THE MOST IMPORTANT THING FOR OREGON

State Treasurer T. B. Kay, in his address of welcome yesterday to the Portland Chamber of Commerce delegation of representative business men of the metropolis paying Salem a visit, gave some very happy illustrations of the friendship of the leading men of Portland, and in fact of the majority of Portland's citizenship, to Salem and the rest of the state.

A fact complimentary alike to their generosity and to their broad minded qualities.

One of the big things the people of Portland are doing is backing the State Chamber of Commerce with hundreds of thousands of dollars, to be expended in inducing immigrants for land settlement, to find markets for the products of the state, and to carry on advertising campaigns for Oregon—not for Portland, but for Oregon.

Mr. Kay said that, while this is all commendable, he himself thinks the same great sums expended in securing industries alone would accomplish the three objects—

Would advertise Oregon, would bring people to settle on our lands, and would provide markets for our products; home markets, which are the best of all markets.

Mr. Kay will find many to agree with him. If Oregon should secure the industrial development that is easily within her reach, she would quickly double her population, and eventually give the state ten people for every one living here now.

And the hundreds of thousands spent by the State Chamber of Commerce, diverted to industrial development alone, would give this growth a great impetus.

PORTLAND BUSINESS MEN PRAISE SALEM

Oregon should be thankful to the city rather than jealous of it. He advocated bringing more industries to the state that would offer employment during the 12 months of the year rather than over stressing and advertising too much the natural resources of the state, bringing men from the east to settle on the land, which, he declared, is already over-producing.

"We have more woolen mills in the state of Oregon than in all the rest of the territory west of the Mississippi river," he asserted. "Yet the people in the east manufacture practically all of the merchandise we consume. We should manufacture most of that ourselves."

"We have the finest climate here of any place in the United States, and a valley capable of supporting more people per square mile than any where else. We should have a million population in Portland and several cities in the penitentiary where they view the state flax plant.

Following are the names of the men in the delegation and the businesses they represent, as given out by the Portland Chamber of Commerce:

O. W. Mielke, Blake McFall Co.; Nathan Struss, Fleischner Mayer & Co.; A. J. Bale, manager, Pacific Coast Biscuit Co.; Ralph Montag, president Montag Stove Works; C. C. Colt, vice president First National Bank; Bol Blumauer, president Blumauer Frank Drug Co.; Max S. Hirsch, president Hirsch Weis Mfg. Co.; W. D. McWalters, manager Zellerbach Paper Co.; A. M. Cronin, president The P. J. Cronin Co.; R. J. Beatty, Canadian Bank of Commerce; R. S. Howard, vice president U. S. National Bank; A. H. Allen, sales manager Crown Mills; P. Feldman, president Mt. Hood Soap Co.; E. R. Wiggins, president Wiggins Co., Inc.; George G. Guild, president Columbia Paper Box Co.; H. E. Thomas, city editor The Oregonian; Paul T. Shaw, president Shaw Supply Co.; A. H. Devers, president Cisset & Devers; Richard Adams, Asst. Mgr. Parrot & Co.; W. L. J. Davies, Asst. Cashier U. S. National Bank; S. Mason Ehrman, secretary Mason Ehrman & Co.; H. J. Rochester, secretary Freeman Smith & Camp Co.

ern fashion. The members are equipped with tear bombs as well as the usual arms, but they hope to avoid trouble and so be afforded the greatest opportunity for studying the strange people whom they are seeking.

SIX SERVICES TO BE HELD THURSDAY

At a recent meeting of the Salem Ministerial association the same plan for Thanksgiving services was arranged as last year. Instead of one service in the down town churches there have been arranged six services in the different sections of the city. The speakers this year are to be the new ministers who have been in Salem less than a year. The services have been arranged as follows:

Down Town Churches
 First Methodist, Presbyterian, Congregational, Baptist, First Christian, First Evangelical. The service for this group will be held in the Evangelical church, and Rev. J. W. DeYoe will preach the sermon.

East Salem
 U. B. Chapel, Central Congregational, Court Street Christian, Nazarens, Evangelical, United Brethren (Yew Park), Swedish Methodist. For this group Rev. Fred C. Taylor will be the speaker and the services will be held in the Court Street Christian church.

North Salem
 Jason Lee Methodist, Highland Friends, Market Street Free Methodist. The meeting will be held at the Jason Lee church and Rev. P. C. Hoffman will preach the sermon.

South Salem
 The South Salem Friends and Leslie Memorial Methodist church will unite with the service at the South Salem Friends church with Rev. Norman K. Tully as speaker.

SEARCH FOR PIGMY RACE

PARTY OF SCIENTISTS TO MAKE TRIP BY AIRPLANE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—(By Associated Press.)—Headed by Professor M. W. Stirling of the University of California, former curator of the United States National museum an expedition is scheduled to sail from here tomorrow to hunt the so-called Tapiro pygmies in the wilds of New Guinea.

Included in the party which will do much of its exploring by airplane are: S. A. Hedburg, Chicago, historian; R. K. Peck, St. Petersburg, Fla., photographer and assistant pilot; H. H. Heyte, New York chief pilot, and A. E. Hamer, Colfax, Ia., mechanic.

With the exception of Professor Stirling, all of the members of the expedition flew here from Chicago and their plane and other equipment is being shipped with them on the round-the-world liner, President Van Buren, on which they will travel to Singapore.

They will then trans-ship to Batavia, Java, where a third boat must be outfitted and the long cruise made to the coast of New Guinea.

By flying over the jungle, the explorers hope to find the pygmies, first discovered in 1911 by A. F. Wollaston, a British explorer. The expedition is expected to require more than a year and is being conducted in the most community keeping it informed on each detail. Wednesday morning when the various exhibitors arrived to arrange their displays, each one knew where its display would be. Prof. Bressman also gave a talk Friday afternoon explaining the various corn awards. He declared that the best corn is that with the small cobb and deep kernels.

The Fruitland community has on display coffee beans grown in the district. When ground the bean has the flavor of coffee, and it is thought, will serve as a fitting substitute. The bean is small but very hardy.

The Scotts Mills community is the only one to display peanuts. It is not generally known that peanuts can be raised in the Willamette valley.

The Marion community has on exhibition some flax that was displayed at the international fair held in Philadelphia in 1876. The flax was displayed by Parrish and Milaend won a prize. In making the award the officials of that exposition stated, "Extraordinary in length, good in strength, superior gloss, and silk softness."

In the Marion exhibit is also a bottle of milk given by Darling's Jolly Laessie, "world's champion" junior four year old over all breeds, who gave 1145 pounds of fat in 365 days."

It is noticeable that the communities placing highest, made their exhibits out of natural arrangements only, using natural grasses for a background, and making their decorations with the vegetables, nuts, and so forth on display.

"This afternoon at two o'clock W. I. Powers, head of the soils department at OAC, will speak on the soils of Marion county. This evening at 8:30 o'clock U. S. Crowder will speak on "Economic Conditions in the Northwest."

The Valley Packing company, which has a booth at the show, is conducting a guessing contest. Suspended from the booth are three hams. The person guessing closest to the weight of the three will be given a free ham by the company. In case of a tie each person will receive a ham.

A novel contest is also being conducted by the O. J. Hull Auto Top company. The company is offering $80 in prizes to the best guessing of the number of miles registered on a sealed speedometer on display. Instructions read, "Make a guess of the number of miles registered on this speedometer, which has been on an auto for 10 years, but has been out of order or disconnected about half of this time." The make of the speedometer is not disclosed. The various communities exhib-

PASSENGERS ARE FOUND

THREE MISSING FROM LINER LENAPE FOUND SAFE

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(By Associated Press.)—Three persons reported today to be missing from the Clyde liner Lenape which burned late Tuesday night were located later by Clyde officials. Mrs. Larry Ottman of Wilmington ton, Del., whose whereabouts was sought by Wilmington relatives, was found to have proceeded in the special train to Jacksonville, Fla. Two men, also reported missing, were found to have proceeded to Wilmington from Lewes where the ship was beached, one to go to a hotel to rest and another to go to a hospital.

The corn show had about all the people it could accommodate well yesterday. It will be crowded beyond reasonable limits today.

Looks like the corn show will have to have more room. It has outgrown its quarters in the armory, which heretofore have been more than ample.

There's one good thing about Senator Borah's party. It's always unanimous.

Following is the detailed scores of the community clubs exhibiting at the corn show:
