

WAR MEMORIALS HELD IMPORTANT

Salem and McMinnville Only Two Oregon Cities to Erect Markers

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, April 1.—(Special.)—While only two cities in Oregon, Salem and McMinnville, have so far erected World War memorials, the subject is one of importance to Oregon, declares Avard Fairbanks, assistant professor of architecture and allied arts.

Mr. Fairbanks is a member of the National Sculpture society, which has embarked upon a campaign to see that the memorials erected to war heroes are artistic. Last year Mr. Fairbanks did the memorial tablet which was erected at Oregon Agricultural college.

"The subject of war memorials will be of great importance for the next ten or 20 years," Mr. Fairbanks said, "because it is inevitable that cities like Astoria, The Dalles, Pendleton will put them up. If we do this work well, we shall achieve beauty; but, if we do it badly, the result will be ugly, for any inappropriate object is ugly."

It is possible for cities contemplating memorials to secure the advice and cooperation of the best artists, Mr. Fairbanks announced. The University will cooperate and Mr. Fairbanks is willing to volunteer his services.

"The cost of these memorials ranges from $5000 to $500,000. Some of them have been masterpiece of art, while others have been so poor that the citizens have wanted to tear them down. I think it is wise for the cities to avoid commercial firms who sell statues in big quantities which have no artistic value. It is much better for them to secure expert advice which will be willingly given through the university," he announced.

JUDGE ENGLISH IS IMPEACHED IN HOUSE

The session was permitted to come to a second vote.

The house appeared to be on edge when it met today after two late sessions out previous sessions of the English case. Immediately after Speaker Longworth rapped for order, a quorum call was demanded by Representative Rankin, democrat, Mississippi. Representative Mills, republican, New York, urged that this demand be not pressed.

The Mississippian, however, insisted and Mr. Mills walked across the aisle. As he approached Mr. Rankin he said:

"It's a damn mean thing to keep twenty men here!"

"Get back to your own side of the house," interrupted Rankin as he shook his fist at the New Yorker.

"You can't insult me. You are a dirty, contemptible scoundrel!"

Mr. Rankin then started toward Mr. Mills, but Representative Doughton, democrat, North Carolina intervened as a peacemaker.

Still struggling to reach the New Yorker, Mr. Rankin as he himself subsequently explained, started to hurl a vile epithet at Mr. Mills, but immediately announced he would withdraw the remark adding:

"I won't call any white man that."

Later Mr. Mills amplified his statement on the floor by saying he wanted to get a decision in the English case tonight and had wished to avoid the delay of a quorum call, which might force the house into a session tomorrow, thus keeping in Washington a number of members who had engagements out of town.

The demand for a quorum was not pressed, and the house proceeded with the debate.

FILE FOR LEGISLATURE

WILLIAM M. RAMSEY ASKS NOMINATION AS JUDGE

Clarence F. Evey of Washington county Thursday filed in the office of the secretary of state here his declaration of candidacy for the republican nomination for United States senator at the primary election. Mr. Evey has requested that the following slogan be printed after his name on the official ballot:

"America first, Oregon next. The will of the people via majority rule."

George W. Dunn of Ashland has filed for the office of state senator from the sixth district, comprising Jackson county. Mr. Dunn is a republican and has served two terms in the legislature.

William M. Ramsey, democrat, would serve as circuit judge of the 12th judicial district, comprising Polk and Yamhill counties. His declaration of candidacy was filed in the state department Thursday. Mr. Ramsey is now serving as circuit judge of Polk and Yamhill counties under executive appointment.

WOOD FOSSILS STUDIED

GEOLOGISTS HOPE TO DETERMINE USEFUL DATA

BEND, Ore., April 1.—(By Associated Press.)—That there were periods of unusual drought and periods of heavy precipitation in central Oregon millions of years ago is the opinion of local student geologists who have examined a piece of mineralized wood found in the oligocene formation of Fossil mountain in Crook county. This piece of wood shows a group of rings, which are very close together indicating, it is believed, a period of drought.

Another part of the mineralized tree trunk shows unusually large rings, indicating a time of an abundance of moisture over a period of about 15 years. The fragment of mineralized wood is believed to be from an ancient conifer.

YAQUI CEREMONY OPENS

WEIRD EASTER DANCE TO BE HELD FOR THREE DAYS

TUCSON, Ariz., April 1.—(By Associated Press.)—The twanging of barbaric stringed instruments and the beat of the gourd tom-toms tonight will start the weird Easter ceremonial of the Yaqui Indians.

It is expected that fully 1000 Yaquis will be in attendance at the ceremonial which is a strange mixture of the Christian and pagan. The music and dancing will continue until Easter morning when the final joyful dancing will celebrate the risen Christ.
