WHAT PRICE GLORY COMING WEDNESDAY

Colorful Comedy of Fighting Days Will Play at the Heilig Theatre

The language in "What Price Glory" belongs to the play. The word that lost Waterloo, however, is missing and so is the favorite present participle by means of which the doughboy was accustomed to qualify everything from his mother to his musket, so there is no reason for a mouth wash. With or without the dashes and asterisks, it is strong dialogue, spurred by thick and sarcastic humor. It keeps well ahead of the audience at all points. There were howls for a description by the Captain of his long imprisonment in the "jug"—a "reconstructed chicken house"—he describes it "if I'd stayed there another day, I'd have laid an egg."

Here you have a flashing bit of the sardonic humor which punctuates and illuminates the crisp, hard-boiled dialogue between the characters of this greatest comedy the American stage has ever known. You cannot escape it. Laughter, almost of the Homeric type, rocks the spectator in his seat, and the next instant there is a clutch at the heart strings, a lump in the throat and a suspicious moisture in the eyes that cloy the sight and fairly wrench one's soul. The line of demarcation between mirth and tears in "What Price Glory" is simply measured by one's emotions.

Louis O. Macloon is sending the San Francisco company and production, headed by Emmett Corrigan, direct from its sensational engagement at the Curran theater to the Heilig on Wednesday, Nov. 25. Playgoers of Salem will realize that this is the outstanding theatrical engagement of the present year.

WOMEN DEBATERS AT W. U. SELECTED

Five-Minute Tryouts Were Held Last Night; Season Opens in February

The personnel of the women's debate squad at Willamette university was chosen last night. Each girl trying out was requested to debate for five minutes. Prof. S. E. Laughlin and Prof. Roy Harding assisted Prof. Horace Rabakopf, head of the public speaking department at the university, in selecting the team.

The following women were chosen to make up the Willamette squad this year. Hazel Newhouse, Irene Breithaupt, Elaine Chapin, Ilia Comstock, Adella Gates, Bernice Mulvey, Sevilla Ricks, Irene Smith, Myrtle Walmfley, Margaret Harte, Beatrice Lockhart and Rava McLaughlin.

Practice will commence right away, in order to give the women plenty of practice before the season starts in February. Miss Newhouse is the only girl on the debate squad who is a member of last year's team.

The schedule for the season has not yet been arranged, but it is known that the Willamette team

ANOTHER OF HENRY FORD'S PRODUCTS

It Is Charcoal Briquets, That Will Burn Twice as Long as Lump Charcoal

Another of Henry Ford's products is now being offered to the Salem public. This new product is charcoal briquets, and they are being handled by the Valley Motor company, local Ford dealers.

The new fuel is brought from the forests of northern Michigan. It comes in little, compact pillow-shaped blocks of charcoal put together under tremendous pressure. They are slow burning and glow with intense heat. There is no smoke and almost no ash.

Following is the approximate analysis of the briquets: Moisture, 2.15 per cent; volatile, 21; fixed carbon, 74; ash, 2.85 per cent.

British thermal units per pound in excess of 18,500. Excess moisture is quickly given off without deterioration.

The price of the briquets laid down in Salem is about $2.50 a hundred pounds.

Lemons Tighten Wrinkled Skin

Squeeze the juice of two lemons in a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents, shake well and you will have the very mildest anti-wrinkle lotion to tighten relaxed skin, erase fine lines and eradicate crows-feet.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion into the skin at night. By morning most of the tell-tale wrinkles, tired lines and crows-feet are smoothed out, giving a more youthful contour to cheeks, chin, throat. It leaves the skin velvety soft, clear and fresh.

Beauty experts use this astringent lotion for enlarged pores, also to bleach and whiten sallow, tanned skin.

Mix this harmless lotion yourself since it acts best immediately after prepared.—Adv.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE WILL START TODAY

Chamber of Commerce Is to Take Field; Kay Speaks for Monday Forum

"It is an honor to belong to the Salem Chamber of Commerce," declared T. B. Kay, state treasurer in addressing members of the organization at the weekly luncheon Monday. The luncheon was a special complimentary one for those members who have volunteered to work in the membership drive that was started immediately after the luncheon. Mr. Kay enumerated the various "Benefits of the Board of Trade and Why We Should Support It."

"If it were not for the Chamber of Commerce, I venture the assertion that the most of you business men would not become acquainted with each other. The Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary give me as much pleasure as anything else."

Mr. Kay declared that the public spirit of Salem would not be complete without the Chamber of Commerce, citing as reasons for its existence, the entertaining of such delegations as that which came from the Portland Chamber of Commerce last Friday to inspect the flax industry of Salem.

"From a business standpoint men now realize the importance of cooperation in the development of Oregon. Salem will always be ready to help in the development of the state."

T. M. Hicks, president of the local chamber, declared that "the attendance of more than 100 men willing to work indicates the backing of the business men of the city. We have had many drives before, but never have we had so many or such enthusiastic workers."

The three captains, Ed Schunke, Fred Thleisen and Ross Miles were all called upon to make brief talks, and each expressed the idea that his team would prove the theory that "action speaks louder than words."

To the answer of inquiries, President Hicks brought out the fact that teams are to report as soon as possible, but at least by Wednesday noon. Each man was admonished to have a definite plan of the prospects allotted to him, and to consider his work done as soon as every prospect has signed his name to the application blank.

While some little work was done yesterday afternoon by the teams, the real body of the work is to start this morning. It is expected that each man will have to work no longer than two hours. Mr. Hicks announced that each member of the team bringing in the most members will be given a prize of some sort to be revealed later.
