

MISSIONARIES TELL OF CITIES GROWTH

Missionary Convention Being Held at Alliance Tabernacle Draws

The Missionary convention being held in the Alliance Tabernacle, Ferry street, is being well attended. Miss Botham, of Africa, said the Missionary must be all things to the people.

The Missionary is their doctor, their lawyer, trader, carpenter, seamstress, dentist.

Miss Botham said she had pulled at least 450 teeth for the natives. Added to these many other occupations must be handled by the missionary, besides being a minister.

Rev. Jago of Jerusalem, Palestine, spoke of the marvelous improvements in Palestine, since England had the protectorate over that country. The law practically rules his own land. Whole towns have sprung up since 1917. When Lord Allenby marched successfully into Jerusalem. These towns are of the most modern type, houses principally of stucco. It is expected that Palestine will have an influx of not less than 50,000 young Jews in 1926. Mr. Jago said Palestine is a marvel in its rapidity of advancement in every way. DR. LANDRITH ASKS FAITH IN STUDENTS

Brilliant Talk Heard by Representatives of 15 Christian Endeavors

"For the sake of the well-born animal, even if there were no heaven, no hell, no God, no morality, no conscience, I would still stand against the perils of the age," said Dr. Ira Landrith of Chicago, speaking last night at the First Christian church in the interest of the United Society of Christian Endeavor.

Dr. Landrith is big, big of speech, big of idea. He makes a towering and impressive figure as he stands at the side of the rostrum speaking in unique, forcible idiom of the responsibilities and opportunities of Christian Endeavor as an organization during the present generation.

He recalled briefly the growth of the organization which is this very week observing the forty-fifth anniversary of its founding. Dr. Landrith laid great emphasis on the importance of creating the right kind of public sentiment as a factor in training the young people to think on the right side of every subject. As an "extravagant" friend of Christian Endeavor he estimated, counting a four year term to each individual, that eleven generations of citizens have already partaken of what the organization has to offer.

Dr. Landrith laid further emphasis still upon the importance of making expression—self-expression; the true worker being a participant. While Dr. Landrith denies that the world is "going to the devil on the toboggan slide," he refuses to confuse coincidence with scientific cause and effect; and chooses to judge the American college student, not by Loeb and Leopold but by the 800,000 college men who never thought of such a crime, he does say that this age is as imperilled as any that has ever gone before it, and it is not too soon to expend our best effort, and our every effort, if need be, in developing integrity, character, and moral sense. However, as a parallel statement, Dr. Landrith insists no youth has been quite so responsive, and therefore susceptible to appeal, as modern youth.

As a believer in the World Court, Dr. Landrith pointed out the importance of purifying the most remote ends of the earth if we want to keep America pure. So close has transportation brought the world together, "God had to make the world small so we wouldn't feel so small in it," he added genially.

Dr. Landrith refuses to go in for theologic technicalities, though he did suggest that he had found no member of his family tree "handing down cocacaine."

Dr. Landrith closed with a virile denouncement of that form of reform which is indifference. "If the fathers in our homes would keep out of the cellar, except to fill the furnace," he suggested, "we might have a better chance with our boys."

"The three forces in which the salvation of America are bound," said the speaker, "are the school, the home, the church," with the burden on the church ever increasing, since it must serve wherever the others fall short.

Dr. Landrith was formally introduced last night by Paul C. Brown, Pacific coast secretary. Delegations from fifteen county Christian Endeavor societies which practically filled the church were present for the meeting.

ance society of the Episcopal church, in announcing the decision of his organization to work for modification of the Volstead act. "I did not telephone to Dr. Empringham," he said, "I did request him by written communication to withhold the report until we could be heard and give them reasons why the law should not be modified. I did not say that their report should show that prohibition had failed, because no truthful report can show this."
