Woman's Club Today

The last meeting of the Salem Woman's club for the year is scheduled for this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the club house, with a board meeting announced for two, with Mrs. William Fordyce Fargo, the president, presiding.

Christmas carols by the group will open the program, with Mrs. La Moine R. Clark leading. Especially delightful on the program will be the three groups of readings which Miss Carol S. Dibble will give. A girls' trio from Willamette university, including Miss Gladys McIntyre, Miss Ruth Heinick and Miss Eloisa Heineck, with Miss Louise Findley accompanying will sing.

A tea hour will follow with Mrs. C. K. Spaulding and Mrs. S. M. Endicott presiding at the urns.

Miss Nye Home

Miss Doris Nye of Centralia is spending the vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Nye. Miss Nye is a high school student in Centralia.

Recovering From Illness

The many Salem friends of Mrs. John L. Brady, who is now making her home in Pacatello, Idaho, will be glad to know that she is recovering nicely from an attack of pneumonia.

Visitors From Vancouver

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morse of Vancouver, Wash., are spending the Christmas holidays as guests of Mrs. Morse's parents, Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Steeves.

Miss Jennison Home

Miss Edna Jennison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jennison, is spending the vacation season at her home. Miss Jennison is a member of the high school faculty at Mill Plain, Wash.

Motor Trip South

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Marsters and L. B. Marsters plan to leave Monday for an extended motor trip to California and Arizona where they will spend the winter. They will be the guests in Phoenix of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Simons, the son-in-law and daughter of L. B. Marsters.

Christmas at Golden Home

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne E. Kain (Annabelle Golden) of Portland are house guests for the Christmas week-end of Mrs. Kain's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Golden.

Guests of Parents

Miss Gladys Wilson of Hood River and Miss Carolyn Wilson of Coquille, Or., are spending the Christmas holidays at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wilson on North Cottage street.

Mr. and Mrs. Barton Honored

One of the most attractive affairs of the entire Christmas week took place Tuesday when Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Taylor and Prof. and Mrs. T. S. Roberts entertained at an evening of events for the pleasure of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Barton.

The evening opened with a formal dinner at 6:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Taylor at 433 North Nineteenth street, with covers placed for 13. Holly and red candles were featured in the decorating, while the menu savored in every detail of the holiday season.

Two hours later the guests were invited to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bates. Here a laden Christmas tree awaited. After the distribution of gifts and the singing of Christmas carols the guests adjourned again, and met at the home of Prof. and Mrs. T. S. Roberts, where the rest of the evening was spent in a social way.

The guest group of the evening included Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Barton, Miss Lulu Rosamund Walton, Georgia F. Sneed, Miss Bertha Lois Taylor, Julian P. Prescotts of Corvallis, Ralph Emmons, Wesley Purdy and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Taylor, Prof. and Mrs. T. S. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bates.

Christmas Tree and Dinner

The W. H. Morley home on route 5 was the scene of a genuine celebration of Christmas, with a tree of laden boughs and a Santa Claus as honor guest.

On Christmas day the D. H. Mopley home on Center street was the scene of a dinner and family reunion.

The following were present at the party and dinner: Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Morley, Josephine, Danny and Tommy Morley, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morley, Oswald, Ansel, Ellen and Phyllis Morley, Lane Morley, Laurence and Ellsworth Morley, Herbert Morley, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marty, Mrs. Bertha Marsters, Hazel and Kenneth Marsters.

Christmas in Independence

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Hodge, Miss Frances Hodge and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rosecrans spent Christmas day in Independence as guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Kreamer.

Guests From Portland

House guests on Christmas day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph (Glover) were Mrs. C. R. Thompson of Portland and Nancy and Richard Thompson. The Thompsons plan to be in Salem until Sunday.

Helen Keller Film at Church

Helen Keller will be presented in the film, "Deliverance," a three-act photodrama, at the First Congregational church tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The film is announced with the caption, "My Message to the World." Ann Mason will take the role of Helen Keller.

The following interesting summary is issued by the management:

The highlights in the life of Helen Keller are unfolded in the film "Deliverance." It is divided into three parts, the first showing her childhood, the next maidenhood, and the last as she is today.

Helen Keller became deaf and dumb when an infant of 18 months, as a result of a fever, and is shown in the film after the expiration of five years as an untamed little animal, impetuous, strong-willed and quarrelsome. Then Anne Sullivan, her teacher, came into her life, and together they commenced that development of one of the most powerful minds of the times, which has startled the world.

In a dramatic manner the film shows how her teacher communicated a knowledge of externals to her mind, and the simple foundation received the enormous superstructure which stands today as Helen Keller's intellect and mentality.

In maidenhood the film shows Helen at Radcliffe college conquering her way into the kingdom of learning with tremendous strides against overpowering obstacles. While at college she falls in love, not with a man of flesh and blood, but with a phantom, Ulysses, from her beloved poet, Homer. She is visited by notables; receives a fine compliment from Mark Twain, and calls upon Joseph Jefferson in his dressing-room at the theater while playing Rip Van Winkle.

In the third part we have Helen Keller, herself. The picture reveals her every day life, showing the activities of a wonderful mind, as well as her mastery over her physical being. We have views of Helen dancing, riding on horseback, listening to instrumental and vocal music through impressions received by vibrations, beating time with an orchestra, accompanying a friend in song by laying her fingers upon the lips, etc.

A critic upon one of the great New York dailies has written as follows:

"It is not a dull, didactic film. It is a living, pulsing representation of the biggest battle human soul ever fought and won. It is shot through with laughter and tears and it sends you away with a new desire for the things that count."

Not the least noteworthy characteristic of Helen Keller is her sense of humor, her constant cheerfulness, her optimism and refreshing outlook upon life. With it all she has a tremendous lesson for humanity, and the film closes in an allegory in which she is mounted on horseback and leads the multitudes into the true vision of Life and Destiny.

When the film was first shown at a New York theater critics representing all of the New York daily papers were present, and upon the following day there was an unprecedented accord of wonder and praise.

While the story has tremendous dramatic power and matchless for entertainment purposes, it carries a lesson of effort and encouragement that preaches an absorbing sermon.

House Guest for Holidays

Dr. and Mrs. J. Shelley Saurman entertained as their guests on Christmas day Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Holman of Portland, Mrs. Anna Roach of Portland and Miss Edith Burkhalter.

Guests for Wedding

Out of town guests present at the Emmons-Lindle wedding which was solemnized in a quiet manner on Christmas day at the W. W. Emmons home, included Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lindle of Oregon City, Miss Judith Joy, Mr. F. H. Joy of Portland, Miss Jean Spragg and Miss Anne Lindle.

Daughters of the American Revolution

Those in charge have announced a change in the program calendar of Chemeketa chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, which will bring the March program before the group at the regular meeting date for January, on January 6.

Members of the chapter will be guests at this time of Mrs. H. B. Thielsen at her home on Court street. The program will consist of a paper entitled "Landmarks of State and City," by Mrs. A. A. Underhill, and a paper, "Milestones in the History of Oregon," by Miss Eva Ferree.

Assisting Mrs. Thielsen as hostesses will be Mrs. G. Ivan Putnam, Mrs. Edward Jory and Miss Lillian Applegate.

Dinner at Mapleglen

Mapleglen Farm, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Minard, was the scene of an attractive dinner party on Christmas day. Places were arranged for guests at 2 o'clock. Poinsettias, red candles in crystal holders and holly provided the decorative scheme.

SPECIAL SHOWING of ADVANCED SPRING DRESSES

We would call your attention to our two front windows where we have assembled a representative showing of the new spring frocks. "More beautiful than ever"—"aren't they stunning"—"Oh, look at this darling" are just some of the exclamations that were heard when the ready-to-wear staff was invited to "the opening" of the huge express boxes.

They are truly wonderful, dresses that just a few years ago would have to sell at about three times the amount. Best of all are the quality materials, not the frail textures that one would ordinarily expect to find in merchandise of this price. It is indeed a pleasure to offer these dresses—another pillar in Shipley's building of quality merchandise at popular prices.

Crepe de chine, figured crepe and satin back crepes in the bright spring shades. Baize, blue, peach, lavender, pink, lip stick red and metallic lace with colorful flowers. Some are made along the straight lines while others are of the two piece type with flare skirt and still others with the slightly raised waist-line. A fairly good idea of the styles can be gleaned from our window display but we would like to have you examine the materials more closely.
