Thanksgiving Proclamation

The custom in America of annually setting aside one day in which to render thanks to God for his manifold blessings was begun by our Pilgrim Forefathers over three hundred years ago. The custom was soon adopted by other Colonies and since the foundation of the United States of America the day has been regularly observed by nearly every state in the Union.

I It is well for us as a self-governing people to be reminded that our Nation was founded by God-fearing men and women who believed the Holy Bible to be the inestimable gift of God to man, and who wrought its precepts into the very foundation of our

I Thanksgiving Day has grown to be a day of homecomings and family reunions when the children again gather around the hearthstone and renew the bonds of love and affection for the old home. Upon the continued purity and sanctity of the American home depends the future of our Nation. It is from these homes that the citizens of tomorrow must come. Let us, therefore keep up the old custom of rendering thanks to Almighty God for His many blessings bestowed during the past year and fervently pray that He may keep America true to the ideals of its founders. As our children gather around the festal board let us again impress upon them the lessons of simple faith in God as was taught by our good Forefathers so many years ago. May this day be for us all as a people a homecoming back to the old ideals of American life.

¶ Now, therefore, I, WALTER M. PIERCE, Governor of the State of Oregon, do
