Faculty Women's Club

Miss Maden Announces Engagement
Grace Maden was a delightful hostess on Saturday evening when she entertained for a group of girls at a line party which was followed with a delicious luncheon. Valentine novelties were used in the rooms and on the refreshment table. Tiny heart shaped boxes of candy marked each place and bore the secret of the evening.—the announcement of the engagement of the hostess, Miss Maden, to Ned S. Strahorn of Pendleton, Oregon. Mrs. R. C. Maden assisted in the serving.
The guests enjoying the evening were: Miss Loreta Miller, Miss Macyle Hunter, Miss Melba Davenport, Miss Gertrude Bartley, Mrs. Stanley Lainsom, Mrs. Richard Schel, Miss Dorothy Hines, Irma Bolander, and Miss Bessie Davie, Miss Virginia Hill of Portland and the hostess Miss Maden.
The wedding of Miss Maden and Mr. Strahorn will take place the first of June. Both Mr. Strahorn and his bride-elect are well and popularly known among the young people of Salem.
Writers' Club
Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Paulus will be hosts this evening at their home, 1155 N. Summer street, for the members of the Writers club of the Salem Arts' League.
Birthday Celebrated on Lincoln Anniversary
The seventy-eighth birthday of F. G. Stearns was delightfully celebrated on February 12. Mr. Stearns has the distinction of having been born on the same date as was our great Emancipator. On Friday Mrs. Stearns honored Mr. Stearns with a birthday dinner in celebration of the day. Beautiful decorations of white narcissi, Japanese quince, and ferns, together with cyclamen and begonias were used for the day.
Guests invited for the affair were Commander and Mrs. J. J. Newmyer of Chemawa, and a son and his family of the honor guest.

Child Health Chief Declares Dentists Are No Longer Mechanics
"Time was when dentists were little more than tooth mechanics," declared Dr. Walter Brown, director of the Marion County Child Health Demonstration, in his address before members of the Salem Chamber of Commerce yesterday.
"But now they are scientists. Their profession is becoming more precise with the dawning of every day. Doctors are also becoming to see their profession in a new light. They are beginning to realize that the most important part of their work is prevention instead of cure."
"Too many people die before their time. Too many are sick too much. It is not a question of how much disease we have, but a question of how much health we have."
"In the matter of health, Salem is more fortunate than most places. In fact, Salem is the best place in the west to conduct this new industry. But we must remember that in health as in other industries, Salem can't live without Marion county any more than Marion county can live without Salem."

FLAX CONTRACTS ARE COMING WELL
The Full State Quota Will Be Completed Soon, Also for Stayton
The contracts for growing flax the coming season are being signed at the penitentiary as fast as the force handling them can get to them, five afternoons in the week. For the present, no contracts will be written there on Saturdays.
There is no doubt that the full state quota of 2500 acres will be taken, before the end of the month. The acreage is being well scattered over Marion, Polk and Yamhill counties, with inquiries coming from further away.
The acreage for the Stayton scutching mill is also being signed up, and there is no doubt that the plant there will have all the flax that can be handled; and it is certain that double the required acreage could be secured without going far away from the city of Stayton.
It is likely that some new machinery will be added at the penitentiary, in time to handle the coming crop, besides the doubling of the retting space, and perhaps also of the scutching capacity. Plans are going forward to add an automatic tow scutching machine, in order to turn out the large amount of cut flax now on hand.
