

WORLD ALMANAC IS RELEASED FOR SALE

Mine of Information Gives Authoritative Data on All Questions

The World Almanac for 1926 is now ready for distribution. For forty years this standard ready reference annual has been indispensable, and never more welcomed than today. It deserves a place on every desk—in the office, in the factory, in the school and college, on the farm and in the home. Where else can one find so readily the up-to-date answers to all the questions of the day?

It puts a million facts within arm's reach.

In its 900 pages of small but clear type are compressed the history of the United States and of the whole world. The history made in 1925 is there. The facts and statistics are from authoritative sources, well digested, well arranged.

How has the Dawes plan worked? Gilbert's report is there. The Locarno treaties? In full. Exempt bonds? It tells how the states and cities spent the money they got from them. What have we really for an air force? Read the report of the Morrow committee. How is the enforcement of the prohibition law getting on? That also is told. And all this information is readily accessible—consult the twenty-one pages of the index. When did so-and-so happen? If in 1925, the diary of events begins on page 91 and runs to page 118, with six pages of deaths, four of great benefactors and seven of scientific progress following; records of all sports as usual.

The World Almanac has always been an invaluable handbook of American politics. Each one has the latest election returns from all the states, and this year it carries as well a political history giving every presidential campaign.

It is a mine of information for every one.

The World Almanac is published by the New York World. Price 60 cents post paid. Readers who keep it year by year on their bookshelves find $1.10 a small price for the cloth-bound copies.

ACTRESS THRILLED BY FINDING NUGGET

Real Honest to Goodness Gold Is Found on Location for Picture

Madge Bellamy, petite star who plays the leading feminine role in "The Golden Strain," Fox Films version of Peter B. Kyne's dramatic story, which comes to the Hellig theater Sunday and Tuesday, struck gold while working under the direction of Victor Schertzinger, at famous old Fort Huachuca, Arizona. Kenneth Harlan, who plays opposite Miss Bellamy, was present when the little leading lady picked up a bit of treasure in a gulch, near the military reservation.

They rushed back to the fort, fairly breathless, and told Colonel James C. Rhea about it.

"Yes, that's gold," said the colonel, "and what's more, there is quite a lot of it there, under the flagpole."

Miss Bellamy pointed to the Stars and Stripes, floating in the evening breeze.

"You don't mean under there?"

"Certainly do!" said the colonel. "They say there's a good gold ledge running directly beneath my house. That's opposite the flagpole."

"In that case," said Miss Bellamy, "I'd tear down the house."

"And build a marble castle instead," Harlan supplemented.

But the colonel laughed good-naturedly.

"That wouldn't do at all," he explained. "You see, this is Government land—and everything here belongs to Uncle Sam. If he wants to go into the gold-mining business—all well and good, but until he does, the gold will remain under the Stars and Stripes."

Here the colonel chuckled. In a moment he added: "They caught a fellow mining gold on this reservation one time."

"Hugh," said Harlan, "what happened to him?"

"Oh, they gave him thirty years," said the colonel.

"Good evening," said Harlan. "I'm going back to Hollywood and dig my gold under a studio."

'BEHIND THE FRONT' COMES HERE TODAY

Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton Starred in Sunny Side of the War

In the parlance of the movie studios, "Behind the Front," Paramount's comedy of the A. E. F., which opens today at the Oregon theatre, is nothing short of a "wow."

The film is now starting its third week in Portland.

Not since such pictures as "A Regular Fellow" and Harold Lloyd's "Freshman," has such a genuine producer of laughs been thrown on the screen. "Behind the Front" is a true mirror of the humorous side of soldiering in France. The story concerns a couple of dumb doughboys, played by Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton, and their love affair with an exceptionally beautiful and vivacious girl, Mary Brian, who never appeared more alluring and charming than she does in a Red Cross worker's uniform in the picture.

Before joining up with Uncle Sam's raiding party, the two, Beery and Hatton have been sworn enemies; the first—a detective, and the latter—a burglar. But since they both took to wearing the same uniform, they have become buddies.

Beery's comedy performance is truly magnificent, surpassing even his great comedy characterization as "Rhode Island Red," the happy-go-lucky bum in "The Pony Express." Raymond Hatton also adds new laurels by his acting as Shorty McGee, burglar, stick-up man and doughboy. Mary Brian is splendid, and the love interest of the picture is maintained right up to the last comedy climax. Chester Conklin, remembered for his small town character in "A Woman of the World," gives an inimitable performance as the Scotch Kiltie, who tells the eager doughboys where he won his medals.

"Behind the Front" was directed by Edward Sutherland. Monty Brice adapted it from Hugh Wiley's Saturday Evening Post short story. Ethel Doherty wrote the screen play.
