MARCH-KING COMES TO SALEM ARMORY

John Philip Sousa to Offer Everything Played by Band Organization

What would you reply if you were asked, from all the tunes which Time has tried and found not wanting in inspiration and vitality, to name the ten best? In what quality, for example, would you regard Handel's "Largo," say, as the "best" of three, the two others being, for example, Bizet's great bolero in "Carmen," known as the song of the torreador, or the Song to the Evening Star in "Tannhauser"? Would you regard "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" as a great tune? Or "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight"? How would you choose as between the great waltz in the Kisses scene of Gounod's "Faust" and Musetta's lovely waltz in Puccini's "La Boheme"? How about the Miserere in Verdi's "Il Trovatore" and the bolero in the same composer's "Sicilian Vespers"? Which tune do you think will "live" the longer as heard in any Sousa's own "The Stars and Stripes Forever" and the well-known Serenade by Richard Strauss? What would you do if asked to make a preference between Johann Strauss' waltz of "The Blue Danube" and Oscar Straus' waltz of "My Hero" in "The Chocolate Soldier"? How about the chorus of pirates in the second act of "The Pirates of Penzance" and "He's Going to Marry Yum-Yum" in "The Mikado," both operettas being by the same composer, Sullivan?

These, doubtless, are among the million problems in tune which John Philip Sousa faced when he undertook his new fantasia, called "A Bouquet of Beautiful Inspirations." It is his medley and characteristic instrumental arrangement of what he regards as the world's "ten best tunes." You will hear his list of ten when, on Friday, Jan. 22, he and his famous band come for a concert in the Salem Armory. The new fantasia is but one of a number of novelties in the program he has arranged for the visit. Under the direction of the Heilig management.

PICTURE AT OREGON WILL CLOSE TODAY

"So This is Marriage" Ends With Matinee; "Classified" in Evening

There is enough of the novel and the brilliantly unusual in "So This is Marriage," which opened at the Oregon theater yesterday and will continue on the program there today, to justify the casual as well as the confirmed movie fan to make a strenuous effort to see the production, which is proclaimed by critics all over the country as one of the greatest that have been screened recently.

The matinee showing will close this picture's appearance, and "Classified," starring Corinne Griffith, will take its place on that screen this evening.

"Classified" was written by Edna Ferber and is a great story woven around the combination of want ads and love. It brings to the screen a new type of girl, the pleasant miss who takes your admiration over the telephone, giving Miss Griffith a new opportunity for character interpretation.

JIGGS HOLDS STAGE AT HEILIG TONIGHT

Afternoon Performance Will Also Be Offered by New York Company

Based on the famous George McManus cartoons, the new offering has been acclaimed one of the best presented in many seasons. A genuine laugh-compelling vehicle, the kind that is certain to perpetuate the popularity of Jiggs, Maggie, Dinty Moore and the rest of the Mahoney clan, whose antics and escapades are daily chronicled in the leading newspapers throughout the United States. This time "Father" comes into his own, but only after he has outwitted Maggie in her mad and temporary successful authority over the "Father" in captivity. A "Father" worse henpecked husband and show without a bevy of pretty young women forming a champion beauty chorus would not be complete. This year the pulchritude end of the contribution has been described as superior to similar offerings of previous seasons, which means that each succeeding year and this is the tenth anniversary of the telephone, these promises have been kept and if the new play lives up to advance publicity very few of the patrons of the Heilig Theater will be disappointed.

Watch Your Frail Puny Child Grow Strong Take on Weight-Quick

Take Cod Liver oil the new Tasteless way—in sugar coated tablets.

In just a few days—quicker than you ever dreamt of—these wonderful flesh making tablets called McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets will start to help any weak, thin, under-nourished little one.

After sickness and where rickets are suspected they are especially valuable. No need to give them any more nasty Cod Liver Oil—these tablets are made to take the place of that good but evil smelling, stomach upsetting medicine and they surely do it. They do put on flesh.

Ask J. C. Perry, Central Pharmacy, D. J. Fry or any druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—as easy to take as candy and not at all expensive—60 tablets 60 cents.

Be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine and give the child a chance for 30 days. If you aren't delighted with results your druggist is authorized to give you your money back. Millions of boxes sold yearly—so beware of imitations.—adv.

CREAMERY HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

Capital City Cooperative Association Names Magnus as President

Members of the Capital City Cooperative Creamery association held their annual meeting yesterday afternoon at the auditorium of the Salem Chamber of Commerce.

R. N. Magnus of Dayton was elected president. Warren Grey of Jefferson was re-elected secretary. Fred Slade of Salem was again elected a director. Other directors elected are Alex Harold of Salem and Joe Ditter of Aumsville.

Matters pertaining to the creamery business were discussed during the meeting. Chris Johnson of Portland, field instructor for the Northwest Cooperative Creamery association of which the local organization is a member was the principal speaker of the afternoon.

Business of the Capital City Cooperative Creamery, it was reported, has increased twelve and one half percent during the past year.

NEW PRESS MEN READY FOR MEET

Distinguished Group to Attend Newspaper Conference February 19

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Jan. 19.—(Special to The Statesman.)—A feature of the Oregon newspaper conference, to be held at the university February 19 and 20, will be the appearance of newspapermen new to the state. A committee composed of Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of Journalism; Earle Richardson, Dallas; George P. Cheney, Enterprise; Arne Rae, Tillamook; Earl C. Brownlee, Forest Grove, and Leo D. Drake, Astoria, met this weekend in Portland to discuss the program.

Among the new men who will probably appear are Walter May, formerly of New York, who is executive news editor of the Oregonian; Franklin S. Allen, formerly of New York, who is assistant to the publisher of the Portland Telegram; and Frank B. Appleby, who recently purchased the La Grande Observer. John Henry Nash of San Francisco, well known printer of the books, will return by special invitation of last year's conference.
