Miss Gladys Brown played the Lohengrin wedding march as the bride took her place at the altar. her father meeting her at the febt of the stairs and giving his daughter in marriage. There were no attendants. The single ring ceremony was used. The bride was beautifully gowned in ivery satinhack crepe worn with her mother's wedding veil and wreath of orange blossoms with coronet head-dress. Her bouquet was a lovely shower of delicate Cecil Brunner roses with maidenhair fern.

Only relatives and a very few close friends witnessed the ceremony.

A wedding breakfast with covers placed for seventeen followed the service. The table was decorated with two low bowls of nink and white chrysanthemums. one at either end, giving the color keynote in the dining room. Dainty bride's place-cards marked the covers for the guests. The bride's cake was of white with an ornamental leing in pink.

Many beautiful gifts in silver, cut glass, and linen were received by the bride and were on display during the afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Green will make their home near Sublimity.

tograph of the Linn counshibit at the state fair which, in Mr. Wade's words, "arrested the attention, was instructive, and completely represented the coun-Donegan Wiggins' story, Boots," is intriguing with an awful incident of revenge that leaves the reader shuddering, but with attention riveted, neverthetess. "Caleb Puts Two and Two Together" is the title W. R. Wheeler gives his story, while 'The Light God" is the title for one by Bruce Hardinge. Additional space in the magazine is devoted to pages on "Books and Writers." to a cunning picture of Ray L. Mrs. Reha Smith, 1160 N. 21st Farmer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Farmer, and to promising forecasts for the next issue.

One remaining article, the joint contribution of the manager of the magazine, Murray Wade, and of the editor, Albert Richard Wetjen, is unescapable of notice. Mr. Wetjen and Mr. Wade exploit the shortcomings of an art exhibit when it is conducted on a nonartistic basis. They make as their point of contention the art department of the state fair.

Allisons to Live in Salem

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Allison and son, Donald, will be pleased to know they have returned to Salem after four years of residence in Eugene. For more than 20 years Mr. Allison was employed in the secretary of state's office, and for the past five years has been auditing clerk in the office of the University of Oregon. He will go into business in Salem and Donald will enter Willamette university as a sophomore. They are nicely domiciled in their recently purchased home at 1835 Trade street.

Gill-Brown Wedding

A wedding of distinct interest to a large number of Salem folk was solemnized at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, November 7, in Gresham, when Miss Edna GMI became the bride of Keith Brown. Miss Gill is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Gill of Gresham, and is popular in Salem from numerous visits here. Mr Brown, the groom, is the son of the late Frank M. Brown and Mrs. Brown of Salem,

The wedding ceremony was performed yesterday in an impressive manner by a brother-in-law of the bride, Rev. J. Stanford Moore, After a wedding trip of two weeks Mr. and Mrs. Brown will return to Salem to make their home at the Brown apartments. They will Cora Randall, Luanna Reavis, be at home to their friends after December 1.

Members of the family and inti mate friends motoring down from Salem and Albany for the wedding were Mrs. Elsie L. Lamoreux, Miss and Mrs. Richard Slater, Mr. and Dorothy Robnett, Mrs. Frank M. Mrs. Robert Perlich, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Fred Duncan and Ellis Von Eschen, all of Salem, and Robert C. Paulus, Mr. and Mrs. from Albany. Mayor and Mrs. J.

Guest From Woodburn

Mrs. Jennie Austin of Woodburn who has been the house guest of Mrs. A. B. Hudleson, returned to her home in Woodburn yesterday, Mrs. Austin and Mrs. Sadie Kemp, Mrs. Kemp being a sister of Fred J. Tooze and a house guest at the Tooze home, are former neighbors, both being Salem pioneers.

Noted Soprano to Sing

Miss Vivian G. Whisler, musical director of the First Christian church, will present Eigia Wittwer Dawley, noted New York mezzosoprano, in concert Thursday, November 19. Mrs. Dawley has done a great amount of concertizing and is well known in the field of music as an artist of unusual ability. The concert will be held at the First Christian church.

Church Night Observed

A most interesting social evening was spent at the First Christian church Friday. It was termed 'church night" and was enjoyed by about 200 of the congregation. The program consisted of some very inspiring reports of the work being done in the Sunday school and church, musical numbers and stunts that caused much laughing and good fun. Refreshments were served. All present felt that the evening had been instructive and enjoyable in every way.
