

HEILIG VAUDEVILLE FOR FRIDAY LISTED

Five Excellent Acts From Association Circuit Billed for Three Shows

There are so many outstanding numbers on the next Association Vaudeville bill at the Heilig on Friday, that to single out any one act as a headliner would be a difficult task. For instance, J. Burke Morgan and Co. have a barrelful of high class fun in their one act entitled "Oh My Goodness." It is considered one of the fastest farce comedies ever produced and is being presented by one of the cleverest companies in vaudeville. One hundred laughs in 18 minutes is the record attained and maintained by this act in which Mr. Morgan as the eccentric old innkeeper displays umpteen brands of dumbness. He is ably supported by four other artists of note.

Then come the Marigold Trio who call themselves "The Song Singing Sun-Uver-Guns." As will be suspected this trio employ their time delivering harmony and solo numbers via the vocal cords. They have voices of rare quality and do not pretend to waste any time with dancing, acrobatics or anything that they do not do well. But when it comes to acrobatics we have the Ether Four Euro-brought across the water in which is included difficult feats of hand and chair balancing together with a series of acrobatic dances that displays wonderful dexterity on the part of the two men and two girls who comprise the act.

By way of a change the lovers of real music will have an opportunity of listening to the sweet strains of an old violin manufactured by Maggini way back in the year 1646, and now the proud possession of Miss Lucie Bruch who not only knows how to appreciate its value but who also knows how to bring forth those bewitching notes of entrancing melodies rich with the mellowness of old age. Miss Bruch who is an artist of international repute is known as the Gypsy Violinist.

A popular newspaper cartoonist is always a welcome number on a variety bill so here we have Conrad Clayton who was at one time on the art staff of the Chicago American as well as many other well known dailies. With Mildred Clayton they are offering an artistic treat of songs, patter and pictures in which a refreshing line of comedy runs throughout.

Banquet Is Planned—Father and Son day will be observed at the First Methodist church next Sunday. Rev. Fred C. Taylor will preach on "Blest be the Tie That Binds," which will describe the Father and Son relationship. A special anthem will be given by the chorus choir entitled "As Pants the Heart." The

DICK BARTHELMESS COMING TO OREGON

Popular Film Star Shown in "Shore Leave," as Armistice Day Offering.

Born in the jubilation inspired by the formal film written to the greatest drama in history, the World War, Armistice Day, is fast becoming the close rival of the Fourth of July as an event of joyous celebration, and the advent of Richard Barthelmess in "Shore Leave," at the Oregon theater on that day is to mark one of the red letters among the events scheduled in Salem for that event.

Fitting into the spirit of the day through its military flavor the picture is also apt for the occasion by reason of its carefree and joyous notes of comedy.

The story tells of Bilge Smith, who, on a visit to shore, meets Connie Martin, the dressmaker in a fishing village. Connie immediately falls in love with the "gob" and lays plans to trap the unwary sailor whose intentions are far from being serious. For Connie has been born with a love of the sea, inherited from her father, who was a sea captain.

When the gob mentions a passing ambition to be the captain of a freighter, Connie sets about salvaging her father's ship, which has foundered in a river in India. Bilge, the gob, returns after a long cruise to find Connie and her ship waiting. But to her sorrow she finds that the sailor not only never has given her a thought, but doesn't recognize her when he sees her.

The working out of this unusual romance is played with rare comedy by Barthelmess and his leading woman, Dorothy Mackail. In fact, Barthelmess is said to register one of the comedy hits of the year.

Meet After 37 Years—J. A. Crawford and C. T. Doty were boys together, neighbors and Miss Gertrude Cave, head usher of the Heilig Theatre, wants to start her own orchestra. Miss Cave was born in London; her father is French, her mother English. She came to the United States three years ago and until recently was with the Heilig Theatre in Seattle. "Frenchy" is interested in music. She is now taking violin and piano lessons and her ambition is to have an orchestra. An uncle in New York has an orchestra of his own and she wants to follow in his footsteps.

TAYLOR PLAYERS TO COME HERE TUESDAY

"Grounds for Divorce" Will Be Presented at Heilig Theatre Nov. 10

Salem theater patrons will again be treated to the best in dramatic art when the Forrest Taylor players of Portland will present "Grounds for Divorce" at the Heilig theater on Tuesday, November 10. According to Archie Holt, manager of the Salem Heilig, the play to be presented here this week is one of the best yet rehearsed by the Taylor Dramatic company.

The entire company will take part in "Grounds for Divorce," which has met with great success in Portland. Forrest Taylor, the leading man and director of the company, and Anne Berryman, leading lady, are well known and well liked here. Others in the cast are Dorothy Blakeley, Barbara Haaland, character actress; C. W. Rice, Anne Wade, Kenneth Roduner and Kirke Decker.

Mistakes Goat for White Face

Governor Pierce may know a white faced calf when he sees one but he was fooled yesterday when what he thought to be a white face turned out to be nothing but a goat. While traveling to Riekrall to meet the "trackless train" the governor remarked to Fred M. Powell who was driving, "There's a white faced calf in that Ford ahead of us." On passing the car it was discovered that the passenger in the car was merely a milk goat. "That's one on me," said the governor. "It has a white face though, and I like white faces."

Fair Shows Profit—A cash balance of $24,989 remains after settling up all bills re-according to a report made at a meeting of the state fair board in Portland yesterday. The report was made by Ella S. Wilson, secretary of the fair board and manager of the fair. The balance is practically clear, though there are a few small outstanding bills. It is estimated by Mrs. Wilson that about $10,000 of the amount will be needed before the next fair for the improvement of the grounds. Total receipts of fair week were $109,699.24 and expenditures $84,709.88.
