Jolly Sixteen Club Meets

A much enjoyed evening was spent when the Jolly Sixteen club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Davies. Miss Lavell Keene assisted in serving refreshments. Visiting guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. E. Winchcomb, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Townsend and Miss Lovell Keene. High scores were won by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hansen; low scores by Mrs. M. F. Dennis and Mr. C. H. Busey.

The club members are Mr. and Mrs. John Spang, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Keene, Mr. and Mrs. L. Bechtel, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Busey, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Busey, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Busey.

The club will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Busey on their next regular meeting night in two weeks.

Former Salem Girl Is Hostess

Mrs. Nellie Rowland Greene and Miss Norma Wilson entertained Tuesday night with a shower for Miss Freda Goodrich, bride-elect. Guests were sorority sisters of Miss Goodrich, who is a member of Alpha Chi Omega—Oregonian.

Attend Organ Concert

Prof. and Mrs. T. S. Roberts had the pleasure of hearing Dr. Alfred Hollins, England's noted composer and master of the pipe organ, who will appear here tonight at the First Methodist church, last night in Portland. Dr. Hollins completely won the audience that gathered to hear him in the Portland auditorium. His impromptu improvisations performed before the audience proved, as always, a feature meeting with tremendous approval.

Rebekahs Enjoy Program

The Rebekahs held an unusually enjoyable social meeting on Monday evening in their hall which was decorated for the occasion with autumn flowers. A pot-luck supper followed a delightful program of music and readings. The program was opened with a piano solo by Eugene Brieste, after which the Messrs. Burnside, Allen, and Marsters sang a trio. Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. L. G. Curtis both gave readings and Nellie Dolby and Mr. Meyers vocal solos. Esther Diefenbach gave a vocal solo with accompaniment by Miss Ritchie and violin obligato by Mr. Diefenbach. The program closed with a reading by Jean McReynolds and a vocal solo by Elsie Simeral.

Guests at Sturgis Home

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sturgis were Mrs. Rachel Reeder and Mrs. Paul Johns, both of Salem. On Thursday a birthday dinner was given in Mrs. Reeder's honor. Covers were laid for eight, including Dr.

Domiciled in Salem

Mrs. Fred Perrin (nee Ettie Savage) and daughters have returned to 257 South Winter street for the school year, having spent the summer at Pedee and the coast.

Departments to Meet

The American citizenship department of the Salem Woman's club will hold a meeting from 2 to 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the same hour of the board meeting in the dining room of the club house, according to an announcement by the chairman of the department, Mrs. A. M. Chapman. The augmented committee, making up this group, is divided into two divisions—that of Americanization and citizenship training, and that of community service. The following club women make up the personnel of this committee as it now stands: Mrs. A. M. Chapman, Miss Ethel Fletcher, Mrs. Winifred Pettyjohn, Mrs. U. G. Boyer, Mrs. Ronald Glover, Mrs. L. O. Clement and Miss Leora Carver.

Following the business meeting and program Mrs. F. A. Elliott's department will also meet on Saturday. Five divisions are covered by this department: 1. Child welfare; 2. Hospitals; 3. Education and service and public health; 4. Indian welfare, and 5. anti-narcotics. This department, which will meet following the regular club meeting on Saturday, has the following members: Mrs. F. A. Elliott, general chairman; Mrs. E. E. Fisher, Mrs. W. H. Byrd, Mrs. G. R. Bonell, Mrs. A. L. Wallace, Mrs. F. H. Thompson, Mrs. J. A. Carson, Mrs. P. D. Quisenberry, Mrs. Walter J. Page, Mrs. Walter L. Spaulding, Mrs. W. J. Busick, Mrs. Lester F. Barr, Mrs. William McGilchrist, Jr., Mrs. Ralph H. Cooley, Mrs. H. M. Chadwick, Mrs. P. A. Eiker, Mrs. Earle M. Dae, Mrs. E. Hartley, Mrs. Harry Hawkins, Mrs. Otto J. Wilson and Mrs. Alton D. Hurley.

Piety Hill Club

The Piety Hill club will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. W. Kay, 1525 Fairmount, for the opening meeting of the season. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. C. H. Robertson and Mrs. T. B. Kay.

Three Link Club

The Three Link club will meet Friday afternoon in the club room in IOOF hall. Hostesses: Mrs. Ida McAdams, Myra Dotson, Hannah Beard, Belle Carlson and Sallie Curtis.

Little Light Bearers

The Little Light Bearers of the First Methodist church will hold an enjoyable Thanksgiving party at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the church. A Thanksgiving program will be given with the following participating: Jack Ostlund, Junior Grant, Junior Gripp, Beverly McMillan, Kenneth Utter, Glow Larsen, Elizabeth Grant, Mary Jo Geiser, Ruth Grant and Jimmy White, in an exercise, and with recitations by Betty Abrams, Betty Utter, Josephine Evans, Beatrice Evans and Helen White.

Poets to Be Guests

Members of the Northwest Poetry society have been invited to be guests at Mrs. Claudius Thayer's home, Willamette lodge, on Saturday evening, November 21. The visitors will give the program numbers of the evening.

Leslie Can Do's Meet

The Leslie Can Do's, the young married people's club of the Leslie Methodist church, met on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne E. Greenwood, 1285 S. Liberty street. After an enjoyable social time dainty refreshments were served. This club meets regularly the second Wednesday of each month.

Birthday Celebrated

Mrs. C. W. Brant, whose birthday occurs on Armistice day, was delightfully surprised by a group of friends on the eve of the holiday when they gathered at the Brant home for an enjoyable evening of cards. Delicious refreshments followed the playing.

Public Invited to Carnival

A public social and benevolent Thanksgiving carnival will be the opening get-together festivity of Salem's newest organization. The Capital Auxiliary club is the name of the new society. It cordially invites the public to attend its carnival Saturday evening, Nov. 14, in the old WOW hall at 240 North Liberty. There will be no admission charge, and the festivities start at 8 o'clock, closing at midnight.

Officers for the coming year

Levy's Visit in Portland

Mrs. S. Levy and Miss Elizabeth Levy were guests in Portland during the early part of the week. On Monday evening they were in the audience for the Portland Symphony orchestra concert.

Miss Garfield Out of Town

Miss Edna Garfield is spending some time in McMinnville in a business way while court is in session.

With the Women of Today

A pioneer in business is Miss Ella Peterson of Omaha, Neb. She is a binder twine broker, and so far as known, she is the only woman in her line. Ten years ago Miss Peterson was graduated from Nebraska university and faced the world with the query of how to earn a living.

"I was convinced I didn't want to be a school teacher," she says. "And I have no special bent for the kitchen, although I can and do cook for our home when it is necessary. But with the whole wide world before me I decided on a business career. I went to a business college, graduated, got a job, and for nine years I've made a study of binder twine.

"My first job was secretary to Frank Meyer of the Farmers' Union. He had installed a binder twine department in the company and I elected myself to run it for him. Business was good and he decided to go into the exclusive brokerage of binder twine. I went along with him as his secretary, and last May I bought my employer out."

Miss Peterson employs four salesmen and her business nets $750,000 a year, which means that she has moved 500 carloads of binder twine. Binder twine has only a market to the farmer.

"When I went to work for Mr. Meyer," she says, "I did not know just what binder twine was. But I put myself to it to learn. Now, every summer I visit some farm where my twine is used to bind up the corn and grain harvested. Of course I don't sell direct to the farmers, but to the jobbers. But I have to visit the farms to see just what the crickets are doing to my twine, which is guaranteed to be cricket proof."

Asked about her attitude toward marriage Miss Peterson said: "I believe marriage means the same to all women—companionship, someone to share your life, someone to care for. But Mrs. H. A. Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hewlett, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brant.

Mid-Week Bridge Club

Members of the mid-week bridge club were delightedly entertained Tuesday afternoon with a bridge luncheon at which Mrs. Charles Cone was the hostess at her home on Court street. Mrs. Park was a special guest for the afternoon. The luncheon table was attractive with a centerpiece of roses.

Mrs. J. B. Hosford won the prize of the afternoon. At the next meeting of the club, after Thanksgiving, Mrs. C. E. Cashatt will be the hostess.

Guests Over Armistice Day

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Bishop entertained as their house guests over Armistice Day Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bishop and children, Elizabeth, Thomas, and William, and Miss Louise Houk, all of Portland. The group motored down.

Brooks in Olympia

The many Salem friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Brock Jr., will be sorry to learn that they have gone to Olympia to make their home, Mr. Brock having accepted a position in a furniture store there. The Brocks remained in Salem only a week after their return from a trip east.

perhaps the success of women in business will make them more discerning. They will demand more of men, which will raise the standard of accomplishment of men."

While Mrs. Agnes Murray, of East Bridgewater, Mass., was digging in her garden she unearthed a gold wedding ring lost more than 30 years ago by Mrs. Michael Ahearn, who lived near Mrs. Murray at the time. The ring was in good condition and was returned to its owner.

Now that women have the vote it is logical to suppose that girls, like boys, will aspire to be president when they grow up. But why should they wish to assume that position of infinite cares and responsibilities when the salary that goes with it is not as large as that paid to a moving picture executive? Marion Fairfax—Mrs. Tully Marshall in private life—is said to draw a larger salary as motion picture scenarist and editor than President Coolidge.

Now Miss Fairfax declares that she is going to resign this salary—said to be the largest paid to a woman executive anywhere—and produce motion pictures "on her own." Not from a woman's viewpoint, however, Miss Fairfax declares she doesn't believe there is such a thing. "That is the only subject on which all men think differently from all women," she avers. "All men believe there is a feminine point of view and no woman does."

Miss Fairfax was first an actress, then a playwright and finally an executive. She worked first with Lasky of Famous Players, and later with First National, and has had a hand in more pictures than she can remember. And it is recorded of her that every one of them has paid its producer.

Sex plays will be taboo in her productions, she says. "I want to differentiate between sex and romance. I am not interested in producing sex drama, if it is only that. I am interested in producing romance. Adventure, comedy and romance are what I hope to give to the people. And the greatest of these is romance. I think it has been too much set aside for mere sex plays."

And Miss Fairfax's pictures will have happy endings, for, she says, while "I like realistic drama at times, and when it is really great, I would never be willing to spoil it by changing a tragic ending into a happy one. So I would not care to produce a picture with a tragic ending. The pictures are for the great masses of people and they need some relief from the daily grind of life, some hopeful note to lift their spirits. I don't mind tragedy in the middle of a picture, but it should lift a little at the last."

Motion picture audiences are becoming more appreciative of good picture. Miss Fairfax thinks she and Mr. Marshall (Tully Marshall Phillips is his real name) have been married for 22 years. He will have an interesting part in her pictures.
