

Salem Hi Five Upsets Dope Defeating O.A.C. Rooks; Score 19 to 12

4 TO 0, HALF TIME, SPURS LOCALS ON

Corvallis Outfit Fails to Place Long Distance Shots, Play Fast

Salem high school upset the dope once more last night when she trounced the Oregon Agricultural college 19-12. Although Salem passed poorly throughout the game, she played fast, and took most of her shots from within close.

Right there was where the local boys had it over the rooks. The OAC system, whatever else may be said for it, is slow and seemingly disjointed. The rooks did not even attempt to work the ball up under the basket, but took all their shots from the distance, seldom succeeding in the connection.

Olinger started the scoring with a free throw right after the first quarter had opened. Siegmund followed soon with a basket. Another free throw for Salem, and the scoring was over for the period, Salem taking it 4-0.

OAC continued to look for long shots, but failed to find the range. Salem plunked in one basket. Then, with only a minute till the end of the half, the rooks were awarded their first point when Ellis, former Salem star, gained one on a free throw. The half ended 6-1.

Rooks increased their pace at the start of the second half. For awhile they had the Salem outfit baffled with their peculiar system of holding near the center, and then pointing to the sides. They pointed and in short order had tied the score at 6-6.

But the Salem boys lost little time in solving the OAC system. In spite of the increase in pace, they had evidently been warned, for not once did they fall for OAC's trap by trying to take the ball away from her when held near the center. Had the rooks been ahead, their holding might have had effect, but for the team with the small end of the score, the system was of little use, and lost the rooks many valuable minutes of scoring time. The third quarter ended 11-5 for Salem.

At no time during the third quarter were the Salem boys in danger. To be sure, OAC ingressed, her gall even more, and had the Salem boys wondering where the ball was most of the time, but Salem had to worry little, as the shots poured in from the distance by the rooks told with infrequency.

Siegmund was the outstanding player of the game, and connected with the basket oftenest. He was personally responsible for 11 points. Duffy came next with 7. Ellis stood out as the strongest

Fans Eager for Meeting of Phil Bayes and Danny Edwards Wednesday

PHIL CUTS WEIGHT BY HEAVY TRAINING

Hardest Fight of Year Seen When Armory Gong Cuts Battle Loose

With Bud Ridley, Lin Melody and other top notches in his training camp, Phil Bayes, Salem heavyweight training at Portland, is in prime condition for his first big fight at the Armory, February 1.

With Harry Hansen, former hatchmaker for the Portland boxing commission as his manager, Bayes has trained down to 127 pounds and will probably lower that by Wednesday.

"Since my battle with Pancho Villa 26 months ago I have never been in better physical trim nor have I met a more serious opponent than Bayes," said Danny Edwards yesterday. The fast little negro fighter phoned that he has decided not to leave his Portland quarters until the morning of the scrap.

"Bayes is a man who is worth the attention of any of Rosenberg's challengers," is Edwards' opinion of the Salem boy. Edwards, after a year's rest from heavy fighting, has found no difficulty in training down to his announced weight of 124. It was at this weight that he met Abe Goldstein, Young Nationalist, Tommie Murphy, Foley and Midget Smith.

Edwards has fought O'Brien twice, winning a decision and a draw. His big fight with Villa at New York city was when Villa was making his first bow to the American fight fans, the little Filipino earning a decision over Edwards after ten rounds.

While Edwards has a formidable record, Bayes and his followers are confident that the Salem sailor boy has a good chance if he can get at the flashy negro. Bayes is conceded to be the hardest hitter of the two.

Matchmaker Harry Plant has secured 240 extra arena seats and is making every effort to accommodate the crowd indicated by an unusual demand for seats. Tickets are on sale at Smith's Cigar store where purchases have been made by groups from outside towns in addition to local fans.

SALEM ANGLERS TO HEAR REPORT

Merger With Salem Rod & Gun Club Foreseen Following Monday Meet

A meeting of the Salem Anglers Club has been called for Monday evening in the auditorium of the Salem Chamber of Commerce, to receive the report of the special committee that was appointed to work toward the consolidation of the Anglers' club with the Salem Rod and Gun club.

It is understood the committee will report in favor of the consolidation. W. S. Low, D. A. Moser, and Mr. Simmons are the members of the committee.

Reason for the consolidation is given that better results can be obtained for all concerned if all the sportsmen in the city will stand united. The impression had gotten out that the Anglers club was nothing more than a spite club created by those out of sorts with the Salem Rod and Gun club.

Such an impression is absolutely erroneous. It is declared by the officers of the club.

"All members of the Anglers club are urged to be present for the meeting. A vote will be taken on whether or not the clubs shall consolidate. Members of the Rod and Gun club are invited and urged to be present."

DAN HEALY FIGHTS IN ASTORIA RING

Will Meet Jimmie Anderson for First Scrap in Two Years, February 1

Dan Healy, former Salem boxer now training at Portland will meet Jimmie Anderson at Astoria, February 1.

This is Healy's first return to the ring in two years and his manager and trainer, Tex Falkald reports that the little Irishman is really working at 125 pounds.

Healy, an experienced fighter, has trained Bayes and several other comers. Fight followers have conceded his ability which has been marred by a tendency to break training just when he is getting good.
