

ERIXON CENSURES BUDGET COMMITTEE

Elimination of Entire Playground Fund to Be Protested by Kiwanians

The budget committee for Salem was severely censured at the weekly luncheon of the local Kiwanians Tuesday when Fred Erixon, who has been interested in the playgrounds of Salem ever since their creation, introduced a motion to instruct the president of the club to appoint a committee for the purpose of drawing up a resolution protesting the elimination of the playground fund in the coming budget, and asking the council to see that funds for this work are provided. The motion was enthusiastically and unanimously carried, and it was further moved that the committee be given power to act so that the resolution can reach the council before it is too late to remonstrate. It is understood that such remonstrances must be made on or before December 8, and the committee will probably appear before the meeting of the council to be held on that evening.

"I learned through the press that the playground fund has been eliminated by the budget committee," Mr. Erixon declared. "This club took the initiative in creating the playgrounds, and during the first year we paid three-fifths of the expenses, and assisted for the next two years. Then the council provided $800—a paltry $800 for them. Now the budget committee is endeavoring to undo the work. It doesn't see well with the playground board."

He went on to declare that cities of Salem's size have three or four times as much allowed for the playgrounds. He continued:

"The budget committee had the temerity to say that there is too much dust on the playgrounds, but there is not more there than any place else." He brought out the fact that since the playgrounds were created there has not been a drowning in the city limits, while prior to that time there were three or four.

The resolution that the Kiwanian committee will submit to the council, it is understood, will ask not only that the $800 be reinstated for the playgrounds, but that the council raise the amount to $1200.

The matter was the chief matter of interest at the dinner, and arrangements have been made to bring the discussion up before the Rotarians, the Lions, the Realtors, the Elks, and the women's clubs. All of these civic organizations sponsored and contributed to the playgrounds at the time when they were created.

CULVER ADVOCATES OILING FOR ROADS

County Master Much Impressed With Activities in Eastern Oregon

Declaring that he was much impressed with the results obtained by eastern Oregon in oiling macadam roads, W. J. Culver, Marion county roadmaster, returned from a trip into the eastern part of the state during which he made a careful inspection of the system. He was accompanied by J. H. Scott, market road engineer for the state highway commission.

Mr. Culver, in view of his inspection, will report to the county court that he is in favor of carrying on experiments in this county along the same line. Common fuel oil is used on the macadam roads, the amount ranging from 75 to 125 barrels to the mile. The oil penetrates through the surface and forms a hard crust on the top which resists wear to a remarkable extent. While it is not said to equal hard surfacing in wearing qualities, on roads not subjected to heavy traffic the results are said to be just as satisfactory and the cost is much less.

YOUNG RHINELANDER ADMITS FALSEHOODS

tained anything comparable to the erotic passages in her letters. There are about 300 of them, some of which the defense has said are quite as erotic as Alice's.

One letter contained protestations of love for Alice with the flat statement, "I love you."

Later in the letter he said: "Remember what I said about getting an apartment in New York."

While again he added: "Suppose we take a trip to New York on Friday and see what we can find."

"Were you in love when you suggested the apartment?"

"I was falling in love."

"When did you first intend to make this girl your wife?"

"In 1923, about March, I believe."

Rhineland will go on the stand again for cross examination tomorrow.

ROBBERY SUSPECT HELD

SEATTLE, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Suspected of complicity in a $15,000 diamond robbery here yesterday, the recent $7,000 Fremont car barn holdup and numerous oil station holdups, Elmer Steele, 32, alleged former IWW leader, was arrested at his home here today.

It is a safe bet that students who went on a strike against the college which barred use of automobiles did not walk out.

COUNTY COURT TO MAP OUT PROGRAM

Approximately $200,000 Is Available for Market Road Work During 1926

With approximately $200,000 available for market road work in 1926, the county court will soon lay plans for further improvements for the coming year. Although no definite schedule has yet been drawn up, it is understood that little paving with asphalt will be done. Instead, practically all work will be done with gravel and macadam. This plan will be adopted in view of the fact that hard surfacing costs mount to high figures and necessitate a curtailed program of improvement for any one year. It has been found, however, that good gravel and macadam roads can be laid much more cheaply and at the same time will provide practically as good a transportation system.

Oiling, as an experiment in this section, will also be tried here. It is said to have met with unqualified success in other counties.

Two warrants of $32,000 each are to be paid the county by the state as its share of the state fund, the county to match the warrants with a like sum. This will provide approximately $128,000 with which to work. In addition to this the market road coffers will be swelled to the extent of about $75,000 by the share of the gasoline tax.

While very little paving is contemplated, it is expected that a few short stretches of hard surfacing will be necessary. A two-mile gap near Scotts Mills and three miles near Mehama will probably be paved next year. Included in the five-year program are several sections not benefited by the market road fund under the first program. Many petitions have been received by the county court asking that work be done, but no definite settlement has yet been made.

CORVALLIS PASTOR LEADING REVIVALS

Dr. Daniel Bryant Speaking at Baptist Church; Class Has Full Charge

The revival meetings at the Baptist church are proving very interesting and full of blessing. The people are coming up in large numbers and the large choir is leading the singing. Mr. Fisher is surely a great song leader and the people respond to his leadership. Last evening he sang "Would You Believe?" Rev. Daniel Bryant, D.D., of Corvallis, who is preaching each evening this week, gave one of his finest addresses last evening on "The Science of Sin." He said: "Religion is the determining factor in the life of every nation. Without religion national life would be impossible. Back of the universe is God. If you do away with God you still have a universe on your hands. You cannot explain it without God. Sin is a very real and terrible thing. In the Garden of Eden Satan tempted Adam and Eve, telling them that it was not true that if they disobeyed God they should die. They believed Satan instead of God. Jesus Christ is God's remedy for sin. When sin is in the life, then there is separation from God."

The meeting last evening was sponsored by the Count-On-Me class of the Sunday school. There were 40 members of the class present and sitting in a body. They also took part in the meeting. This evening the Baraca-Philathea class will sponsor the services and be present in a body. Dr. Bryant will preach each evening and Mr. Fisher will sing. The pastor, Dr. Shanks, conducts a Bible class each day at 2:30 o'clock. Today he begins the study of 1st Thessalonians. All are invited and welcomed.

Rural Supervisor Visits in Northern Part of Marion County Tuesday

Work in Marion county schools is progressing well, W. W. Fox, rural school superintendent, said yesterday after completing a tour of districts in the north end of the county.
