GIVE WISELY—give well—give a thought to the Shop-o-scope before you give any Christmas presents!

For Home
but love of God is the first and grand commandment.

For Him
The bride was one of the princesses in the Rose Festival of 1924, and is at present president of the Oregon Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs. Mr. Turner is a graduate of Cornell, a member of Sigma Xi fraternity and an official of the Y.M.C.A. building, yet without any prejudice to the supervising contractors, merely to show where we are at.

For Her
The excavation began early in the year—February or March—and the sidewalk was more or less impassable up to the time construction began, then, as soon as material began to collect and work started, the sidewalk and alley were fenced off and a sign put up, "Keep Out."

For Home
When the First Commandment was given it was intended to warn a chosen people against idolatry. Yet it applies to us as much as to them, because our nature is essentially the same, and our temptations are like theirs in substance although different in form. We are tempted to idolatry today as really as those of old, and multitudes are worshipping false gods. Let me see—how representative false gods before you, that you may guard against them.

For Him
The excavation began early in the year—February or March—and the sidewalk was more or less impassable up to the time construction began, then, as soon as material began to collect and work started, the sidewalk and alley were fenced off and a sign put up, "Keep Out."

For Her
This was not unusual. In fact, we have tried no other method. Had we had an ordinance that would provide for substantial, tunnel over the sidewalk the contractors would have maintained the same and smiled just the same. Court street is quite wide, yet the half of the street was used within 18 inches, and now those conditions prevail, although the building is up and the plastering one-half done, and it may be several months yet before the people will have their rights restored.

For Home
The lowest modern gods are the gods of chance, passion and rum, whose worship degrades and destroys. All these gods are but different aspects of the one great false god worshipped by multitudes in our time—SELF. The First Commandment means for us, "Thou shalt not put self before God." Let every man resolve that in his love of self he will not forget the God who planned the universe, created the world, and rules over man's destiny.

EDITORIALS OF THE PEOPLE
A City of Glass
Editor Statesman:
If we give a forward look, Salem will have more building activity during 1926 than in 1924 and 1925 combined. In fact, Salem is rapidly becoming a city, and naturally should and does call for some regulations in the way of obstructing our streets and sidewalks. In other words, protect the interests of the public and the business man on the same block where the improvement is being made.

EDITORIALS OF THE PEOPLE
A City of Glass
Editor Statesman:
I am not bringing forward this matter in a spirit of fault-finding or registering a kick, not at all. Salem has an ideal city government, competent men from the mayor down, and is not at fault; present methods have grown and developed in a spirit of tolerance on the part of our people as well as the city fathers.

EDITORIALS OF THE PEOPLE

I have noted methods used in Portland for years. I have now in mind a 12-story building put up the past six months.
