ers, also must pay the increased license fee under the ruling of the attorney general.

Whether the transportation for compensation of milk picked up along the highway at the request of the producer and delivered to a creamery or other consumer comes under the act depends upon whether or not the delivery of milk for other persons is a business.

The same answer applies in the sale and delivery of wood, either manufactured into cordwood or in stumpage and later manufactured into cordwood, where the land may be owned by the person selling the wood, and in the case where person and sold or delivered by other than the owner of the land.

It was the opinion of the attorney general that the increased license fee does not apply in the demonstration and sale of automobiles. It does apply, however, if the cases of accessories where motor vehicles are used in their sale and distribution.

Where United States mail carriers covering established rural mail routes take orders for merchandise and accept and for a nominal sum deliver small parcels or merchandise, the increased license does not apply unless the taking of such orders and the delivery of such merchandise is so extensive as to constitute a business.

The use of motor vehicles used in collecting unwashed garments and returning the same in a cleaned condition to the owner at his place of residence, are subject to the increased license fee under the peddlers' license law.

The increased license fee also applies in the delivery upon written, verbal or telephone orders of bakery products and the selling from samples of merchandise carried or exhibited and orders taken for delivery at a later date.

Motor vehicles used by physicians in calling on the sick, and leaving therewith a prescription for drugs, or where the physician may prepare prescriptions from a case of drugs or medicines he may carry with him, are not subject to the increased tax as the transactions are purely incidental and cannot be said to constitute the business of a physician.

Hearses and ambulances are exempt from payment of the additional license fee.

It was also held by the attorney general that dealers license tags or plates cannot be used on cars designated as towing vehicles.

a chorus of "noes" from both sides of the chamber.

Just as Vice President Dawes started to put the final question, Senator Johnson took the floor.

"The deed is almost done," he said. "I congratulate those on the democratic side of this chamber. I commiserate those on the republican side of this chamber."

"We have acted on this matter as if we were saying that if 'tis to be done, 'twere well done if done quickly' and we have done it quickly."

"The traditional policy of the United States is to be altered now by a great republican body. We are to embark upon this uncharted sea."

(pronounced silk)

A new preparation rich in almond oil, compounded in such a way as to render it instantly absorbent. Not sticky or greasy like most products of this kind containing oil. Contains ingredients that give it antiseptic and astringent properties and the best known agents for skin protection. Is highly fragrant with a rare Jasmine odor, and embodies all the qualities necessary for a delightful refreshing skin lotion.

It is not necessary to apply a large quantity of Silque as a little goes a long way.

Used for chapped, rough, dry, lifeless skin, for a face powder base, and for men after shaving.
