> nomena, a system for measuring the passage of time that is more ever evolved. In fact, this amazn was the constructor of machine for time keeping that worked without error for almost 2,000 years! This marvelous machine was destroyed during the Spanish Inquisition.

Dr. Spinden's discovery makes it possible to translate dates on the ancient inscriptions into the Gregorian calendar we use today. All of these records show vaguely, yet unmistakably, the influence of the great man whom Dr. Spinden calls "a figure as grand and mysterious as Zoroaster or Buddha at the beginning of history in Persia

APPROVED CENSORSHIP

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—(By Associated Press.)—With one dissenting vote, the fourth national motion picture conference today adopted resolutions favoring continuation of film censorship.

The resolutions declared that until there is a sufficient accumulation of evidence of a scientific character to show the regulation of films for minors is undesirable," the conferences would approve "an adequate means of local state, federad or international regulation of the motion picture

Berthe and Dena Alm, Silverton, and Scolofsky Boys in Group

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON. Eugene, Feb. 13 .- (Special.)-Here they are—the Campus Twins A baker's dozen of them; six sets and a half. Their names:

Joanne and Justine Ackerman of Eugene, sophomores. Bertha and Dona Alm of Silverton, freshmen.

Dorothy and Irene MacMaster of Eugene, freshmen. William and Donald Peek Portland, seniors.

Harold and Herbert Socolofsky of Salem. sophomores. Hazel and Helen White, Clatsop,

The half-Gwynne Mitchell freshman, whose other half, Lyle

Mitchell, is a freshman in OAC. There they are. And finding them was no easy job. Four solid hours of pawing over directories and registrar's records, tracing family histories and making odd discoveries, finding things about people they didn't know themselves.

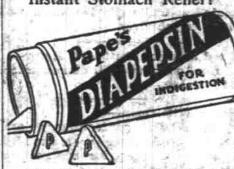

Some things are notable about the above list. For one thing OREGON STATESMAN AUTO CONTEST there aren't any 50-50 twins on the Oregon campus. It's a pair of girls or a pair of boys; no compromises. And there are no triplets or larger combinations.

And from appearances, there's been no getting ahead of each other in school on the part of Oregon twins. All have been equally bright or equally otherwise. The Ackerson twins both major in education, as do the MacMaster girls. Bertha and Dena Alm major in music and physical education, respectively; Hazel White majors in history while her twin sister is taking a mathematics

The Peek twins are both ecoiomics majors, and Harold and erature, now being sought by Mrs. Herbert Socolofsky major in business administration.
