

Edwards Works Out Tonight In Armory, Bayes Fight Wednesday

EXHIBITION FREE FOR SALEM FANS

Headliners to Weigh in at 2 O'Clock Tomorrow, Phil in Portland

Salem fight fans will have an opportunity to see Danny Edwards swing the leather gloves tonight at the Armory. The little negro fighter arrives in Salem this morning and has assured Matchmaker Plant that he will go through a light workout at 8 o'clock.

The workout will be free to the public and will be held in the main auditorium. The ring will be built up a day ahead of time so that the boys can have a preview of Edwards within the ropes.

Phil Bayes, Salem featherweight who meets Edwards here tomorrow night, is finishing his training at Portland, not returning to his home town until tomorrow.

The plucky little Salem fighter has made his announced weight. Bud Ridley, sparring partner of Bayes, has been unable to take the edge off the Salem youngster although Ridley himself has just completed training for his bout tonight at Portland with Chuck Hellman, contender for Phil Rosenberg's laurels.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, all interested boxing fans may see Edwards and Bayes weigh in at the Armory. Both men have contracted to be on the scales at that hour and have posted their money to that effect. After complying with the contract the main event will not be required to check their weights ringside.

Edwards, known from coast to coast, is Bayes' first real opponent although the Salem boy has put away the toughest runner-ups. An older and more experienced fighter, Edwards has met Villa, Nationalista, Midget Smith, Doc Snell, Vic Foley and Tommie O'Brien.

Portland — Telephone service here has increased 20-fold in 25 years. Telephone service for all Oregon increased 2250 per cent.

ON MAT AND RING

Joe Roche, holder of the Pacific coast middleweight championship, proved that he is not ducking anybody in his class by taking on and disposing of Leo Lomski. He is as anxious to meet Greb or Shade as they seem to be to have a go at the championship crown.

William T. Tilden, the tennis champion, is not so good, as an actor, say the reviewers who are prompt and their raves enclosed in a lead pipe. Tilden opened on Broadway with his name in electric lights, but is not doing so well with indoor sports. One New York critic allowed that he was "pretty awful," another "that he left the stage approximately love-fitting," another, that William had "kept his amateur status."

Promoter Dodelle has informed Al Karasick, the Russian lion, and Cyclone Davis that they must make 175 pounds on the afternoon of their match at the Heilig theater next Thursday night or there will be no match. Davis is a dangerous contender for the light heavyweight championship, and Karasick, having won and lost the championship within a season, is entitled to a return engagement with the crafty Mike Yokel. Dodelle wants the record of the winner, who will in all probability meet Yokel to be clean.

The joint rules committee of the major and minor leagues has made the sacrifice rule effective on all fly balls where the runner advances to any base. Heretofore a sacrifice fly has been allowed only when a runner scored from third base after the catch.

Luke Cassidy, boss of everything at the Miami race meet, broadcasting: "More than 1200 horses are housed in the barns here. We expect to double the $200,000 profit of last season."

Walter Trumbull, the New York sporting expert, favors professional football under certain conditions. He says: "Professional football gathers its strength from the mines, farms, mills and sand lots. College stars play a minor part in its recruiting system."

ALL STAR CAGERS LIST SILVERTON

SALEM TOSSERS GO TO WOODBURN

Old Rivals to Meet This Evening for Second Clash of the Season

Salem high school tossers still contented over their latest victory over the OAC rooks, travel to Woodburn today for a return game with tossers of that city.

Throughout the season the local team has been practicing on formation plays and close shots, critics expressing the opinion that sure and effective machine has been built up.

Salem met Woodburn here a short time ago, winning by a good margin. Both teams have been whipped into better shape by recent practice and a close, fast game is expected this evening.

STEIWER ATTACKS GOVERNMENT RISKS

Candidate Recalls Days of Youth Spent in Salem, Speaks of Growth

That the United States government should not lend money to business enterprises and take the risks of failure, was the declaration made by Frederick Steiwer, candidate for nomination for United States senator from Oregon, in his address before the Salem chamber of commerce yesterday.

Mr. Steiwer declared he does not believe in platforms. He said that every one knows the issues that are vital, and any one can take stands on them. He declared that issues are ephemeral, anyway, dying in a short time. He cited the world court as a case. Two weeks ago the world court was a vital issue in the senate. Now, virtually settled, it is no longer an issue.

Mr. Steiwer recalled in the early part of his speech his boyhood days spent in and around Salem. He noticed that the town has changed much since those days. He also reviewed briefly the history of the pioneers who made it possible for Oregon to become a state of the Union.

TOWNSEND ELECTED TO CITY COUNCIL

(Continued from page 1.) matter of allowing the commission $5,000 yearly until a complete zoning of the city is made, be placed on the ballot in the May primary.

Petition of C. P. Bishop clothing store to suspend a woolen banner across the street advertising their sale was voted down by the council. It was maintained that if Bishop were allowed to put up a banner, the council could not justly refuse similar petitions from other concerns. The council recently took a stand against allowing the placing of banners across the streets.

A dispute arose over the matter of re-advertising bids for a truck to be purchased for the street department. The bids were opened sometime back, read in council, and recorded. A couple of days later the street committee received requests from others who wanted to bid. But it was held that the first bids had become common property and that it would not be ethical to allow others to bid after chances had been offered to read the first bids.

The report to reject the bids until more were in was voted down.

WATER PROPERTY INVOICE ORDERED

Council Sets Aside $3,500 in Checking Assets of Salem Plant

Whether or not Salem is to own her own water system was a matter that elicited much discussion for and against last night at the meeting of the city council. The sum of $6,104.80, which had been borrowed from the street fund from the general fund was voted to be replaced in the general fund.

Immediately, the special water committee introduced a resolution that $2500 be set aside from this fund as the amount to cover the expenses of an engineer to make an inventory of the Salem Water, Light & Power company's plant.

Alderman Dancy, backed by several of the councilmen, took the stand that $3500 is entirely too much money to spend on an inventory, the need of which is at best, questionable. It was held that the water company has books giving an accurate appraisal of the company, and that the underwriters have checks to guide the city in making an inventory.

Alderman Galloway declared cost of an engineer for the amount of work he could do could not possibly cost more than from $500 to $1,000. It was held that the committee would not necessarily have to spend the entire amount, but only that portion needed.

To this Alderman Dancy responded that in all the years he has been on the council, he has not seen a sum appropriated but what every last cent of it was used. The council, with seven votes against five, voted to give the committee the $3,500 to spend for the survey.

As striking proof that spring is approaching with rapidity, Alderman L. J. Simeral moved that the band committee be instructed to enter into a contract with the bandmaster, Oscar Steelhammer, to supply the music for the summer band concerts.

Ordinance having to do with the allowing of gasoline buggies was indefinitely postponed.

The amendment to the electric ordinance, creating a city electric inspector and regulating the kind of goods handled by dealers, was sent through its first and second readings, and will be brought up for final action at the next meeting of the council.
