TRUE HOSPITALITY.—“And there came two angels to Sodom at even; and Lot seeing them rose up to meet them; * * * And he said, Behold now, my lords, turn in, I pray you, into your servant's house, and tarry all night.” Gen. 19:1, 2.

PUSH IT WITH PUBLICITY

It is to be presumed that the slogan campaign for filberts or walnuts on every farm, with suitable soil, started and to be carried on under the direction of George Vick, head of the department of agriculture of the Salem Chamber of Commerce, will be pushed vigorously, and given the publicity which its importance to this section deserves—

And persistent and sympathetic publicity is capable of pushing it farther and faster than it could be made to go in any other way.

It is suggested that records be kept of who is planting filberts and walnuts, and where, and how many acres and what varieties, and that these be given often to the newspapers of this district.

And The Statesman is one newspaper that will be glad to devote a great deal of space to this campaign, believing that it will be serving this and future generations in so doing.

No doubt all the other newspapers will be as willing to join in the work.

If a record could be given of men who are planting and proposing to plant 1000 acres of filberts and walnuts, it would be easy to get the second 1000 acres, for the neighbors of the growers mentioned would become interested and would make inquiries, and would follow suit.

Nothing succeeds like success. Nothing inspires confidence and enthusiasm like concrete examples.

Filberts and walnuts go well with poultry breeding. These nut planting booms may appropriately and advantageously be joined with our poultry boom, which is now on and will persist.

STRIKE CONFERENCE ENDS; DEBATE VAIN

 mously adopted. Thus came to an end negotiations that were started in Atlantic City on July 9, broken off on August 4, and resumed on Dec. 29.

SCRANTON, Penn., Jan. 12.—(By Associated Press.)—Gloom spread over the anthracite field today with the announcement from New York that the representatives of the miners and operators had broken off their negotiations looking toward the termination of the hard coal strike which has kept 155,000 men and boys in idleness since September.

Although not entirely unexpected, the news came as a bitter disappointment to thousands of men, women and children who for two months have depended on charitable organizations for much of their food and clothing.

Among the rank and file of the miners, the hope was expressed that either President Coolidge or Governor Pinchot would find a way to send the men back to work and give the anthracite consuming public the sorely needed fuel.

A movement to tie up the mines completely by the removal of the maintenance forces was launched at Pittston today. Resolutions urging that all maintenance men be called out were adopted by the grievance committee representing union miners of the Pennsylvania coal company and forwarded by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

Placing the total of tax refunds from July 1, 1921, to April 30, 1925 at $459,090,325, the majority held that “except in cases involving a refund of $50,000 or more, all of the authority vested in the commissioner of internal revenue is exercised by the head of a division, upon whose action there is no check, unless the taxpayer is dissatisfied.”

“This investigation disclosed the fact,” the report continued, “that the chiefs of the meats, coal and timber sections of the engineering division were exceptionally capable men who have consistently tried to protect the government from the unsound bargaining poli-

Push it with publicity.

The filbert and walnut slogan campaign.

Join it with the poultry boom, and stick to it everlastingly, and it will bring people from other sections to breed poultry and grow filberts and walnuts here—

It will bring them by thousands, and it will do more than any other one thing to put value into our farming lands, to the limit of their potential earning power.

Diversity is what we need, in this land of diversity. It will give us a better than a Florida boom, for it will mean ever increasing values. A filbert or walnut orchard will become more productive and valuable every passing year, longer than you will live, and after your children and children's children have passed on.

Tomorrow will be the annual corn Slogan number of The Statesman. It is important, one of our very best bets, in our dairying and live stock industries, and in the keeping up and the increasing of our soil fertility.

BASEBALL MEN MEET
AVALON, Santa Catalina Island, Jan. 12.—(By Associated Press.)—With 740 delegates present, many more than had been expected, baseball magnates, directors and others of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues opened their annual session here today.

In July A. W. Prescott, was called back east by Jonathan Bourne, to take charge of one of his plantations, at Theodore, Alabama. Mr. Prescott had settled down on his rock county farm near Salem, to take a rest after many years of labors in Washington as manager of the Republican Publicity association. The plantation he is now managing has 2700 acres. It is one of several belonging to Mr. Bourne. He has there both a commercial orchard and nursery. He grows peaches, kumquats and Satsuma oranges, and raises cotton. The kumquat is a Chinese fruit, grown much in Japan. It is like a very small orange, about twice the size of a very large Oregon Lumber cherry. It is used in making preserves and in other ways. Mr. Prescott has sent to his brother, E. T. Prescott of Salem, some samples of kumquats and cotton and needle or long leaf pine.
