

CORVALLIS ELEVEN REVISES LIST OF PLAYS FOR BATTLE WITH SALEM GRIDDEERS

MORE OFFENSIVE HELD NECESSARY

Weak Place Revealed During Season; Many Rooters Expected on Train

In a final move to prepare for a Corvallis victory in the Salem-Corvallis high school football clash on Saturday, "an entire new bunch of plays has been given the local team by Coach Bleamaster," according to the sports writer of the Corvallis Gazette-Times. Here is what the Corvallis critic writes: "Salem and Corvallis play on Bell field Saturday afternoon for the championship of the Willamette valley. In order to become champions Corvallis must win the game. If a tie results, Salem is winner. Salem has beaten both Eugene and Albany, while Corvallis has beaten Eugene and only tied Albany.

The Corvallis team is full of fight and the situation is identical with this time last year. To date the victories of each high school have been the same as last year. Last year Salem presented a team that had more potential strength than the eleven this year, but were out-fought by the local school and beaten 7-7.

An entire new bunch of plays has been given the local team by Coach Bleamaster. Corvallis has been weak in offensive in all the games played this fall, and an entire new system will be used Saturday against Salem. Salem is reported to have sold nearly 700 tickets already, and are coming in a special train over the Southern Pacific. They are out for the championship, and in order to defeat the Capital City team next Saturday Corvallis will have to show more offensive stuff than she has heretofore. The team has been a veritable stone wall on defense, but has shown nothing in advancing the ball.

The clash Saturday will be the last for Mike Sausen, Les Gault, Eldon Winkley and Henry Dungan, these boys being members of the graduating class next June.

In the Corvallis-Albany high school game Mason, the triple-threat Albany back, returned Dungan's punts for a total of 85 yards during the game. Gault ran back Mason's kicks for a total of 75 yards, including one 45-yard sprint.

Corvallis gained 166 yards from scrimmage against Albany's 66. Corvallis punted 14 times and Albany 16. Corvallis linemen threw the Albany backs for a total loss of 40 yards. Corvallis ran 65 scrimmage plays and Albany 35.

Gains by Corvallis backs were as follows: Sausen 49, Miller 29, Gault 15, Winkley 12, Taylor 11. Dungan's punts averaged 34 yards, one for 55 yards being the longest, and two under 30, cutting down the average.

SPECIAL ASSEMBLY AIDS TICKET SALE

Salem High School Arousing Interest for Game With Corvallis High

A pep assembly was held at the Salem high school Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of increasing the sale of tickets for the special train that will carry Salem students to Corvallis Saturday to witness the clash between the high schools of the two cities for the championship of the Willamette valley. The nature of the assembly, held in anticipation of what is perhaps the most important contest of the season, was one of uproarious enthusiasm. Yell after yell resounded through the assembly hall as the yell leaders invoked the students to "put more pep in it!"

When the assembly was over the students were parting from the terrific call on their lungs for the yelling, and the ticket sale for the excursion advanced noticeably. It is understood that 100 tickets have to be sold in order to procure a special train at special rates. It is expected that the 100 mark will be well passed before the end of today.

There was some difficulty in disposing of the tickets at first, as a great majority of those going to the game are planning to go by private auto. It is expected that altogether at least 300 and maybe 400 students will be on hand at Corvallis to root for the black and white.

With the game looming up rapidly, Coach Hollis Huntington is saying less and less. He realizes perhaps more clearly than anybody that this is to be by far Salem's

JOHN DRAGER

Tackle

Unanimous choice for all-valley tackle last year, this fast player is regular punter for the team, contributing to its strength by the accuracy of his toe, as well as the craftiness of his head.

Without fighting togs, he tips the beam at about 185 pounds, and stands 6 feet, 2 inches. This is his third and last year on the squad.

hardest game of the season. He is working his men at signal practice, working them long each evening, but is indulging in practically no scrimmage as he wishes to take no chances in crippling any of his men on the eve of the conflict. He declares that his men are in good shape and in spite of the fact that Corvallis is given the edge in the game will give the team of the Aggie college town the fight of the season. Both teams are as yet undefeated this season.

PRIDE OF ASTORIA SEEKING VICTORY

Frankie Lewis Working Hard for Match With Ingersall Wednesday Night

Frankie Lewis, Salem Indian, is working hard for his meeting with George Ingersoll, the "pride of Astoria," for the main event at the Armory next Wednesday night. The program is not being held the night of Thanksgiving day as was indicated recently. Ingersoll won a decision over Lewis at the bouts in Newport July 4, and is planning to duplicate the event next week.

Shadow Greiz of Salem is matched against a real fighter and will meet George Henning of Camas, Wash., in the semi-windup of six rounds. Both fighters are well known to local fight fans and will be able to deliver the goods. Both men fight at 146 pounds.

An event that should prove as fast and snappy as the main event is one of the preliminary 4-rounds in which Jimmy Fargo of Salem is re-matched with Eddie Fox of Independence. Both youngsters are possessed of speed and can give good punches. Fox received a decision over Fargo at the last card. Another good four-round preliminary is being arranged by Matchmaker Harry Plant. Tickets will be placed on sale at the Smith cigar store Monday.

BEARCATS WORKING FOR PACIFIC GAME

Ancient Rival's Football Representatives Are Coming Here Saturday

Stiff scrimmage has been the order for the last two nights of practice for the Bearcats in preparation for Saturday's game here against Pacific university. The game with the Badgers is declared to be the most important game of the season for the two schools. Coach Rathbun declared after scrimmage last night that the team has showed decided improvement in practice this week.

For the first time since the beginning of the season Coach Rathbun has had a full scrub team against which to pit the varsity. These men have turned out during the week for the sole purpose of helping whip the varsity into shape for Saturday's contest, but at least one of these men, who are turning out for the first time this season, will likely start against Pacific. This man is Robertson, who has been showing well at end. He played in that berth at times last year on the team, but has not been out this year. He is in good condition and, in the opinion of the coach, is showing ability to snag

ROBIN REED WINS AGAIN

OAC BOY DEFEATS JOHNNY MAURUS IN 2-HOUR MATCH

PORTLAND, Nov. 18.—Robin Reed, wrestling instructor at Oregon Agricultural college, defeated Johnny Maurus, Oakland welterweight, in a two-hour match here tonight. Maurus won the first fall with a head scissors and arm bar after 28 minutes, 2 seconds. Reed took the second fall and match after 18 minutes 50 seconds of wrestling in the second period when he forced Maurus to quit with a double arm scissors. The Oakland grappler's arm was so badly injured that he could not come back.

When it's Thanksgiving—and the teams are drawn up for battle on the gridiron—when the first touchdown goes over and the grandstands rock with frenzy—have a Camel!

WHEN the college bands are playing to make your blood tingle. And the cheers and answering songs sweep back and forth between the opposing thousands of rooters. When, following that tense hush, a swift player darts out from the flashing formations on the gridiron and races across the goal for the first touchdown—oh, man, or superman, when the taste of joy is too keen to endure—have a Camel!

For Camel is the boon companion of your joys. Roam as far as you will from the prosaic things of every day, Camel will be the truest smoke friend you ever had. So when your own college's team tears through for its first smashing goal this Thanksgiving Day—when life seems fullest of the frenzy of happiness—joyfully apply the fire and taste the smoke that's loved by millions.
