of the tour. This information will later be used in highway work. The machine has stood up wonderfully in the long drive and no mechanical trouble has been experienced with the novel equipment. The United States tires on all wheels have given excellent service. The cars will come into Salem by the West Side route in order to avoid the detour at Oregon City, and will go south through Corvallis so that it will not be necessary to cross the river on the ferry. The equipment will be on display here during the entire day.

The game was played at Hillsboro. The team was accompanied by a large number of rooters from Salem. The first score came in the second quarter with the other three touchdowns in the second half. The additional try for goal was converted after each crossing of the goal line. Salem high and Eugene high will meet on Sweetland field here Wednesday afternoon in the annual clash between the two student bodies. The game will be one

JUNIOR GOLFERS PLAY PORTLAND HIGH SCHOOL TEAM COMING TODAY

Representatives of three or four of the Portland high school golf teams are expected here today to meet the Salem high school golfers on the Lilahee country club course, according to G. P. Sharkey, professional. The local junior players have met teams from Eugene and Corvallis already this season. The Oswego Golf and Country club has issued an invitation to the Lilahee players to play over the Oswego course Sunday and several are making arrangements to take advantage of the opportunity. A majority of the local players will be busy playing for the Gray Belle cup, but others are expected to represent the club rather than the regular team members.
