Margaret Albert Rodgers Becomes Bride at Attractive Ceremony

One of the most popular as well as accomplished members of Salem society became a bride last night when Miss Margaret Albert Rodgers and Mr. James G. A. Hutcheson of Vancouver, B. C., were united in marriage, the ceremony taking place at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. George F. Rodgers, at 719 Court street. Dr. Norman Kendall Tully, minister at the First Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony, the single ring service being used. Just before the lines were read Miss Helen Jones of Portland, who was a classmate of Miss Rodgers at Miss Catlin's School for Girls, sang in a beautiful manner, "Beloved, It Is Morn." Mrs. W. A. Tyler played the accompaniment. Mrs. Tyler also played the stately Lohengrin "Wedding March" as the members of the bridal party took their places at the altar arranged in the music room.

The bride, a vivid and charming girl, made a lovely picture as she descended the broad stairs in her gorgeous wedding gown of white satin, worn with a flowing, tulle veil caught with clusters of gardenias. Made sleeveless, with drop shoulders, the gown was an extremely ravishing costume with long, tight bodice and a full, spreading skirt, banded in chiffon, and embroidered richly in pearls. Her bouquet was a shower of gardenias, lilies of the valley, and white orchids.

Miss Rodgers chose as her only attendant, Mrs. Asel Eoff (Mary Jane Albert), who was matron of honor. Mr. Hutcheson was attended by Mr. Bruce Boyd of Vancouver, B. C., as best man.

Mrs. Eoff was beautifully gowned in a costume of yellow lace and chiffon, with an effective metallic beading of bronze. A cluster of yellow and gold blossoms to harmonize with her gown was carried by Mrs. Eoff.

Mrs. Rodgers, the mother of the bride, was charming in a draped model of lavender blue georgette, her corsage was of orchids.

Mr. Paul B. Wallace, a friend of the family of long standing, gave the bride in marriage.

The stairs and the hallway were decked with streamers of smilax, entwining the newel, and filling attractive baskets. In the music room, just beyond the living room, where the ceremony was performed, a bank of spring blossoms and clustered masses of Woodwardia fern, sent for the ceremony from California, transformed the triple-paneled screen into an altar-like background. The floral color scheme was carried out effectively in yellow—yellow daffodils and Oregon grape predominating. Tall yellow tapers burned during the service.

An informal reception followed the ceremony with Mrs. F. D. Thielsen, Mrs. Allan Carson, and Mrs. A. J. Sullivan of Portland in charge of the dining room. A silver basket of spring blossoms in the pastel shades centered the table, where tall candles glowed.

Mrs. Hutcheson, the only daughter of Mrs. George F. Rodgers and of the late George F. Rodgers, is a member of one of Salem's oldest and most prominent families. Seldom, if ever, has any bride in Salem been so widely feted. Mrs. Hutcheson is a graduate of Miss Catlin's School for Girls in Portland and of Vassar college, which she attended following several years in the art school at the University of Oregon. Miss Rodgers is a young sculptress of marked talent and has a number of original pieces to her credit. In New York City she studied for three years with Mahonri Young, later spending six months abroad in Paris and the most famous art centers of Italy.

Mr. Hutcheson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Gordon Hutcheson of Vancouver, B. C., is a prominent barrister in the province where the young couple will make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Hutcheson will receive their friends after the first of April.

Mrs. Hutcheson wore a chic travelling suit of dull rose georgette crepe and kasha, the gown being of georgette while the modish cape coat was lined with the same rose fabric. Her small hat was fashioned to harmonize.

A number of out-of-town guests were present for the wedding which was attended only by relatives and the closest of the family friends.

mobles provided by Astoria citizens, through arrangements with the chamber of commerce, completed the afternoon.

In the evening the girls gathered in uniforms for the convention banquet which was held in the social hall of the Methodist church.

In the center of the hall stood a little ship model on a table. About the ship was a triangle made of three tables, where covers were laid for the new state president, Miss Rosalind Van Winkle; for the retiring stae president, Miss Beulah Porter; for the toastmistress, Miss Helmi Hellerstedt, of Astoria; for the Girl Reserve executive, Miss Velma Cochran, for the Astoria president, Miss June Goodale; for the Astoria Girl Reserve secretary, Miss Williams, and for the principal district speakers, and Miss Elizabeth Silver, from Willamette university, who led the singing.

About the officers' table were the tables for the other delegates. Tiny candy-filled paper ships marked places for about 150 girls.

The following program was given during the banquet: Rev. Mr. Trojan sang "Duna," and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." Mrs. F. D. Appleton sang "Down Here" and "Dad's Sweetheart." Miss Marvella Edwards of Salem gave a toast to the "Ring." Miss Alice Mecla of Portland gave a toast to "Seabeck"; Miss Beulah Porter of Vancouver gave a toast "To Past Adventures"; Miss June Goodale of Astoria gave a toast "To Present Adventures," and Miss Rosalind Van Winkle of Salem gave a toast to "Coming Adventures." Miss Patricia Flavel then played lovely acodeon selections, accompanied by Miss Nellie Flavel, her first number being the much admired French composition, "Andantino in D flat," by Le Mare; Miss Knapp gave announcements in regard to the last meeting of the convention; the past president thanked all the Girl Reserves for their cooperation, and said that she had greatly enjoyed working with them, and the new president expressed her appreciation of the honor given to her. In closing the girls stood by their chairs and sang their song, "Follow the Gleam," after which they gave the Fellowship Pledge.—Sunday Astorian.

Guests in Portland

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Sanford returned on Monday from Portland where they were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hughes at the Hughes home on Cornell road.

Miss Eva Roberts Becomes Bride at Church Ceremony

Miss Eva Pearl Roberts and Mr. Walter Taylor of Portland were united in marriage at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, March 14, at the First Baptist church, the ceremony being one of the most elaborate and beautiful of the month. Rev. E. H. Shanks was the officiating clergyman, using the single ring service. The altar of the church was transformed into a spring garden with ferns and flowers. Tall yellow candles burned among the flowers.

The bride, a former Salem girl, who had recently been making her home in Portland, was given in marriage by her father, W. O. Roberts, Miss Winifred Gamble, a cousin of the bride, played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bridesmaid. Immediately preceding the ceremony Mrs. Theodore Roth sang "When 'Tis Summer in the Heart," with Leon-Mundiger and Mr. Bruce Willis. Mrs. Taylor wore a gray ensemble going-away costume with a small orange hat. After a two weeks' wedding trip to Vancouver, B. C., Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will be at home to their friends in Irvington addition in Portland where Mr. Taylor is a druggist.

Mrs. Taylor's engagement was announced in Salem early this season, since which time she has been the inspiration for several delightful pre-nuptial affairs. She is a graduate of the Salem high school and has many friends here.

The ceremony was witnessed on Sunday by more than 100 guests.

"My arches are all right!"

No doubt they are. Most women have good foot arches. And yet most women have achy, bothersome feet. You may have good feet, but if you are not wearing the right kind of shoes your good feet will cost you a world of trouble. Be sure you have the Arch Preserver Shoe. There is no substitute. This is the shoe that supports; that keeps the feet healthy and happy and vigorous. It's in good style, too.
