

SILVERTON FAVORS LOOP THOROUGHFARE

Visiting Officials Speak on Special Chamber Program Yesterday

Members of the Silverton Chamber of Commerce were guests of the Salem chamber at its luncheon Monday noon. L. C. Eastman, president of the visiting chamber, acted as chairman for the occasion, speakers being called upon from the Silverton ranks.

F. L. Brown, Mayor George Barr, T. P. Risteigan, Rev. Sidney Barr, Julius Alm, M. G. Gundersen and Robert Duncan, each delivered a short address. Silverton was the general subject of discussion.

Mayor Barr, in talking on "Silverton, from the Viewpoint of the Mayor," said the views of the mayor should not differ materially from those of any other citizen.

"We have good cooperation in law enforcement here. Once in a while a bootlegger sets up in business, but we always find him from some other town."

Products of Silverton are diversified, Risteigan told the Salem members, giving that as the reason for Silverton's being sound from the banker's viewpoint. He concluded: "Silverton is as easy to do a banking business in as any other place I know of."

A loop road from Salem to Silverton, from Silverton to Silver Creek falls, and from there back to Salem is the vision outlined by P. L. Brown.

"Improvement of such a road, and improvement of camping grounds will add materially to our tourist travel. To grow along with the flax industry, we also expect in the near future to have a scutching mill in Silverton."

"I would rather work with boys than all you hardened old sinners," Rev. Hall declared. "I couldn't do anything for your salvation, anyhow, and I might for the boys. We have 70 lads in our Scout patrol over in Silverton."

There were 16 members from Silverton. The remainder were Norris Ames, John Hobbitt, E. J. Adams, Edward Kottek, F. Patten, George Steelhammer, Lawrence Larson and John Porter.

INDIAN SCHOOL NEWS FROM RECENT PAPER

Interesting Extracts Taken From Current Issue of The American

(From the current issue of the Chemawa American, the paper published at the Salem U. S. Indian training school, the following items are taken:)

Supt. Chalcraft came over from Siletz on Monday to confer with Supt. Hall on business matters.

Christmas sale at the domestic art room on Friday, Dec. 4. Let all come and look over our work and take tea with us.

Miss Juana Holmes of Mill City, Oregon, and Mrs. W. L. Skipton of Husum, Wash., were recent guests of Miss Skipton.

Miss Edna Hill spent her Thanksgiving with her sister Harriet and other relatives at Chemawa. She is of the class of '23 and is training at the Emanuel hospital in Portland.

Julia and Martha Fratis spent Thanksgiving with their mother in Chemawa. Martha is an ex-student while Julia is a graduate of Chemawa. Both are now employed in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bulgis spent Thanksgiving day visiting friends and relatives in Chemawa. Mrs. Bulgis was Henrietta Chamberlain before she was married. She is a Chemawa graduate.

A seven-course dinner was served to the Kappa Alpha boys on Wednesday evening at the Wigwam. Supervisor Coon, Supt. and Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Brickell and Mrs. Stacy were guests. Charles DePoe called upon each of the guests for remarks and all responded.

On Saturday evening the lower grade pupils put on a play entitled "Thanksgiving in Plymouth." It was excellently presented and the pupils "did themselves proud," especially when the fact that it was the first appearance of many of them before the footlights is taken into consideration. All of the young players were well received. The responsibility for the play was shared by Mrs. Palmer and Miss Gunn and these ladies have cause to be pleased with the success of their efforts.

CHRISTMAS STAMP SALE GOING WELL

Post Office Considered Chief Buying Center, $400 Is Received

The Christmas seal sale opened Monday at the post office, according to Mrs. F. A. Elliott, who also announces the gratifying return of $400 through the mail.

This represents less than half the letters sent out. While stamps are on sale at the book stores, probably the chief buying center will be the post office where Mrs. John E. Brophy has announced the following will be in charge: Mrs. W. G. Allen, Mrs. Roy Burton, Mrs. Charles S. Welker, Mrs. C. S. Hamilton, Mrs. P. A. Elker, Mrs. Paul Hendricks, Mrs. W. L. Phillips, Mrs. Wallace Bonesteel, Mrs. Al Krause, Mrs. Walter L. Sapling, and Mrs. George P. Griffith.

SOME SUNDAY SERMONS FROM SALEM PULPITS

"The Christian Life Defined," Topic of Rev. F. C. Taylor; Powerful Sermon at Christian Church; Rev. Tully Speaks

Sermon delivered by Dr. Tully, First Presbyterian Church Sunday evening, December 6.

What Time Is It?

We are creatures of time, living by the clock, and unhappy unless our days and nights are divided minutely into hours, minutes, and seconds. Although the ancients were not enslaved by the clock as we are, nevertheless the Bible is modern enough to meet us in our mood. The third chapter of Ecclesiastes tells us that there is a time for everything in general, and gives a long list of particulars.

In Hosea 12:10 we read, "It is time to seek the Lord." This is a call to all, for all have sinned. The past is gone, the future may never come, only the present remains. We must act in it. We are solemnized when we recall that seeking grows progressively harder as we advance in age. Probably a man learns nothing after he attains his majority, and very seldom his decision for Christ. Therefore, the only wise procedure is to decide now.

In Romans 13:11 Paul declares, "It is high time to wake out of sleep." This is addressed to good people, church members. The summons is needed today. Good people have always slept at the switch of opportunity. When Christ was born in Bethlehem, the good people were asleep; when Christ was transfigured on the mountain the disciples slept; when he agonized in the garden, they slept again. His followers still sleep while errors grow, evils abound, and young people go astray.

In Psalm 119:126 we are assured that "It is time for thee, O Lord, to work." This is a prayer addressed to God who worketh righteously. He worketh in man both to will and to do his good pleasure. He supplies the laborers for the harvest and gives the results. Without him we labor in vain. He worketh not by violence, such as earthquake, wind, and fire, but by "the still small voice of calm."

CHRISTMAS STAMP SALE GOING WELL

Therefore, brethren, since all these things are true, let us seek the Lord while he is near, and call upon him while he may be found. Procrastination is the thief of time and a snare for lost souls. Now is the time. "Act, act, in the living present, heart within, and God overhead."

LAW BARS THANKSGIVING CELEBRATION IN ENGLAND

OXFORD—If Oxford Americans are to be virtuous and strictly observant of the laws and ordinances which the wisdom and high morality of the University Fathers set down for their guidance, they must abstain from the usual American "church service on Thanksgiving day."

CULINARY WORKERS ENJOY BIG BANQUET

Over Fifty Members of Union Take Part in Celebrating Establishment

Celebrating the first 18 months of their existence in Salem, over 50 members of Culinary Worker's local No. 452 enjoyed a banquet at Union hall recently.

A program of unusual merit was presented by members of the local with extra special numbers given by representatives of Moore's music house.

Officials from several Portland unions were present and commended the Salem local for its consistent progress since being organized.

Officers of the Salem local are: Marie Cooley, president; Mame Dennison, vice-president; Hazel Pierce, secretary. The entertainment committee for the local is represented by Andy Klett, Pat Newsom and Archie Elliott.

FALLS CITY CLUB WANTS ROAD NAMED

Asks Route Be Designated to Dallas, Petition to Circulate

With the president, H. Malher Smith in the chair, Secretary present, and good attendance, the Falls City Commercial club held a very profitable meeting, recently.

The fish and game committee reported they had secured the promise of a lecturer and the showing of colored slides of wild life of Oregon, by a speaker from the state fish and game commission, and that the manager of the Gem theatre had promised the use of the theatre any night desired. The date of this meeting will be announced later.

The club decided to give $10 toward the fund necessary for the community Christmas tree, and the president appointed Mrs. T. W. Munyon and H. S. Zimmerman to represent the club in arrangements for the tree, to meet with the various committees from local churches and the Parents-Teachers' association.

The question of securing the designation of the road from Dallas to Falls City as a market road was taken up, and the president and treasurer, upon motion, appointed a committee of two to secure the necessary signers for a petition, and to arrange for a large delegation to attend the meeting of the county court in January to present the petition.

The need of a well equipped public comfort station was brought out, and the matter left to a committee to present to the next meeting of the city council.

The president reminded every one to be prepared to pay dues before the first meeting in January, when the regular annual election will be held.

A discussion of the curfew law was quite lively, and the club again went on record as favoring some action by the city council.
