Art League Meets at Chemawa

Forty members of the Salem Arts' League met on Tuesday evening at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Harwood Hall for one of the most outstanding meetings in many seasons. Probably the most instructive feature of the entire evening was the talk on Indian art by Captain Stacey. Captain Stacey brought out the highlights in Mr. Hall's own excellent Indian collection which is rated one of the best and most complete in the entire United States. He dwelt at some length on the intriguing study of pattern interpretation, no design being without its meaning. The Indians never weave haphazardly. Captain Stacey explained how by the difference in weave the devotee of the art may tell something of the Indian who completed a particular specimen, whether she was married, or whether single. One of the most interesting points that Captain Stacey brought out is the fact that Indian art is never perfect. Intentional errors are introduced because the Indians believed that an individual creating anything perfect dies. One of the most fascinating articles shown was a basket woven by Romona. A great many of these objects may never be reproduced, the Indians being one race leaving no legacy of art to its descendants.

A group of musical features made the program doubly interesting. Numbers by the girls' octette and by the boys' quartette were followed by readings by Louis De Puis. Anna Petrovitch, an unusually beautiful Indian girl with an unusually beautiful voice, sang during the evening. Richard Haldene also gave appreciated numbers.

At the close of the program the guests were invited into the domestic science tea room where a collation was served.

Tango May Be Last Gasp in Rhythm But Visitors Shun It

PARIS.—Dancing masters, and especially dancing mistresses, have decreed that the tango must be danced; that it is the last gasp in rhythm and the poetry of motion. But the decrees are lost on most of the visitors to Paris. Even Frenchmen decline it.

Spaniards and South Americans make a majority of the dancers in fashionable clubs and cafes when the tango comes on. This is especially true at afternoon dances, when most of the participants are not in formal dress. Street clothes and the tango do not go well together, and it cannot be done at all in Oxford bags.

One American girl who refused the tango at a tea party laughingly apologized: "I have given it up. I have decided that it could only be danced with some man one is desperately in love with and should be done on a secluded verandah in the moonlight. It is too hard to state it properly."

Reelfoot Lake This Season Haven for Hunted Game

NASHVILLE.—Reelfoot Lake, winter quarters for millions of the wild duck family, this year offers protected refuge to the migratory visitors from the north and the far northwest. A sanctuary in the grassy bend of the curiously-shaped lake and in the deep wild grasses is wired off from the reach of the hunter's gun. A heavy fine is provided for any person who enters the wire enclosure or drags a boat about the grasses within, which will be permitted to grow up in the wildest confusion, untouched by human. Reelfoot lake was formed by the great earthquake of 1811-12. It is ragged and jagged. Some parts of the marshy sections are impenetrable and it is very dangerous for hunters to attempt a trip on its vast expanse without the guidance of a "pusher." Reelfoot's northern tip extends just over the Kentucky state line. The lake proper contains 14,160 acres and with its marshes included, 25,950 acres. Thousands of sportsmen from the United States and many from foreign countries have visited the lake every year. A conservative estimate of the number killed on the first day of the open season was 10,000. The state is considering the establishment of a biological station there for scientific study and investigation.
