

STORM OVER FILL SUBSIDES QUICKLY

Dirt Dumping to Continue if Council Agrees With Commission

Plans now being formulated for the South Liberty street bridge project call for completion of the fill from Trade to Mill streets before the end of the summer. Original plans did not anticipate completion of the fill for about two years.

Already considerable amount of dirt is being dumped from the excavation for Frank Bligh's $250,000 theatre, store and office building.

If the city will permit the continued dumping of dirt in the fill, the committee appointed by property owners on Liberty street will endeavor to secure all dirt possible from the many excavations called for in the city's building program for the spring and summer.

Although there seemed to be conflict in the plans of the Liberty street property owners and of the city planning and zoning commission, a conference of the two revealed no material difference.

It is understood the commission will recommend to the council at its meeting April 5 that the fill be allowed to progress. In case owners of the property adjoining the fill should object to the spilling of dirt from the fill onto their property, it may be necessary to build retaining walls to keep the fill within the lines of the street. But such objection is scarcely anticipated.

COUNTY PRINCIPALS JOIN AT SILVERTON

Educators Devote Afternoon to Talks, Forensic and Baseball Plans

The Marion County Principals' association held its regular monthly meeting in the Silverton high school building on Saturday, March 20, after an enjoyable luncheon at the Cozy Lunch.

A large attendance enjoyed the reading and trial song by Principal Coffey of the Silverton schools. Superintendent George King of Salem reviewed chapter III of "The Principal and His School," by Cuberly. Mr. Hugh supplemented the text with many side lights and experiences garnered from years of experience as a city superintendent. Following Mr. Hugh were two numbers by Silverton high school students. A Charleston skit written and given by a girl student was given a hearty welcome, and the presentation of an old Dutch dance was given the reception its merit warranted.

Mr. Goetz reported that the county declamatory contest, which is to be held in Silverton on April 30, is progressing favorably. There have been a large number of inquiries and entries which indicate one of the best county wide contests yet held. There will be gold, silver and bronze medals given to the winners of first, second and third places in both the high school and grade divisions.

The athletic committee reported that the county baseball contest will be held as usual. The high schools will play on the percentage basis this year and the two schools having the highest percentage at the close of the season will play for the county championship. The grade schools are to be divided into two divisions as heretofore with W. H. Ballie of Woodburn as leader of the north and F. A. Galleghy of Jer-person as leader of the south section.

The grade and high schools of the county will hold separate track meets this year, both of which will probably be in Salem.

F. J. Toose, editor of The Oregon Teachers Monthly, delivered the address of the evening. Mr. Toose chose for his subject, "Educational Expansion," and he ably traced the expansion of education in its many diversified departments from early colonial days to the present time. In conclusion Mr. Toose clearly set forth the need for revised methods for revenues to meet the ever increasing demands upon education. He also urged education as the best investment in dollars, efficiency and character.

PORTLAND DEFEATED

NEW YORK, March 22.—(By Associated Press.)—The New York Americans defeated the Rosebuds of Portland 2 to 0 here tonight in the first match of their inter-league post season hockey series for a purse of $20,000.

Playing under the eastern rules the western league Portlanders could not meet the dashing combination of their opponents and were blanked.

contest will not mean quite as much to you.

There are just three weeks left to win one of these grand prizes in the contest. There will be some very hard campaigning and the most spectacular work yet experienced.

All contestants are seeing with the hustle of preparation for the final dash of supremacy—friends of candidates with one accord determined to help their favorites fight valiantly through to victory. Excitement is keyed to the highest pitch.

Riding on the waves of this wonderful demonstration of public enthusiasm are the ambitious candidates who are exerting vigorous efforts to capture the magnificent prizes—especially the $1-115 Dodge Sedan, the Chevrolet touring or the Ford touring. To the housewife interested we will give a Haag washing machine and various cash prizes.

No one will ever have a better chance to win an automobile with little effort. Present indications unmistakably point to a hair-breadth finish. From the way it looks now the big prizes will be won by a very narrow margin as no candidate can be certain of victory and there is abundant speculation as to the final outcome.

First one candidate and then another is expected to "land" the big prize and this is undoubtedly due to the extreme closeness of the race. It is only those who rise to the occasion and maintain a stiff upper lip, brushing aside every obstacle that may arise, that have the best chance of winning.

The race is too close to bank on any possibilities. Relaxation at this stage is suicidal to success. Determination to win in connection with relentless activity of vote-getting will make any contestant a winner. What is intended to be done must be done now. To dilly-dally is to let some other candidate sweep ahead of you.

If there ever was a time candidates should "go up and doing," it is right now. The prizes are worth every bit of effort in you. Where else or how else can your time be as productive or as remunerative? No one has anything "in the bag" today. Not a candidate is resting so easy that she or he need not put forth every ounce of energy possible. In fact, it would not be a hard matter for a candidate to start and come up into the running—yes, and go around on it before.

The liveliest part of the competition is now at hand and while all the leaders are on the same footing, at the same time those who want to—will—are afforded the opportunity of the entire campaign to forge ahead and corral the winning votes.

In conclusion, let it be emphatically stated that this is the time of all times—these last days of the big vote period are the most critically important in the campaign.

Saturday night at 8 o'clock looks big on the horizon—every click of the clock brings it nearer and nearer.

Remember the time—8 o'clock Saturday night is the final hour of the big votes. You must act accordingly if you want to win.

Big preparations are being made by the candidates for a real finish. The close of the period is not far away—Saturday night, March 27 at 8 o'clock is the last

EUGENE O'BRIEN IS STARRED IN PICTURE

"Simon the Jester," Now Playing at the Oregon, Massive Production

If you had wealth, social position, were politically successful, and were told by your physician that you had but a few weeks to live, what would you say or do?

Could you always be in a jovial mood, always have a smile on your face, always seem apparently happy?

That is the condition which confronts Eugene O'Brien, cast in the title role of "Simon the Jester," a Frances Marion Production, which will be shown at the Oregon theatre today.

Simon, through his friendship for a young man (his secretary) minute that subscriptions can be received and apply on the present vote schedule.

Time waits for no man. Every hour and every minute bring the close of the third period just that much closer as well as the end of the campaign when the big prizes will be awarded to their respective winners. The contestants who lag now are the ones who will be left out when this big distribution is made—the ones who work with all their might between now and 8 o'clock Saturday night are the ones who will be handsomely awarded. Five persons are going to win prizes worth a total of over $2400. Others will receive the cash awards. Aren't these splendid prizes to be won in such a short space of time?

As the all important third period draws nearer to a close, more concerted action is being manifested by the real live contestants who are fighting for high honors. With the race now narrowed down to a limited few, each of the favorites is more determined than ever to be declared winners of first honors.

Time to launch your greatest drive now. Votes are again received after March 27. The time to win is now.

There is a merry race on—a race such as has not been seen before or since the campaign was inaugurated. Over confidence may be the factor that will bring defeat.

gets him in more trouble, more startling and thrilling situations than the average man encounters in a lifetime.

His generosity and kindly attitude create all sorts of havoc, until finally he is forced to battle for his life as well as that of the woman he loves. Never did a screen story contain more human touches, more humor, more pathos, more sentiment and more thrills than does "Simon the Jester."

George Melford directed the production and with O'Brien in the title role, Lillian Rich, the heroine, Edmund Burns, the misunderstood lover, Henry Walthall, the villain, William Platt, the clown, little is to be desired in modern motion picture entertainment.

Aside from these screen personages, there is a complete circus with its clowns and performing animals, as well as a side show filled with human freaks, featured in the production.

YACHT BATTERED ASHORE IN TERRIFIC GULF GALE

ceeded in passing a line around the foremast of the Calliope. The wind increased to gale proportions and the seas became monstrous. The steamer made an attempt to anchor and then the tow line broke. The Calliope lay to all night with a heavy sea breaking over her. The pumps were worked continuously, the water coming up to a level with the saloon floor every two hours. The Calliope worked closer to the shore on the next day. On the morning of the 14th land was sighted and an effort made to reach Cape Canaveral. Off Mosquito inlet the Calliope signalled for help but received no response. The sea was breaking high over the bar and the schooner was unable to enter the eight foot channel.

"The boat anchored a mile or so off shore and four miles north of the cape on the 14th. Practically out of gas with the motor beginning to "cough" not daring to risk the shoals to the south at night, two anchors were dropped, one with all the rope available and the other with all the chain.

"The next morning the improvised sails were torn beyond repair and the motor refused to run. After a great deal of effort the last anchor was raised and the boat drifted towards the shore. The vessel refused to answer the helm and could not be brought to the winds. The rudder was gone. The boat touched shore and an hour later was buffeted into a complete wreck."

Eucharist Visitors Offer Spiritual Bouquet to Pope

CHICAGO.—A "spiritual bouquet" to Pope Pius XI will be offered by thousands of Chicago and visiting Catholics receiving communion and praying for the pontiff's intention at the opening of the International Eucharistic Congress here June 20.

Since the congress is designed to celebrate and glorify the Eucharist, the Catholic sacrament of the real presence of Jesus Christ, under the appearance of bread, participation in communion will be stressed during the four-day sessions of the congress.

Visitors will be assigned by groups to various churches of the city for attendance at special Masses on the opening day. But thereafter they will gather in the outdoor church into which Soldiers Field, Chicago's municipal stadium, will be transformed. To enable participation by a large number without the congestion and delay that was experienced at the 1923 Eucharistic Congress in the Coliseum in Rome, a plan similar to that used in the "sports park" in Amsterdam in 1924, will be employed.

Gas Pressed On Mrs. Harris' Heart

"I had gas (from stomach) pressing on my heart. Adlerika did more for me than anything else." (Signed) Mrs. A. Harris. ONE spoonful Adlerika removes gas in TEN minutes and often brings astonishing relief to the stomach. Brings out a surprising amount of old waste matter you never thought was in your system. Stops that full, bloated feeling and makes you happy and hungry. Excellent for chronic constipation. J. C. Perry, Druggist, 115 S. Commercial St.—Adv.
