BRIDGE AT WHEATLAND FERRY NOW SUGGESTED

SALEM BUSINESS MEN INTERVIEWED BY COMMITTEE

C. M. La Follette Offers $1,000 Towards Bridging the Willamette

Coming with an offer of giving $1,000 towards building a bridge across the Willamette river at Wheatland, C. M. La Follette, former representative from Yamhill county in the 1923 legislature, and son of Alex La Follette, was in the city yesterday interviewing business men in regard to the construction of a bridge across the Willamette river at an early date. Mr. La Follette was accompanied by C. W. Pugh, who lives near Wheatland.

As to the advantages of a bridge at Wheatland ferry, Mr. La Follette said:

"Wheatland is only 10 miles from the paved roads at Dayton and from Dayton there is a paved road into Portland.

"With a bridge across the river at Wheatland, Salem would greatly benefit from business that would be brought to the city from Yamhill county.

"With a Wheatland bridge, and a few miles more of paving, there would be direct connection between Salem and Portland. This direct route would be practically the same mileage as the Pacific highway between Salem and Portland.

"There is a great congestion on Pacific highway. By the erection of a Wheatland bridge this congestion would be relieved. Looking at a highway map, one may see that traveling south it is a direct line to Salem.

Mr. La Follette also said that the banks of the river at Wheatland were as high as the river banks at Salem. He believes that with the cooperation of the state, federal government and Yamhill and Marion counties, a bridge could be built at Wheatland and that the cost would not exceed $200,000. He is willing to help to the extent of $1,000.

Mr. La Follette is owner of the ferry at Wheatland, but says his greater interest is in the development of the country in the Wheatland district, and the building of a bridge across the river there in order that people in that part of Yamhill county may have access to a road leading direct to Salem.

BILL TO PUT TEETH INTO TAX VALUE LAW

law giving the tax commission the power to remove or suspend delinquent assessors. Mr. Kay predicted that the valuations in the state would be increased $500,000,000. Such an increase in valuations would go a long way in relieving the farmer and small home owner, Mr. Kay said.

Mr. Kay said he had given some study to the plan of indirect taxation adopted in the state of California but was not sure that such a system would prove of any material advantage to the taxpayers in Oregon.

Mr. Smith expressed the opinion that an effort should be made to reach the people who, under present conditions are not paying their just proportion of tax, but that the state of Oregon should attend yesterday's meeting in-not lose sight of the fact that it is a competitor of Washington and California.

"We should not discourage capital or industry from entering the state of Oregon," said Mr. Smith, "in that industry demands labor and labor demands the products of the farmers."

Although he admitted that he was not in a position to advance a specific remedy, Mr. Smith said it was his opinion that Oregon's industrial development had been retarded by the adoption of many laws and constitutional amendments of an experimental character.

"The approval of freak laws have caused investors to become suspicious of Oregon," said Mr. Smith, "and probably has proved of material damage to the state."

Earl Fisher, state tax commissioner, said that while he realized that many of the county assessors apparently had been delinquent in their methods of levying assessments, it was a pastime of many business men to evade taxation.

Members of the committee who attended yesterday's meeting included John A. Carlin of Medford, A. A. Smith of Baker, Carl D. Shoemaker of Portland, Governor Pierce, Secretary of State Sam Koser, State Treasurer Kay, Attorney General Van Winkle and Earl Fisher, state tax commissioner. Harry Corbett of Portland, another member of the committee, was unable to attend the meeting.

WORLD COURT ENTRY IS CALLED CERTAIN

(By Associated Press)

galleries were overflowing. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the war president sat with Mrs. Swanson, wife of the senior member from Virginia in the president's row, and many other notables were in the private galleries.

An hour of debate with many barbed exchanges preceded the vote and as this went forward, scouts for both sides were busy here and there, trying to keep their forces in line. There was much shifting about and the strength rolled up by the opposition was somewhat surprising. Thirty-seven republicans and thirty-one democrats voted to impose the rule limiting each senator to one hour on the resolution of adjournment and all reservations while 13 republicans, seven democrats and one farmer-labor, Shipstead of Minnesota, voted against cloture. Senators Du Pont, republican, Delaware, and Copeland, democrat, New York, were the absentees. Senator Jones of Washington, the republican whip, announcing the illness of Senator Du Pont said that if the Delaware senator were present, he would vote in the affirmative. There was no announcement as to Senator Copeland's position.

Once the result had been announced, there was a marked let down in the tension that had gripped Senators and spectators alike. A rush for the lunch rooms began and within a few minutes no more than a half a dozen senators were on the floor.

Dallas did not lose a single building by fire, during 1925.

Melton county plans a five-year road program to cost $5,392,500.
