A Home Where Beauty and Comfort Reign

THE ARRIOLA—DESIGN SB21

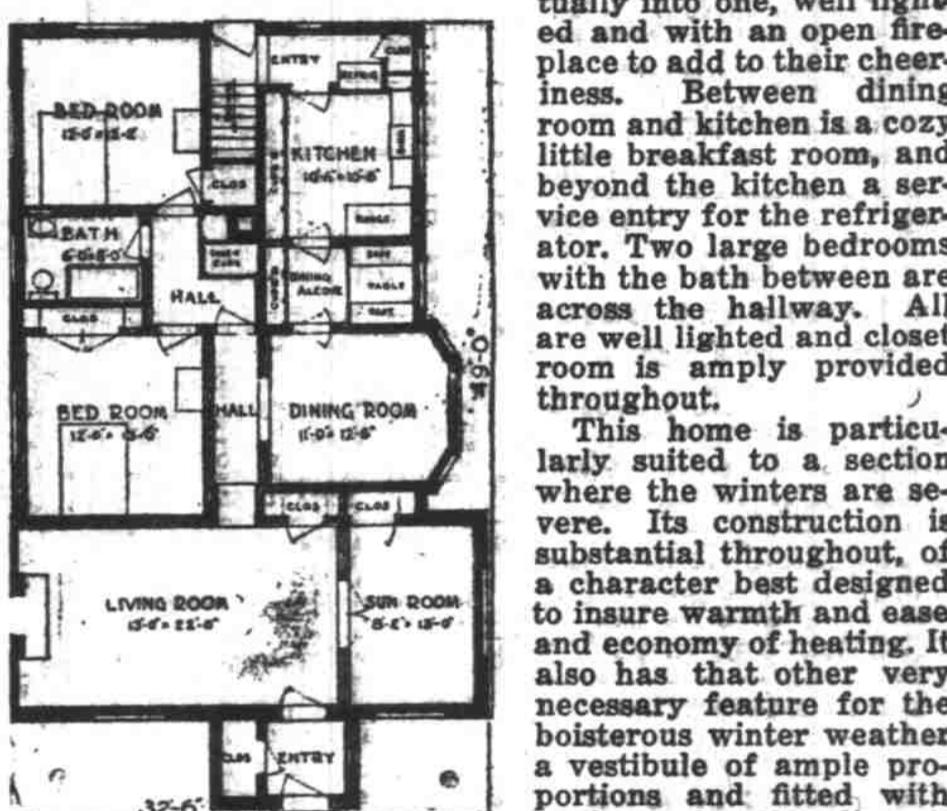

WHEN one is able to obtain good architectural effect combined with an interior arrangement beyond criticism he is attaining as nearly perfection as is possible in any home. And if you will carefully analyze this floor plan, conceding at the outset the attractiveness of the exterior, the only conclusion possible is that here is a truly ideal small home.

Built of common brick its appearance is greatly enhanced by the roofing of variegated tile while its fire safety is increased even more. It is the sort of home that one may leave with confidence and enjoy complete peace of mind while away. And just as it is fire safe so is it durable and economical of upkeep. There are very few exposed spots that will require painting.

Beauty in this house is permanent. In both brick and tile it is a burned in beauty which neither the elements nor the flight of time will ever cause to fade. There is every reason with this home to count upon its looking just as well half a century hence as it does today. It is the sort of home that is built for inheritance.

And just as long as it stands it will be the personalification of comfort and convenience.

The Oregon Statesman issued its annual grape slogan number.

The administration of Willamette University brought to an abrupt close the inter-class fighting that resulted from the sudden departure of sophomores on a stolen "funny day." Upperclassmen were not allowed to carry out their intention of throwing all sophomores into the Mill Stream as punishment, cuts in privileges and grades being adopted instead.

Declaring that the cost of the survey of Salem residential districts will be not less than $10,000, and probably nearer to $20,000, and that the insurance map which must serve the city for the next 20 years will represent an investment of nearly $60,000, all of which will be made by the insurance company, William H. Schaeffer, Thursday, pointed out the extreme simplicity with which a uniform numbering system can be introduced here at the present time.

The state lime plant at the penitentiary shipped its first 40 ton car of lime, priced $4.75 a ton to farmers. Farmers can haul their own lime from the pen plant in sacks priced at $5.50 a ton. Cost of lime to farmers here was approximately $7 when shipped from the former plant at Gold Hill.

Residents of Salem Heights, who arose in active protest at rumors that the new city dump was to be in their section of town, came in for another surprise Friday with the revelation that an option had been secured on the Warren Construction company's old quarry with the object of converting the site into the new city dump. Harry Walker, head of the City Scavenger company, Friday confirmed the rumor that an option had been secured on five acres.

Joel Berreman, a non fraternity man, was elected president of the associated student body of Willamette university Friday. He is the first non fraternity man to be elected in several years.

BLIGH BUILDING WILL BE RUSHED

Double Shift to Set to Work Constructing Theatre and Stores

With the completion of the excavation for Frank Bligh's $250,000 theater, store and office building on the quarter block at State and High streets comes the announcement that the contract has been let for the construction of the building and that a double shift is to be maintained to get the building completed as soon as possible.

Laborers are at work laying the cement foundation for the Chamber and Chamber building on High street between Center and Chemeketa streets, the excavation having been finished.

Campaign this year. Anyhow, it's liable to be a close race.

AN OUTSTANDING feature of the school for crime is the fact that a large proportion of the graduates return for a post graduate course.

SOMEONE SUGGESTS that about all the three R's stand now is Rah! Rah! Rah!

A LOT of these candidates who are makin' a big clatter about tax reduction would swing a big percentage of the women's votes if they would come out with a plan for waist reduction.

WHICH LEADS me to remark that there's more attention paid to the birth of a nation than the birth of a nation.

WHEN THE color leaves a girl's cheeks nowadays it's quite likely to be found on some fellow's coat collar.

This home is particularly suited to a section where the winters are severe. Its construction is substantial throughout, of a character best designed to insure warmth and ease and economy of heating. It also has that other very necessary feature for the boisterous winter weather a vestibule of ample proportions and fitted with a closet for the disposition of the wraps that in such a climate are always needed.

This altogether exceptional little home is of that class which imperatively demands adequate landscaping if it is to appear to the best advantage.

"Y" TANK WATER TEST SUCCESSFUL

Tile Setters at Work Lining Sides, Ceiling and Walls Get Stucco

A five days' water test revealed that the walls and bottom of the swimming tank in the new home of the YMCA, on Center street between Cottage and Church streets, are in perfect condition. Tile setters are at work setting the tile along the sides of the tank, and will probably begin on the work of setting the tile on the tank itself by the end of this week.

Ceiling and walls of the tank room are to be finished in stucco of the same quality and color as that which covers the exterior walls of the building. The lower portion of the wall, from the base to a height of 5 1/4 feet, will be finished in white water proof cement.

Final coat of stucco has been applied to the lower portion of the outer walls last week. It was at first planned to finish the lower portion in smooth stucco, but finally it was finished in the same style as the remainder of the walls.

Work of plastering in the basement has been finished. Most of the woodwork is completed. Furnishings for the locker rooms are expected to arrive this week.

The entire first floor has been sanded. Linoleum has arrived and will probably be laid this week. Furnishings for all the floor are now in the building. For the lobbed over stuffed davenport have been purchased in addition to easy chairs.

There still remain a few finishing touches before the contractors are through with the three floors. When these are done, the only work remaining will be that of setting the tile in the swimming tank.

Keep these disease carriers out of the house and live in comfort with open doors and windows on hot days.

We make several designs of screen doors and window screens. The wire is securely fastened and stays tight and smooth. The woodwork is of selected, old growth fir—finely sanded—that takes paint smoothly.

WELLER BUILDING POURING FINISHED

Walls to Be Freed From Forms by End of Week, Roof Work Starts

Pouring of the concrete for the walls of the Weller building, under construction on Center street between High and Church streets, has been completed. Some of the forms have already been removed. The walls will probably be completely freed from their forms by the end of the week.

The building is to be the future home of Wood's auto top and painting establishment. The roof of the building was being constructed Saturday.

Windows have been placed in the front of the R. X. Meyers valerian building on Center street between High and Liberty streets. The furnishings have been moved in. The building will probably be open for business in about a week's time.
