Buhler, Mrs. Otis Foster, Mrs. Byron Zumwalt, Emil and WHI Thiesies of Dallas. The Chapman undertaking parlors is in charge of the funeral which will be held at the German Baptist church five miles north of Dallas. Interment will be in the Salt Creek cemetery on Sunday afternoon.

Eddie Matthes
Eddie Matthes was born near Quinaby, Marion county, Oregon, January 11, 1904, and died at the family home at Claxton, Sunday, January 3, 1926, lacking but a few days of being 22 years old. He was the eldest child of Edward and Florence McMunn Matthes, and a brother of Marguerite, Marion and Augusta Matthes. He attended the public schools of Kaiser and Perkins, completing the eighth grade at the latter place while making his home with his grandmother, Mrs. Susan McMunn. He was a quiet, studious boy, a mechanical genius, yet with a lover of out of door sport and extremely fond of Nature and well versed in woodcraft. His illness covered a period of 18 months during which time he never uttered a word of complaint keeping up his high courage and brave spirit until the hour when he said, "Good Night, Mama. Take away the light. I am going to sleep." The funeral services were held in the Webb chapel in Salem, Tuesday, January 5, at 1 o'clock, being conducted by the Rev. G. L. Lovell, presiding elder of the Evangelical church, and music was furnished by singers from the First Evangelical church of Salem. There were many beautiful flowers, and a large company of friends of the boy's and of the parents in attendance.

He was laid to rest beside his grandfather, the late George Stewart McMunn at Hayesville cemetery, the pall bearers being, Lou Falst, Leonard Barnick, John Kickman, Edward Rodgers, Albert Girod and William Bailey.

GRATITUDE

HUGE DIRIGIBLE TAKEN ON SUCCESSFUL TEST

RS-1, SEMI-RIGID SHIP, 13,000 CUBIC FEET IN SNOW STORM
Average Speed of Forty Miles an Hour is Made in Trial Flight

SCOTT'S FIELD, Belleville, Ill., Jan. 8.—(By Associated Press.)—The RS-1, the world's largest semi-rigid dirigible which took its first trial flight here today, on its trial flight, made a safe landing at 8:20 p. m. after an hour's cruise in a mild snowstorm.

The giant dirigible was checked by snowflakes as it was drawn from its hangar shortly before 5 o'clock after observations which had been watching weather conditions closely all day, advised that conditions were favorable.

Carrying a crew of eight men, with Lieut. Orvil Anderson in charge, the big dirigible in the chilly north wind and gusted gracefully, propelled by her 300-horsepower Liberty motors. The velocity of the wind was 11 miles an hour.

The dirigible headed north, and with the darkness descending, it was soon out of sight.

The dirigible later circled about the field. It was in the air almost one hour. Lieutenant Anderson upon landing reported a successful flight. The average speed was 40 miles an hour. It is the second largest dirigible in the United States, the Los Angeles being the largest. The RS-1 is 252 feet long and has a capacity of 755,500 cubic feet.

Colonel Fagelow says that plans are under way for building a 200-foot mooring mast on the field, which would be the largest in the country.

With reference to the attitude of the major foreign powers concerning the abolition of extraterritoriality, it was emphasized at the Washington conference that it is a question "of fact rather than of principle," inasmuch as the United States, Great Britain and Japan had all defined the principle of relinquishing extraterritorial rights "when satisfied that the state of China's laws, the arrangements for their administration, and other considerations" would warrant them in so doing. In notes presented September 4, 1925, to the Chinese government by the powers concerned, "the necessity of giving concrete evidence of its ability and willingness to enforce respect for the safety of foreign lives and property, and to suppress disorders and anti-foreign agitations" was impressed upon the Chinese government.

To investigate the extent to which China has achieved judicial reform and provided security to foreign lives and property, is the task assigned the commission.
