

SUNDAY BOY SCOUT NEWS SURVEY HERE

Developments of Week Summarized With Summer Activity Opening

Fire Prevention
A most interesting and instructive talk on forest fire prevention was given to the scouts Tuesday evening at St. Paul's Parish house, the speakers were Mr. Cronmiller and Mr. Fuller. The talks were illustrated by two very fine reels of films and an exceptionally good set of slides. The slides showed the various types of fires and the methods used in fighting them. Mr. Fuller mentioned several cases in which the scouts had given valuable service to the forestry department by fighting small fires and reporting larger ones, he urged that they continue the good work.

Real Service
Hike along! Hike along!
Hike along with stride so free
But when you see the scout street car
Just take a ride on me!

Something like that, E. C. Haven of Grand Rapids, Michigan, said to the Boy Scouts during anniversary week when he presented them with a street car of their own on behalf of the Grand Rapids Street Railway to be used gratis on special occasions. It is painted in red, white, and blue.

Field Day

Ramsay, scout executive of Akron, Ohio, and director of many competitive events, prints with this paragraph in his bulletin, which is timely in connection with Field Day, "To do your best in any event, to accept defeat graciously, to receive victory with modesty—such are the values you may derive from a contest."

Court of Honor
A meeting of the Salem Court of Honor was held last Wednesday evening at the Marion county court house. Merit badges were awarded in the following subjects: Troop 1, Howard Adams, safety first; Bill Trindle, safety first; athletics and pioneering. Troop 2, Arthur Fisher, first aid; Kenneth Mooris, cooking. Coats advanced to the rank of first class were: Wayne Slanger, Troop 2; Bob Garrett and Kenneth Hifons of Troop 3. Second class were: Chester Oppen and Vernon Bushnell of Troop 3.

Help Your P. L.
The job of patrol leader is not the lark that most scouts think it is. Of course, every ambitious scout may be a patrol leader and he expect to work hard at it and make a go of it, but three out of every five fellows in the ranks are apt to lose interest in their patrol work. Just think, fellows, all you have to do is to support your patrol leader. It's easy for eight fellows to support one, but when it comes down to one fellow supporting eight, it's a different story. That's what a P. L. has to do. Imagine how he feels when the inspection is announced and his patrol is last.

You don't feel it so much. The next week all the patrol leader
