Audience Well Pleas'd With MacDowell Program

The Salem MacDowell club offered the second program of the season on Monday evening in Waller hall to an audience still larger than that present for the first concert. As a distinctively American organization the club took distinctive American music—Indian numbers—for the program.

The stage was attractively set with a tepee erected by students of the Chemawa Indian school, the tepee nestling against a background of firs. Here was enacted the feast number and characteristic tableau, "Dawn," by students of the Chemawa Indian school, with incidental music by Miss Dorothy Pearce. The Elks' orchestra followed with two numbers and an encore. The next feature was an address on Indian lore and music given by George Bent, a chief of the Cheyennes, and a member of the Chemawa staff. The speaker made a plea for appreciation of the Indian culture expressed in art, legend and music, with illustrative themes rendered by Miss Eugenia Savage. Miss Carol S. Dibble gave a picturesque and impressive reading. Mrs. Ruth Emery Riddle sang a group of three songs with Indian music and poems.

Miss Nancy Thielsen followed with a beautiful Indian summer dance sketch, done in costume. The feature was extremely artistic, with adequate support at the piano by Miss Jean Hobson.

The final group was given by the Schubert octette in two Cadman numbers. These accomplished young ladies—Eva Roberts, Grace Fawk, Lorraine Fletcher, Elaine Chapin, Hilda Amsler, Nina Bushness, Myra Gleason and Ruth Swart—responded with an encore.

The splendid success of the evening indicates the remaining programs will proceed on the same artistic plane as the earlier offerings.

The public will be particularly interested in the concert on Saturday evening at which Emilie Lancel, famous mezzo-soprano, will be presented.

B. P. and W. Tonight

The dinner and business meeting of the Business and Professional Woman's club will be held Wednesday evening at the club rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. Rev. Martin Fereshetian has been secured as the speaker of the evening.

Family Reunion

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Norwood was the scene of a family dinner on Thanksgiving day when 36 members of the family were present.

John W. Norwood, a pioneer of Salem and many of his children and grand children reside here. A son, Howard Norwood, with his family motored down from Sumas, Wash., and a brother, William R. Norwood and family, came from Seattle to attend the dinner.

Corvallis Club Entertains

Celebrating their first birthday, the Corvallis Business and Professional Women's club entertained as their guests at a banquet at the Hotel Benton, Tuesday evening, the presidents of the various service clubs, together with their wives.

Mrs. Emma Witham, president opened the program with a welcome to the members and guests present, the speakers being introduced in an appropriate manner by Miss Bertha Davis, hostess, and the musical numbers by Miss Alice McGinnis, program chairman.

Voicing the spirit of co-operation and expressing pleasure at the active part the Corvallis Business and Professional Women's club was taking in the affairs of the city, the following representatives responded on behalf of their clubs:

R. Getz, Rotary; L. Tavers, Kiwanis; Stewart Simms, Lions; H. R. Walters, Red Cross; Lee McGinnis, Retail Merchants Association; E. T. Reed, Commercial club; Mrs. Minnie Bosworth, Ladies Auxiliary of the Commercial club; T. Graham, Fire Department; Mrs. Smith, Folk club; Edwin Weston, American Legion.

Making its initial bow to the public, the club quartet, composed of the following members, Mrs. Tressa VanNuy, Miss Alice McGinnis, Mrs. Janet W. Pengra and Miss Dorothy Clark, surprised those present with a group of songs. Miss Gertrude Nolan, gave a talk on the history of the federation, Mrs. Witham outlining the aims of the club, and the part they have already taken in the activities of the community.

Several selections were given by Miss Blanche Hemmel, soprano, accompanied by Mr. Gustave Dunkelberger at the piano. Mrs. E. L. Potter, gave two readings which were very much enjoyed, the first being a French-Canadian love story, the second an English dialogue.

Miss Louise M. Hacker, president of the Oregon Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, in a short address told of some of the accomplishments of the various state clubs and congratulated the Corvallis club on their activities.

There are two groups of Camp Fire Girls in Salem, the Sacajawea Camp with Mrs. R. M. T. Hester as guardian; and the Chemeketa Camp with Miss Helen Davis as guardian.

The Sacajawea Camp will present "The Call of Wohelo" at the high school auditorium on Friday, December 4, 8 p. m. It is a clever little Camp Fire play showing the appeal to girlhood of Camp Fire ideals. Sixty stereopticon slides will be shown during the evening, illustrating camp activities. The evening will be entertaining for all, and especially helpful to anyone interested in girls' work and girls' activities.

"The Call of Wohelo" will be presented at the high school auditorium Friday, December 4, 8 p. m., by the Sacajawea Camp Fire Girls. This is a Camp Fire play with a camp setting and as a complement to the play sixty stereopticon slides illustrating further activities of camp life will be shown during the evening. The play is not without thrills. A mysterious Indian appears, a ghost upsets the morale of the camp, and a girl with a narrow artificial outlook on life proves a problem to the Camp Fire group. Things are finally adjusted and the play closes with a Council Fire in which all mysteries are revealed.

Proceeds of the play will be used to defray the expenses of the girls at their camp in the spring. Tickets may be secured at Patton's Book store.

Camp Fire Girls, Who Are They?

The Camp Fire organization is not a mission to girls. Its purpose is not to minister to girls. It is an organized band of girls working together in an effort to find romance, beauty and adventure in every day life. They endeavor to make the common every day task contribute to the joy of living. Happy comradeship grows out of their association, and efficient team work characterizes their activities.

Camp Fire seeks to develop and nurture the home spirit and make it dominate the entire life of the community. Mother and daughter are helped to a better understanding of each other through sharing, not only the work of the home, but the interest.

Camp Fire leads girls to a higher appreciation of the world about them and awakens and deepens a love for out-of-door freedom and out-of-door spirit. Camp Fire's beautiful symbolism lead the girls to higher aspirations, noble purposes of unselfish service, and affords adequate expression of the life that stirs in the soul of every girl between the ages of eleven and seventeen years. The Law of the Fire is to seek beauty, give service, pursue knowledge, be trustworthy, hold on to health, glorify work, and be happy. In itself this law of the Fire is a call to higher ground.

the foremost place it was taking in the state organization.

Miss Gunn introduced little Jackie Wilson, the three month old baby the club has undertaken to finance since his desertion at birth. A charity hall will be given at the Hotel Benton December 2, the funds to defray the expenses of caring for the child until such time as he has recovered from two further operations which must be performed before he can be placed in a baby home.

Fifty-Six Charter Members

The Coquille Business and Professional Women's club went "over the top" with fifty-six charter members at an enthusiastic dinner meeting Monday evening, at which time much celebration centered around the closing of the charter which had been left open since the organization of the club on October 12th. Forty-three members were present to take part in the activities of the evening, which were presided over by Miss Ruth Nissen, president.

The following committee appointments were announced by Miss Nissen; others to be announced later: Membership, Agnes Wheatstone, chairman; Maxine Kistner, Mrs. Sample, Myrtle DeLang and Ella Horn. Social, Mabel Eisamen, chairman; Mary Greiner, Anna Rooney, Bvela Gage, Ruth Slotte and Ida Owen. Program, Ula Leach, chairman; Mary Druley and Mrs. Emma W. Smith. Finance, Mrs. Anna Wimmer, chairman; Helen Fish and Bess Maury. Legislation, Mrs. Florence Barton, chairman; Mary Cortbell and Bertha Atkinson. Publicity, Mrs. Bertha J. Smith, chairman; Eva Lenox and Mamie DeLong. Education, Mrs. Inez

Chase, chairman; Margaret Crouch and Ruby Yutzler. Recreation, Connie Willoughby, chairman, Maude Pierson, Blythe Cousins, Saima Lindros and Dena Ellingsen.

Installation of officers will take place at the first meeting in January, at which time the club will become a member of the State and National Federations of Business and Professional Women's clubs.

Beautiful Thanksgiving Wedding

One of the loveliest of weddings was an event of Thanksgiving when at half after seven o'clock in the evening, Miss Ruth Lattin was married to Russell W. Buckles, in the lovely country home of the bride's parents on route 6.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lattin and the groom the only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Buckles. About 50 relatives and friends of the young couple attended the ceremony which was performed by Rev. E. H. Shanks, pastor of the First Baptist church.

At one end of the living room of the home was erected a bower of ferns and chrysanthemums before which the bridal party assembled. Blooms of the same variety were used about the rooms, making a pretty effect in light of two tall candelabra on either side of the bower.

Proceeding the ceremony Mrs. E. H. Shanks sang, "Until" and "At Dawning," then Lohengrine's Wedding march was played by June Director with violin, and Miss Minnie Miller at the piano. The bride was given away in marriage by her father. She was lovely in her gown of apricot crepe trimmed in metal lace and velvet ribbon. A band of silver leaves formed the head dress. She carried a shower bouquet of chrysanthemums.

Miss Pauline Pierce the bride's attendant wore an attractive circular gown of hem satin with pleated trimmings. Carrying a bouquet of chrysanthemums.

Harold Lattin served as best man for the groom.

Little Estelle Reiser in her dainty satin dress, scattered rose petals in the path of the bride. The Misses Minnie and Edna Miller rendered several piano duets during the evening.

Announcement

C. N. Needham, manager of the Salem Chickeries, has associated himself with the Salem Realty Co. and will devote a part of his time to selling real estate in the Salem district. Mr. Needham wishes it understood that this move will in no way interfere with the efficient service which he has so faithfully and ably served the public in the shipping of high grade Baby Chicks. Mr. Needham needs no introduction to the people of Salem, and especially to the farmers and chick raisers, not only in the Willamette valley, but in several states as well. Mr. Needham has placed the baby chick business on its feet in Salem, starting with only a few dozen shipments and has now reached the enormous sum of over 200,000 baby chicks a year.

The Salem Realty Co. is fortunate indeed in securing Mr. Needham as a member, and wish to assure the public that the realty business will be carried on in as efficient and honorable way as has the chick business in the past and will be in the future.
