

Salem High School Nine To Cross Bats With Chemawa Indians Today

PRACTICE WORKOUT NEEDED SAYS COACH

More Spirit Needed if Team Expects to Win League Honors, Report

Salem high school's baseball aggregation will journey to Chemawa this afternoon to meet the Indians on their own field. The game is called for 2:30 o'clock.

So far this season, according to Coach Hollis Huntington, the boys on the local team have not shown the best usually typical of the nine. The fact that most of them are playing high school ball for the first time is thought to be the reason.

This afternoon's contest, Huntington believes, will be just what the team needs, whether a victory or a defeat is the result.

Just what the strength of the Indians will be is not known. They have not played enough games yet to disclose the caliber of the artillery they are packing. It is known, however, that there are several new faces in the Chemawa lineup.

Fahry will pitch for Salem. His work in the Lincoln game was one of the features of the contest. Besides being there with control and his share of "stuff," he is a strong man, with the stick.

Kelly will be on the receiving end. The infield will be strong, with Olliger at first, Ashby at second, Cummings at third and Adams at short. J. Drager will guard left field, Siegmund center, and Kitchin right field.

Coach Huntington is hoping the boys will be aroused enough this afternoon to "snap out of it," and get something of the spirit he considers necessary if Salem is to clean up the valley baseball league this season.

RACE FOR MAY HONORS STARTS WITH FILINGS

There will be no opposition in the primaries. For the office of public service commissioner from the state at large, two candidates have filed. They are Thomas K. Campbell, independent, republican, and Clyde T. Spencer, democrat. Both are from Portland.

In commenting upon his candidacy for state representative from Marion county, John B. O'Brien, mayor of Salem, declared his endeavor would be to serve the interests of Marion county and the state of Oregon with the same zeal with which he has served the people of Salem as mayor during the past three years.

He has requested the following slogan to be printed following his name on the ballot:

"My record as mayor of Salem is your guarantee of conscientious service."

PORTLAND, Ore., April 16.—(A.P.)—The prohibition issue was eliminated from the Oregon democratic senatorial race today when Hugh McLean, of Marshfield, who had expressed himself in favor of modification of the Volstead act withdrew as an aspirant for the democratic nomination. His action followed conferences between his supporters and the forces of Bert E. Haney, former member of the United States Shipping Board who is an avowed dry candidate. Elton Matthews, the other candidate for the nomination is also dry.

SPORTS DONE BROWN
BY NORMAN E. BROWN

Lee Fohl's new assortment of Red Sox had to sit in the hotel lobby and twiddle their toes half of the total time spent at the New Orleans training camp. But the Sox boss isn't worrying about that. And his new boys of hopefulness aren't either, as the portraits of the three bustling youngsters oriented herewith will attest.

These lads are among the few regulars who are assured their places on the team—Phil Todd at first base and Charley Ruffing and Fred Winfield in the box.

A year ago Fohl, in one of his lucid moments, remarked that young Todd was one of the most promising first basemen in the game. Todd's work last season bore out Fohl's belief and he is counted on to demand general recognition this year.

Winfield, Ruffing, and Howard Kinnke are recognized as the big three of the Sox during last year, with Chet Ross, Paul Zahniser and possibly Del Lundgren helping them out.

Portland Beavers Drop Third Straight Game To Northern Ball Club

INDIANS SHOW HOW TO HEAD OFF LEAD

Beavers Made Seven Runs in Second, Seattle Wins by 11 to 10 Score

Seattle 11; Portland 10
SEATTLE, April 16.—(By Associated Press.)—Seattle today won its third straight baseball game when it came from behind to defeat Portland 11 to 10. The Beavers scored seven runs in the second inning after two men had been put out and Sherlock dropped Rachac's fly.

The error gave the Portlanders a spark of life and they followed with a flock of hits, knocking Gillespie out of the box. The Indians pecked at three Beaver hurlers until they overcame the big lead and won in the ninth.

Score—H. H. E. Portland 10 12 2 Seattle 11 16 4 Rachac, Burns, Mangum and Berry; Gillespie, Ramsey, Boyd, Best and Baldwin.

Seals 3; Mission 2
SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—(By Associated Press.)—The Seals nosed out the Missions 3 to 2 in a close, hard fought game here today. Despite 11 hits strung out along the nine innings last year's champions were unable to garner more than three tallies and the Missions threatened to wipe out this margin in the last inning.

The rally failed, however, when Marty Griffin took the mound, Earl Averill, left fielder for the Seals connected with one in the third for a home run. No one was on base.

Score—R. H. E. San Francisco 3 11 2 Missions 2 5 0 Geary, Mitchell, Griffin and Yelle; Pillette, B. Ryan and Murphy.

Angels 8; Hollywood 2
LOS ANGELES, April 16.—(By Associated Press.)—With three Hollywood pitchers batted for 12 hits, including home runs by Art Wain and Ray Jacobs, the Los Angeles Angels evaded their so-called Hollywood here today by trouncing the Stars 8 to 3. The relief pitching of young Elmer Phillips, who replaced Earl Hamilton on the mound for Los Angeles in the sixth and held the Stars without a hit for the remaining four frames, was a feature of the contest.

The Angels sewed up the game in the ninth when Jacobs' homer scored State and Mitchell ahead of him.

Score—R. H. E. Los Angeles 8 13 1 Hollywood 2 8 2 Hamilton, Phillips and Sandberg; Singleton, Stroud, Hulvey and Peters, Redman.

Oakland 3; Senators 2
OAKLAND, April 16.—(By Associated Press.)—Earl Kunz was in rare form this afternoon when he took the mound for Oakland and held the Sacramento Senators to two hits and won his game 3 to 2. Ray Keating pitched fine ball for the Senators but timely hitting by McNally in the first and fifth innings gave the Oaks their

GUNNERS TO SHOOT AGAINST HILLSBORO

Rod and Gun Club Members Divided Between Two Loves on Sunday

The regular trap shoot will be held by the local Rod and Gun club Sunday on the Salem club field. Besides the usual practice work a telegraphic contest will be staged with Hillsboro.

The opening of fishing season and the unusually good weather will in all probability cut down the local club's attendance to a certain extent although enough are expected to carry out a satisfactory shoot.

The telegraphic shooting for the present series will be terminated in a few more weeks and the summer schedule for the local shooters is still in indefinite shape although a large number of the men will continue work through the summer and fall in preparation for the opening of hunting season.

Oregon's baseball nine first gets into action today when the varsity crosses bats with the fast St. Johns Beavers of Portland in Eugene.

The Portlanders have some of the fastest semi-pros in the state in their lineup. Baseball prospects at Oregon are dim at present due to a dearth of material and facilities, although there is a good sprinkling of last year's veterans. Particularly tough inter-collegiate competition will be encountered this year as the schedule includes only Washington and the Oregon Aggies, both of whom have excellent lines.

The infield is causing Coach Reinhart the most grief at present, particularly the zone around second base, but the outfield is short of heavy maces. The present infield quartet includes Rex Adolph, of Salem, on first; Clifford Kuhn, of Lebanon, on second; Arnold Kiminki, of Astoria, at short, and Howard Hobson, of Portland, at third.

Adolph and Hobson are veterans and can be counted on to uphold their end, but Kuhn and Kiminki are experiments, neither having college experience beyond the freshman team. Fred West, of Portland, last year's shortstop, is working on the pitcher's mound, but may be shifted back to the infield if too many hits trickle through. Jim Hanley, considered the best fielder of the lot, and Melvin Ray, a hard hitting second sacker, are lost through failure to meet scholastic requirements.

The pitching staff is looming as the strong spot of the team with four good right handers on hand, excluding West, who is rated as an infielder. Fred Harrison, of Astoria, holdover, and Bill Ashby, ex-Salem Senator twirler, seem to be the pick of the crew and the likely starters, although Bill Baker, of Independence, a freshman graduate, and Ray Williams, of San Francisco, Cal., will do a two-year letterman, are tightening up the race.

Jack Bliss, of Berkeley, Cal., will don the windpad for his third year and will be assisted by George Minnaugh, of Portland, a catcher, who alternated between the backstop position and right field last year. Minnaugh is a scrappy performer.

Lynn Jones, of Salem, and Frank Reinhart, of Salem, 1925 regulars, seem anchored in left and center field, respectively, with Ray Edwards of Milton the outstanding candidate for the right garden assignment. Reinhart, a brother of the Oregon coach, is the best hitter of the lot and covers the most ground. Jones and Edwards each tip the scales around the 200 mark, and take a mighty Ruthian cut at the globe.

A contest with the Pacific University nine will follow the St. Johns mix on April 25, and clear the boards for the opening conference game April 30 at Seattle with the Washington Huskies.

was baptised, shortly after 4 o'clock. The prisoner ate a fatted breakfast later.

Five minutes before the scheduled execution Cody received a telegram from his uncle who resides in Florida: "If the worst is to come, may God have mercy on your soul." That was the way it was worded.

Death was stayed a few moments later than the set hour of 8:30 when the child-minded man requested, in keeping with his rights, that Warden J. W. Lillie read the entire death warrant to him.

He was smoking a cigarette when he made his final statement and continued to smoke until the black cap was adjusted over his face.

Archie Cozy, slayer of Sheriff Austin Goodman of Harney county, entered the execution chamber at 8:40, climbed the 13 steps leading to the gallows and took his place on the trap. He showed no emotion. The trap was sprung at 8:41 and Cody was pronounced dead 13 minutes later. Beside the figure on the gallows stood Father Keenan of the Salem Catholic church, and Warden Lillie.

The murder of Sheriff Goodman occurred on August 27, 1924, when the officer attempted to arrest Cody on a charge of prisms in a pitching duel today and the Giants beat the Robins 3 to 2, in the final game of their series. Scott allowed seven hits, one being a homer by Jacques.
