

WORLD WIDE FEATURES PORTRAYED BY LENS OF PRESS CAMERA

Don't Live With Pa and Ma, He Tells Newlyweds

Lawrence H. Niendorf, marriage license clerk of St. Joseph county, Mich., is presenting all applicants for licenses with the "Don't Live with Pa and Ma" card. The card is "Don't Live with relatives."

French Beauty Screen "Vamp"

Paulette Goddard (above), French actress enlisted by the screen, has a "vamp" role in Marion Davies' new picture, "Beverly of Graustark."

U. S. Recognition Denied Usurper

The state department at Washington has refused to recognize Gen. Emiliano Chamorro as head of the Nicaraguan government. Chamorro has been a disturbing element in Nicaragua for many years, and in Secretary Kellogg's opinion gained his present ascendancy in the republic by such devious methods that he is not entitled to recognition.

Democrats Attack Mellon-Owned Aluminum Company as "Trust"

Alleged "whitewashing" of Aluminum Co., of America, owned by the Mellons, in anti-trust proceedings, is foundation of barages from both wings of capitol. Friends of the secretary say he gave up all business interests when he took office. His brother, Richard B. Mellon, Pittsburgh banker, is declared to be motivating factor in the aluminum company's affairs. Thomas J. Walsh is leading the attack on Mellon in the senate, and W. A. Oldfield in the house.

Winning Her Way With Her Camera

Miss Lorena Squire, 16, University of Kansas freshman, is paving her way through school by preparing to embark on a professional singing career. Critics birds and animals with her camera fame some day. Her home is at Harper, Kan. She is seen above with her pet prairie dog.

Bids for Fame of Benefactor

Giulio Nardella, who was a silk worker in Burlington, N. J., until he became a protegee of the late Enrico Caruso, seven years ago, is preparing to embark on a professional singing career. Critics bid that he may equal Caruso's fame some day.

Homesick?

Although Betty Blythe, American movie actress, has had several offers from British producers she will soon return from England where she has been touring with her own vaudeville skit.

Woman Usurps Field of Men

Miss Helen K. Innis, graduate of Pratt Institute of New York, is heating and ventilating engineer, the first woman to take up that sort of work. She heads her own concern.

Builds Greatest Bridge in World

Ralph Modjeski, Chicago, world famous as "the king of bridge-builders," is working on plans for the largest railroad bridge in the world. It will span the Mississippi river at New Orleans. The estimated cost is $15,000,000.

Bobbed Peeress

Lady Una-Elena Troubridge, a peeress in her own right is setting London's bobbed-hair styles while keeping up the fight for the rights of peeresses to sit in the house of lords in a spiritual manner.

Coolidge Choice for I. C. C. Board Draws Opposition

Thomas F. Woodlock of New York, given a recess appointment by President Coolidge as member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, has been given a severe grilling by the senate, which must confirm his appointment, because of his views on matters pertaining to problems before the commission.

Germany's Chess Wizard to Tour States Shortly

Dr. Emanuel Lasker of Berlin, former world's chess champion, and winner of second prize in the recent international tourney at Moscow, is expected to arrive in the United States late in January for an extended tour.

Wins Prize for His Contribution to Radio Progress

Frank Conrad (above), who developed an amateur radio station into the present KDKA, pioneer broadcasting station of the world, has been awarded the Morris Liebmann memorial prize of $500 for the most important contribution to radio progress. He discovered that short waves are better for distance transmission than longer ones. Conrad is an engineer at the Westinghouse Co.

British Woman Made Mayor In Spite of Father

Although opposed by her father Miss Lucy Dalas, councillor, was elected the first woman mayor of Dunstable, England. Her father's opposition was based on his fears for her health on account of too much work.

Brotherly Love

Gretchen Reimers, lured from Germany by brother's tales of Yankee riches, found him in a Nebraska jail, accused of killing a man with an auto. Now she is working as a serving maid to pay $1500 to widow of the victim and insure her brother, August's permanent freedom. He's helping her raise the money out of a $18 weekly salary. They are shown

Becomes British-Viceroy of India

Edward Frederick Lindley Wood, named by King George V to high-cast appointment in British empire, viceroy of India, is minister of agriculture in the Baldwin cabinet, and only surviving son of Lord Halifax. He succeeds Earl Reading.

Ex-Immigrant Boy New Science Chief

Prof. Michael I. Pupin of Columbia, incoming president of American Association for Advancement of Science, came to U. S. in 1874 from Serbia, a penniless immigrant lad.

Polar Bear

Miss Irene Hosenius, Winthrop, Mass., is keeping her New Year's resolution, to swim in the open every day this winter. She is seen in her polar bear costume with the ax she uses to break the ice.

Woman Manages Radio Concern

Mrs. Nellie E. Trego, Kansas City, Mo., head of Trego Radio Manufacturing Co., is one of few women at head of such a concern.

You Know Knute: Here's the Man Who Taught Him

Everyone knows the lower face of the two above. It's that of Knute Rockne Notre Dame's football wizard. But the man at the top may not be so well known to present day grid fans. He's Jess C. Harper, who coached Notre Dame when Rockne was a player there and taught Rockne the game. Harper's a prominent Kansas cattleman now and Rockne is visiting him.

She's Champion of Fair Ski Jumpers

Miss Isabel Courcier, member of the famous Revelstoke, B. C., ski club, is recognized as the world's champion woman ski jumper. She set an official world's record when only 16 by making a jump of 84 feet on skis during the Revelstoke ski tournament in February, 1923.

Wins on Weight, Not Looks

Porkers raised on King George V's masses played second in the winter fat stock show in London. He was judged the champion pig.

Live in Poverty Amid Treasures

Baron and Baroness Rudolph Schaeffer of Austria, are living in poverty in Chicago. It has just been discovered, although they are surrounded by priceless art treasures, including relics of Napoleon, Nicholas II of Russia and Michelangelo, Van Dyck and other artists. They are seen in their kitchen, which is also their drawing-room, playing with chessmen once owned by the late Russian czar.